

Finalists Selected For Awards

Three South High School students have been selected as finalists in National Merit Scholarship competition. Winners are to be named later this Spring.

Certificates of merit have been awarded to John A. Jackson, Barry R. Keiler, and Robert D. Vogl.

Captain of the South High Scholar Quiz Team which appeared on television, Jackson has played junior varsity football and has served as president of the Chess Club, Student Council representative, and district president of the California Scholastic Federation. A Telluride scholar, he studied at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., in a special program last summer.

Keller, who has been active in the Palos Verdes Gem and Mineral Society, is a member of the Order of Apollo and has served as vice president of the Spanish Club and treasurer of the CSF chapter. Last summer he won a summer scholarship to the University of Arizona. He also is a semi-finalist for Armo and Edison Company scholarships.

Vice president of the student body, Vogl has centered his extra-curricular activities around music. He was president of the Marching Band last year, has served in the Pep Band for three years, and is presently a member of the Stage Band. He played varsity football, and plays first clarinet in the all-city Honor Band, belongs to the Order of Apollo, and has been affiliated with the chess club for three years.

Production, Not Gold, Is Basis of American Wealth

By REYNOLDS KNIGHT

Quite a lot of high-level discussion has been carried on recently about the world's gold supply and dwindling U.S. reserves of the metal. But in general such talk has ignored the fact that the real basis of wealth is production.

It is the ability of the United States to produce in abundance, whether guns or butter, that has made this country the world's bulwark. This country's aid to other nations is not based on gold alone, but on our productive ability.

And so long as the United States can continue to produce goods and services at the high levels of the recent past, this country will continue to enjoy its dominant role in international commerce and trade.

FRESH COMPETITION — As 1965 arrived it brought modern-day competition into the hills of Tennessee where a long-ago favorite whisky is once more being distilled, in the exact spot where, from 1870 until 1911, it was produced before local prohibition came to that state. Around the turn of the century Tennessee was noted for its sour mash whiskies, which disappeared until repeal of national prohibition after which only one company went back into production. Until 1958 it was the only one making and selling Tennessee whisky nationally. Today, after seven years of preparation, a "new" name is heard in Tennessee, George A. Dickel, just as it was from 1870 until 1911.

George A. Dickel & Co. now is offering its famous product to a new generation which is expected to appreciate it every bit as much as Grandpa did. Produced at the same spot in Coffee county, Tennessee, the whisky even utilizes iron-free freestone water from the same century-old source, an underground stream.

THINGS TO COME — Rolling cartop carrier capable of carrying 600-pound loads. Heavy metal bars slide along a track and over side of car, to make loading and unloading easier. . . . Electric outboard motor, silent in operation, designed for use by fishermen, operates on a 12-volt auto battery. . . . Protective seal of acetel resin, resembling small lock. Once closed, it can be opened only with destructive force, providing evidence of tampering. . . . A rocking wheel chair capable of providing exercise for invalids. . . . Variable sunglasses that react to variations in sun's intensity. . . . Eyeglass case resembling carefully folded pocket handkerchief.

BITS O' BUSINESS — The market for disposable paper products is expected to rise to $500,000,000 within 10 years. . . . Glass food container shipments may reach a record 10.9 billion units in 1965. . . . Minor steel slump seen, even if strike is avoided. . . . A seven per cent gain

Work Furlough for Prisoners Praised

Expansion of a work furlough program in which certain prisoners of county jail charged with lesser crimes can maintain their regular job while serving time has been announced by Supervisor Kenneth Hahn.

Hahn said the Board of Supervisors had requested greater use of the program on the basis of successful results in a pilot six-month study.

"This project can save thousands of dollars for the taxpayers because it enables the county to recover the cost of keeping persons in jail and allows the inmate to remain self-sufficient, so his family is not forced onto the welfare roles," Hahn said.

A total of 77 inmates participated during the pilot program. Of these, 33 have completed their sentences while

RECORD EARNINGS

Sales and earnings of Selas Corp. of America established records in 1964, and the fourth-quarter results exceeded expectations, Frederic O. Hess, president, has reported.

Consolidated sales in 1964 were $17,675,365, an increase of 67 per cent over the $10,579,564 for 1963, Hess said. Net income for the year ending December 31, 1964 was $785,880, approaching three times the $288,728 earned in 1963, he noted.

The outlook for 1965 appears promising because of the continuing interest of industry in Selas equipment and engineering services. The company's backlog of orders is substantially higher than

Speed-Up On Ditch Approved

Contract changes designed to speed up construction of a section of the Dominguez Channel have been approved by the Board of Supervisors.

The change will enable the construction firm to install box sections for side drainage manholes prior to placing fill for the channel levees.

No additional cost is involved, according to Supervisor Burton W. Chace, chairman of the board.

The unit, last in the 18-mile channel, is being constructed under a $4.3 million contract awarded in August last year. Peter Fiewit Sons' Co. is the contractor.

Water water everywhere

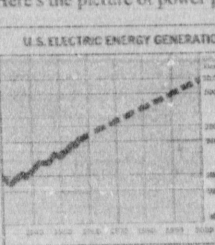

Today you could actually drink a glass of pure, fresh water produced from the salty Pacific Ocean. You see, fresh water is being produced at the experimental sea water distillation plant operated by Southern California Edison in connection with its steam-electric generating station near Oxnard.

Someday this project may help solve one of the Southland's most pressing problems: the need for more water. Any project that helps improve living conditions and encourages development of this area is of vital importance to Edison.

Additionally, a great deal of research is underway by Edison and other investor-owned electric companies to uncover new techniques, methods and ideas for the generation, transmission and distribution of electricity.

This research is part of the never-ending development of more and more low-cost electric power—and of new ways to use electricity to make your family's life safer, more pleasant, and more rewarding in the bright new all-electric future.

Here's the picture of power production up to the year 2000.

U.S. ELECTRIC ENERGY GENERATION

With the aid of research and the world's finest engineers and scientists, Edison and America's other investor-owned electric companies stand ready and able to meet in full the future power needs of all Americans.
