First Meeting Scheduled by Chemical Industry Council

William C. Foster, director of the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, will be the speaker at a luncheon meeting of the Chemical Industry of Southern California to be held Wednesday, March 31, at the Statler Hilton Hotel, Los Angeles, at 12:15 p. m.

Foster, a past president of the Manufacturing Chemists' Association, will speak on "International Aspects of the Control of Nuclear Devices." His appearance will mark the first public event sponsored by the Chemical Industry Council which covers a 12-county area south from the Kern County line.

The council was organized a month ago to advance the interests of the chemical industry in the Southland through education information programs and activities and to emphasize contributions made by the industry to the economic growth and progress of this area both in the past and future.

Headquarters are at 2975 Wilshire Blvd., and G. S. Williamson, plant manager of the Shell Chemical Co. s. Torrance Synthetic Rubber Division, is the chairman.

Foster has served five presidents since World War II as a top executive, diplomat and international negotiator.
