

BREATH OF LIFE . . . Ron Schlosser of Torrance, an employee at Pacific Telephone Co., shows how he used first aid techniques learned in a company first aid program to save the life of a neighbor who had stopped breathing after a cerebral hemorrhage. Schlosser administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation until a doctor arrived.

Company Training Helps Save Life of Neighbor

Enjoying a late Saturday breakfast in his Torrance home, Ron Schlosser suddenly was faced with an emergency where he had to use mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to save the life of a neighbor.

Schlosser, who works for Pacific Telephone, had his breakfast abruptly interrupted when the 11-year-old son of the neighbor rushed into the kitchen and cried: "My father needs help. He fell on the floor and can't get up!"

Schlosser raced across the street, followed by his father, and found the neighbor, Cotton Brady, lying unconscious on the floor.

Fortunately Schlosser had taken a first aid course given by Pacific Telephone to its employees that included mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, and immediately began to apply the life-saving technique.

Meanwhile, his father notified the fire department rescue squad and the family doctor. Schlosser continued to give Brady mouth-to-mouth resuscitation until the doctor and rescue squad arrived and took the neighbor to the hospital.

Brady, who suffered a cerebral hemorrhage, began breathing again under Schlosser's first aid and doctor's credited the Pacific employee's prompt action with saving his life.

Psychology Class Set At School

"Psychology for Parents" will be the subject of the first adult education course to be offered at West High School. The six-week summer school class will meet

Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. beginning June 22.

Instructor will be Larry Kessler, a psychologist. Lectures, demonstrations, and question periods will deal with developing effective ways of working with children.

The course will answer such questions as "Why did he do that?" "How can I get him to behave?" "Should I punish him for this?" "Am I at fault?" and "How can I improve my relationship with him?"

Ann Landers Says

Drawing the Line Is Hard for Mom

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter is 14 and driving me out of my mind because of her obsession with what she considers up-to-the-minute style.

I have gone along with Lois up to now because I haven't wanted her to feel different from the rest of the girls in her crowd. But things have gotten out of hand. The girl is getting herself up to look like a comic. I feel I must draw the line somewhere — but WHERE?

Lois has hemmed up all her dresses so that they hit her about four inches above the knees. She wants everything tight around the hips and the louder the color and patterns the better.

She goes around both day and night wearing sunglasses as large as coffee cups. Her hair (which she irons on a board) hangs in her eyes and looks ghastly. I am happy that she is allergic to eye make-up and cannot wear it. For several months last winter she looked like a raccoon.

My husband and I have had some serious talks about what to do but we just don't know where to draw the line. Will you please print this letter not only for us but for other parents who must be equally baffled? — ADRIFT WITHOUT ANSWERS.

Dear Adrift: Styles DO change — and they will continue to change because it's good for morale and good for business. But some of the stuff I've seen lately — not only on teenagers; but on their mothers — may be considered fashionable, but it strikes me as positively indecent.

The op look and the pop look and the ironed hair and the kooky glasses — o.k., if a girl keeps herself clean. But those skin-tight, thigh-high skirts are vulgar. There's nothing left for a girl to do to attract attention except to set her hair on fire.

Parents not only have the right but they have an obligation to say, "This far — and NO further!" There comes a point at which respectability must take precedence over "trend" — and, so help me, over "what everybody else in the crowd is doing." When you feel your teenager is getting too far out, step in and lower the boom.

Dear Ann Landers: I was 18 when I fell madly in love with a married man. I waited for him three years, until he could get a divorce. We have been married 14 months and have a son who is six weeks old. The baby is sickly and cries a lot. My husband says his other children never cried at night and he doesn't see why this one has to. According to him it is my fault.

He criticizes my housekeeping and says his first wife was wonderful that way and he isn't accustomed to anything else. He knew I hated housework before I married him but he said it didn't make any difference.

Last night he made a mean remark about my figure and it really hurt. I explained that it takes a woman about three months to get her shape back after a baby. He said his ex-wife got her shape back in three weeks on four different occasions.

I'm very unhappy and afraid he is, too. What happened to the most exciting love affair in history? — NO NAME.

Dear No: It was legalized.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents . . . if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. C 1966, Publishers Newspaper Syndicate

GET AWARDS . . . Louis B. Lundborg (seated at right), president of the Bank of America, presents an oversized check to four Bank of America Achievement award winners. Ready to take the check is Steven Flannery of Warren High School. Waiting for their checks are, from left, Steven Kuchenbecker of South High, a $500 winner; Juanita Valdemar of Compton High School, a $150 winner, and Kathleen McNally of South High, a $130 winner.

