By Mike Connolly

Dear Mike: Is there any chance of borrowing Phyllis Diller's hairdresser for Hallo-ween? I want a hairdo just like hers — what does she call it? — Julie Medina, Lawrence, Kans.

Dear Julie: Phyllis says you can't have it. It's all hers per copyright, and it's called "Ceylon After a Monsoon."

Dear Sicknik: It's a brave new world and we brave new ones are taking over so you and all the other old fogies better quit knocking Sonny and Cher or we'll knock you off — hear? — Buddy Casas, Richmond Hills, N.Y.

Dear Buddy: Brush that long Beatlebob out of your eyes, Bub, and dig the following letter to this department, dated May 31, 1966 — "Dear Mike, just want to thank you for the nice articles you've been writing about us. If at any time in the near future you wish to contact us again, we'll be happy to make ourselves available to you. Love, Sonny and Cher."

Dear Mike: When was Susan Hayward born and where — and is she married? My father worked with Susan a lot but I never met her. I admire her so much. Please give me her address. — Chris Bell, Houston.

Dear Chris: Susan was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., June 30, 1918. Her husband, Eaton Chalkley, died recently. We have a house rule about the addresses of stars — we DON'T give them out. Repeat, for the benefit of Sue Pederson, Michelle Chernak, "D.D." and others who have written for addresses: we DON'T give them out, so please don't waste your time, my time, and your postage.

Sir: Why don't you answer my letters? — Joanne Akers, Newport Center, Vt.

Dear Joanne: I pick the letters I consider will be the most interesting to my readers. I try to give the most informative answers. To be quite frank, Joanne, your letters have been pretty dull.

Dear Mr. C.: Whatever happened to Sue Lyon, after all the phony publicity she got for "Lolita"? — Tim Essley, Whittier.

Dear Tim: She has come a long way for a 19-year-old. She is a B-plus student at Santa Monica City College and just re-signed for the summer. Movie-stardom isn't everything, you know, and her attitude speaks will for Sue.

Dear Mike: Is Vic Morrow of TV on a sex-image-building kick? How else can you explain why he's spending the summer making a movie called "The Ballad of Maggie's Drawers"? — Mrs. Ward Montoya, Collegeville, Pa.

Dear Mrs. Montoya: Don't go drawing conclusions. Maggie's Drawers" is a target practice term.

Dear Mike: Why don't you ever mention Robert Lansing, my favorite actor, in your column? He recently completed two movies and I hear he's brilliant in them. Is it because he leads a quiet, uncomplicated life that you never write about him? — Jeanne Fritz, Forest Hills, N.Y.

Dear Jeanne: I'm a reporter, not a movie reviewer. When I get a scoop on Bob, I'll slip it to you — fast.

Dear Mr. C.: Is it true, that David McCallum is separated from his wife, Jill Ireland? I would appreciate a quick response. It is not only important to me but, I am sure, to all of his other fans. — A.U.A., Salinas, Calif.

Dear A.: It is true. Jill is now dating Charlie Bronson, the actor who is her partner in the operation of a Hollywood art gallery.

Dear Mike: A friend told me Doris Day's daughter had her nose broken in an automobile accident and that she won a $5,000 damage suit for it. Is this true? — Angela Brown, Mill Valley, Calif.

Dear Angela: Doris does not have a daughter. Her son, Terry Jordan, says he has never had a nose broken in an accident or otherwise.

(Mike Connolly will try to answer your questions in his column. He gives no personal replies by mail).
