Bringing Up Baby.

POINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

While thumbing through a magazine, I came upon the sweet words of the week: "A baby must grow from within as well as without." How true! We ones, like all of us, need nourishment for the spirit as well as food for the body. Providing for baby's physical needs certainly shows up in inches and pounds, but well-being. But when you share your heart with your baby, you help make his inner being blossom.

"Acceptance" speech. Learning to know the kinds of foods your baby likes is helpful in building good food acceptance. Patience and perception will help you toward planning meals to please.

Notation from Dan Gerber. "Agricultural Research is a year-round project at Gerber. Our agricultural experts work on every phase of growing, from soil selection to harvesting methods. As a matter of fact, there are at least 12 areas of control employed by Gerber field men. Everything that can be, is controlled from soil testing, dates of planting, growth periods and handling methods. All this to assure foods worthy of your baby. When you buy Gerber, you're sure of your money's worth in nourishment."

New way to vitamin-A value: Gerber Strained Creamed Asparagus... a subtle taste-surprise to light up the eyes of your darling. A high vitamin-A value makes it a good alternate for Spinach, Sweet Potatoes or Squash.

Warming thought. A regulation egg poucher is perfect for heating up or baby foods at once. Wonderful to have everything warm and ready at the same time.

Sunny thought. Golden goodness with a body-building bonus: Gerber Strained Egg Yolks. A delicate, fresh egg flavor, coupled with a smooth, custardy texture puts delight in every bite. Good for baby, too. They're rich in iron and vitamin A, and a good source of protein. Gerber Baby Foods, Box 72, Fremont, Michigan.