Three Arts Studio Slates Dance Recital for Today

A dance recital will be presented this afternoon at 2:30 at the Three Arts Dance Studio, 2252 W. Carson St. The recital will be staged in the Garden Theatre, with students of all ages taking part in the program.

Theme for the afternoon recital will be "Travelog in Dance." Ballet, tap, and ballroom dancing routines will be featured, along with character, Spanish, Hawaiian, and modern jazz dances.

Admission to the recital is $1 per person. Refreshments will be served during the intermission.

Registration for the summer term is now being accepted, according to Martha Jane and Edward T. Kickard, who established the studio in 1943. The term will begin tomorrow.

Students Complete Telescope

A telescope believed to be the largest amateur-built telescope in the Southland is being completed by students at a Torrance elementary school.

Students in Edward A. Goldsmith's class at Arnold School have completed a telescope capable of taking photographs of Mars. Consisting of an eight-inch telescope mounted atop a 12-inch telescope, the instrument took two years to complete.

The smaller telescope serves as a guide scope and the larger one will be used by students this summer to photograph other planets.

It took the students 120 hours to grind and polish the 12-inch lens and 60 man hours to complete the 8-inch lens. Students worked after school and weekends to get the mirrors ready.

Once the mirrors had been ground and polished they were mounted in tubes 99 inches and 70 inches long made of galvanized steel.

Result was a telescope in size equal to that used at Griffith Park.

Youngsters Pay Visits To Dentist

Nearly 1,000 Torrance youngsters have visited their dentists for treatment this spring as a result of dental health programs in the classroom, according to Dr. Louis Kaplan, assistant superintendent for special services.

In a report of the Board of Education, Dr. Kaplan said 2,020 of the 5,311 first and sixth grade youngsters examined at the schools by the Torrance Dental Health Association in February and March were found to be in need of dental care. Of this number, 986 had initiated follow-up care within six weeks.

School examinations were conducted by 24 local dentists who donated their services.

Cooking Skills Teacher Sought

A good cook, no degrees necessary, is needed by the Volunteer Bureau to instruct young girls in basic cooking skills. Two hour sessions once a week are proposed.

Interested persons may receive further information by telephoning the bureau at TE 3-3227 any Monday, Wednesday, or Friday morning.

JA BOOST . . . Gordon Hough, vice president and general manager of Pacific Telephone Co., accepts a $150 check for a Junior Achievement scholarship from officials of Jemco, a JA company counseled by Pacific Telephone. The check, which represents a portion of the firm's profits, was presented by Norman McCracken, president of Jemco, and Marlene Sparling, vice president of sales. Both are students at North High School.

Press-Herald Sunday Crossword

(Answer on Page B-4)

Across

- 1—Kind of cigar
- 7—Levantine ketch
- 11—Biblical weed
- 12—Fethered
- 17—Remote
- 21—Place of combat (pl.)
- 22—Exclamation of sharp pain
- 23—To state
- 24—Things to be done
- 25—Rockfish
- 26—Spanish for yes
- 28—City of Nebraska
- 30—Symbol for actinium
- 31—Part of harness
- 32—Large tub
- 33—Coarse hominy
- 35—Pulls
- 36—Kind of horse
- 38—And so forth
- 39—Mr. . . . talking
- 40—Slow-witted
- 42—Cravat
- 43—Rasping sound
- 45—Symbol for selenium
- 46—Distributes
- 47—Put in proper order
- 50—Butcher's
- 52—Father or mother
- 53—Woody plant
- 55—Fish
- 57—Emits visible vapor
- 60—Declaration of arbitrators in a case
- 61—French soldiers
- 63—Insect's eggs
- 65—Ritual prayer of Mohammedans
- 66—Drinks with tongue
- 67—Had been cut with a toothed tool
- 68—Dry
- 70—English boys' school
- 72—City of Sarawak
- 73—Falsehood
- 74—Prenoun
- 75—To summarize
- 77—in an unbalanced state
- 78—Persian title: chief
- 80—Scattered
- 82—Greeting
- 83—Tendency to regard things with strong feelings
- 85—By way of
- 87—Pardon, as of sin
- 89—Paid athlete
- 90—Social branch of armed forces
- 94—Word of negation in S.W. Asia
- 95—A conspirator
- 96—Palm leaf (var.)
- 100—Spanish artist
- 101—Woman's garment
- 103—Spiral
- 104— . . . Claire
- 105—Allows
- 107—Fruit
- 108—Old French coin
- 110—Transgressions
- 111—Against
- 112—American Indian
- 114—Remove in printing
- 116—Blighted
- 118—Scraped together

