

Legislators Prepare for Interim Committee Work

JULY 21, 1965

PRESS-HERALD A-15

By VINCENT THOMAS
Assemblyman, 68th District

We have scarcely had the chance to regain our breaths after the hurly-burly of the recent general and special sessions, but already we must plunge into preparations for our interim work during the time before the 1967 general session. Both houses have heavy dockets of matters which have been referred for interim study.

In the Senate, about 250 bills and some 60 resolutions will be referred to interim groups. The Assembly has a list of 521 bills, 366 resolutions will be referred for interim groups. The Assembly has a list of 521 bills, and 366 resolutions which will probably be assigned to its committees. Together, the two houses will thus have almost 1,200 measures which may be reviewed.

The topics involved in this enormous study workload range through the entire gamut of legislative problems. From airports to water resources, from weight limits on trucks to outdoor advertising, the list of matters seems almost endless. Many of them are controversial, like proposals to change the law as to control of pornographic literature. Others require careful review to make sure that the interests of all parties concerned are taken into full account. Some problems are so great, like those of state and local taxation, that months are needed just to make the detailed research involved.

THE SENATE and the Assembly have organized themselves differently to conduct their interim work. The former house has adopted a standing rule which establishes twelve "fact finding committees," to each of which the rule provides that all 40 members of the Senate constitute the general research committee, which has over all interim authority, except as to matters assigned to one of the 12 fact finding committees.

Under Assembly rules, the standing committees which handle legislation during full sessions may be designated by the house to act as interim committees. This action was again taken this year, so the 24 standing committees will serve until the 1967 session. In both houses, the rules committee has the authority and responsibility of assigning matters to the interim groups for review.

OBVIOUSLY, money is required to enable this structure of interim organizations to function properly. The Senate has earmarked a total of $425,000 for its groups. The largest amount, $65,000, has been allocated to the revenue and taxation committee. The assembly has set aside 500,000 for its contingency fund for its committees, and has allocated an initial $3,000 to each, pending the preparation of a full budget by each group.

In addition to these sums, other sizeable amounts have been allocated to several joint legislative committees, some established by statute, others by resolution. Two new ones, the first to review the master plans for higher education, and the second to study the unemployment compensation disability system, were set up this year. Total allocations to these joint committees can only be roughly estimated at about $1,750,000 for the interim period.

Dolphins to Be Subject Of Meeting

The Harbor Aquarium Society will meet Thursday, at 8 p.m., in the Recreation Hall at McMasters Park, Artesia and Yukon avenues.

Guest speaker will be Ray Methewson, Navy photographer and a member of the Ventura Aquarium Society. He will present a film and commentary on the experimental work done with dolphins at Pt. Mugu.

Showfish of the Month will be the many types of scavengers used in aquariums and all types of marine tropicals. Refreshments will be served after the meeting. All tropical fish fanciers are invited to attend.

Navy Plan Offers Bonus For Service

The Navy SCORE Program is now available to men who have been discharged less than three months permitting them to receive enlistment bonuses for continuous service and be guaranteed a class "A" school in one of the fast advancing critical rates, according to Chief Meteney, Torrance Navy recruiter.

Men who were serving in a rate with limited advancement potential may now convert to a critical rate and enlist at the same pay grade held when discharged if within three months of their discharge date.

A man who has been discharged more than three months may qualify for conversion and school but cannot qualify for the continuous service bonus.

Further details are available at the local U.S. Navy Recruiting Branch Station, 1520 Cravens Ave.

If you did not follow my advice for a preventive spray on your roses, you may now see evidence of mildew or black spot. The mildew is easily recognized because we have it to some extent every year and this year is no exception.

However, black spot is not as well known. If you have black spots on the leaves in various sizes with ragged edges you had better spray now. The leaf tissue around the black spot gets yellow and then the whole leaf may turn yellow and drop off.

If you live out of the coastal fog area a copper spray is most effective and will help to keep the black spot from spreading. If the combination of fog and the copper spray spots your foliage, try using a lime sulphur-oil dormant spray at one half strength near the coast.
