

PROTECT TOOLS . . . Garden tools can be spruced up with a coat of new paint and, at the same time, made "findable" by adding bright color and your name and address. Handles, or the entire rake, spade, hoe, or virtually any garden or household tool can be sprayed with a fresh coat of orange or yellow enamels. And the name means the neighbor will remember from whom he borrowed it.

PRETTY CLOSETS

Bedroom closets can be pretty. For a feminine touch, use bifold ponderosa pine louvered closet doors and antique them to a shade to match the bedroom decor.

Carpets in All Rooms Make Sense

There's a new trend in home furnishings — room to room carpeting. The day when the living room got the best carpet, the dining room received a dark dreary pattern that wouldn't show spills, and and hand me downs went into the bedroom are past. The cause of this is carpets of modern man-made fibers.

These fibers offer so many advantages that they can meet the demands for any location.

The living room? Carpets of continuous filament Cumuloft nylon, for instance, have deep, plush piles for rooms where luxury is desired. They clean so easily that even the brightest, most attractive colors can be used without fear. The bedrooms? The carpets are so economical that all the bedrooms can be carpeted with no feeling of extravagance. They are even appropriate to such places as stairs and family room where traffic is heaviest. Nylon is one of the sturdiest fibers known to man, and nylon carpets can take the most rugged abuse.

Carpeting throughout the house is now recommended by many interior designers for all of the reasons above—especially for the family on a budget. Noted designer Emily Malino is one.

"In the smaller houses that are being built today," she says, "carpeting is a great help."
