El Camino Classes Set Fashion Parade

June is a time demanding chic, head-turning fashion and appropriately, home economics students at El Camino College will model dresses of their own creation in the annual Spring Fashion Show.

The show, centered around the theme "A Circus of Fashion," will take place on June 1, from 1 to 3 p.m., in the natural science building room N.S. 108. The public is invited to attend.

Students will model suits and dresses which have been custom-made in clothing and tailoring classes instructed by Mrs. Hattie Roberts, the show director.

Costume accessories to be shown with the fashions, will be chosen by the costume selection class, which is taught by Dr. Eleanor Petersen.

Mrs. Roberts is assisted by Susan Peacock, a sophomore.

more majoring in home economics, who is instructing the models.

The show will be narrated by Kathy Gurvine, a student at El Camino College. Miss Gurvine's script was written by students in the costume selection class.

"The two-year fashion design curriculum opens many opportunities for employment. Among these are opportunities to work as an assistant to a designer, as a fashion co-ordinator, or as an executive in the field of merchandising," Dr. Petersen said.

"Competition in the interior design field is keen. But if a person has a great interest in design, and is willing to work hard, there is a place for him in the field," Mrs. Kuehn concluded.

Both the Fashion Design Co-ordination and the Interior Design Co-ordination curricula will be offered in the fall. Information concerning enrollment in either of these programs may be obtained from the department of home economics, El Camino College.
