She's a Charming Two Year Old

Four Generations-One U.S. Citizen

By JERRY REYNOLDS

Jeanette Sonja Bruckner is an unusual little girl.

Happy, active Jeanette—at 2 years of age—can speak two languages and is the only American citizen in a family which spans four generations.

Jeanette, the daughter of Ernst and Helga Bruckner of 23007 Fonthill Ave., speaks German and English, both learned at the knees of a trio of teachers.

But Jeanette will soon say goodbye to her favorite teacher, great-grandmother Anna Haller. Mrs. Haller, who has been visiting her family for the past two years, is leaving May 12 for Mutterstadt, West Germany.

While in the United States, however, Mrs. Haller has presided over the Bruckner household, which includes her daughter, Mrs. Annemarie Heinhermann, now 43, and her granddaughter, Helga, now 23, and little Jeanette—in addition to a couple of men.

Their story began 65 years ago in Yugoslavia, where Mrs. Haller was born. Since then, it's been a story of war, of concentration camps, of flight, and finally, a quiet, peaceful life in the United States.

"It would take three days to tell about our life," Mrs. Heinhermann said. But, briefly, this is it.

Mrs. Heinhermann was born in Rumania, where she and her husband, Michael, welcomed Helga, their only child, in 1943. A year later, she would hear of her mother being placed in one of Marshal Tito's camps in Yugoslavia, and a few months later, she would be interned in a Russian camp in Rumania.

Those days are painful memories for the family, days they don't like to think about. And there's a little bitterness.

"Americans don't like to hear of how Tito killed 500,000 Germans," Mrs. Heinhermann said, recalling the days immediately after World War II. The Heinhermanns fled from Rumania in late 1945 and made their way to Austria, where, after 10 years, they secured permits and came to the United States.

Mrs. Haller, released from Tito's camp in May, 1947, made her way to West Germany, where a second daughter and her family now live.

After a few months in the east, the Heinhermann family made its way to Los Angeles, and in 1960 moved to Torrance.

In 1958, Helga, then 16, met her husband, Ernst at a 16th birthday party for a girl friend. They were married Aug. 4, 1962. Bruckner, who was born in Germany, left that country for Canada in 1956 and came to California in 1958. He has since served two years in the United States Army and he and Helga have applied for American citizenship.

Jeanette, born at Little Company of Mary Hospital, is a citizen: a singular distinction in her family, at least until her parents acquire their naturalization papers.

The Bruckners went to Germany in 1963 "to meet the in-laws," Helga explained. Asked how she likes the United States, she quickly replied, "We came back."

Now it's Mrs. Haller's turn to go back—home to another daughter and great-granddaughter in West Germany. She hopes, however, to return to visit the Bruckner family again.

But Jeanette's bi-lingual education should not be interrupted. Grandmother and Grandfather Heinhermann will still be here, as will mom and pop.