Down

- 1—To shape by cutting
- 2—Mountain nymph
- 3—A tear in cloth
- 4—Terra del Fuego
- 5—Indian
- 6—Symbol for sodium
- 7—Therefore
- 8—Sea bird
- 9—Covered with frostings
- 10—Liquor made by Carthusian monks
- 11—Touching at a single point
- 12—The birds
- 13—A king (Sp.)
- 14—Tautonic deity
- 15—Gives up
- 16—For example (abbr.)
- 17—Weight of India
- 18—To cut after snick
- 19—Prepares for print
- 20—Long-shafted weapon
- 27—Mischievous Sprites
- 29—Non-Moslem subject of Ottoman empire
- 30—Ancient country in S.W. Asia
- 33—Remain erect
- 34—3,1416
- 36—Land measure
- 37—Drugs
- 40—Fortune tellers
- 41—Bobby singer
- 43—Supernatural being subject to magic control
- 44—Place in general
- 46—A dealer in dry goods
- 48—Unit of electrical reluctance
- 49—Firearm
- 51—Kind of sausage
- 52—Satiate
- 53—To stay for
- 54—Draws along by a rope
- 56—Resh
- 58—Yankee outfielder
- 59—Atmospheric disturbance
- 61—Recompensed
- 62—Withdrawal
- 63—Alone
- 67—Had cut off the hair from
- 69—Rotating projection on a wheel (pl.)
- 71—Quandary?
- 74—Taunts
- 75—Covers with hoarfrost
- 76—Kind of horse
- 78—Given by word of mouth
- 81—Child heroine of Uncle Tom's Cabin
- 82—Informal (slang)
- 84—Also
- 85—Parcel of land
- 87—Putrid
- 88—Annoys
- 90—Europeans
- 91—Watchful
- 92—Proportion (pl.)
- 93—Toward the mouth
- 95—Body of water
- 96—A member of bottles, etc.
- 97—To go in
- 98—Predatory incursions
- 102—State of being destroyed (pl.)
- 103—Pintado: the fish
- 106—Fine line of a letter
- 108—To ignore
- 110—Quarrels
- 111—Atlanta Braves ballplayer
- 113—Old world finch
- 115— . . . Whitney
- 117—Writing implement
- 118—Mechanical man
- 120—Upper house of Congress (pl.)
- 122—Accompanies
- 124—Wider
- 125—Jones Locker
- 126—Civil wrong
- 129—Appellation of Athens
- 130—Danger
- 131—Unaccompanied
- 133—French article
- 136—Exclamation of disbelief
- 137—Behold (F.)
- 138—Kingdom of Burgundy
- 140—Molten rock
- 142—Blowgun missile
- 143—Cape for poultry
- 145—Obligation
- 147—Kobold
- 148—Metal container
- 150—Correlative of neither
- 153—Chinese pagoda
- 154—Symbol for tellurium
- 155—Exclamation of triumph
- 157—French article
- 158—Largest city in U.S. (abbr.)
- 159—Symbol for nickel

COUNT MARCO

He Double Dares You -- Perhaps

Where equality of the sexes will stop, nobody knows.

Ah, but somebody does: I know. Is there any job known to man, or a sport of which he is so fond that someday, somewhere, some female won't decide, "If it's good enough for him, it's good enough for me"? Yes, I know one, and there probably isn't a woman alive today (or I hope tomorrow) who would dare invade it.

You've entered practically every other field. Take even that strictly male domain of auto mechanics. One female tried unsuccessfully for a year to enter a training class for auto mechanics, but was not accepted because the administrators thought she was "just kidding."

To prove she meant business she sought legal aid, on the grounds that the school was discriminating against equality between the sexes. She is the winner, and has already been permitted to roll around in the grease.

Another predominantly male field, big league baseball, while not yet invaded by females, could probably be taken in stride with a little pressure.

Those unreasonable facsimiles of women have already quite a well-established national league of softball battles, and one is hard put to tell them from a male player except in the shower rooms—perhaps.

Your suffragette leaders have also thrown themselves into the wrestling rings, and, while not matched against males, take on one of their own fat and bulky kind for a public hair-pulling, kneeling, and kicking session, which really isn't as shocking as one would think. It's too crude and vulgar to be shocking.

Ah, but the field you would not dare enter, despite having so much in your favor, is the sport of boxing. There is not one of you who would dare challenge Cassius Clay to a public bout.

I can just see it now: some female in the boxing ring, jiggling, dancing, swinging, ducking, swearing, punching, bleeding, falling? Oh, what a stride forward for feminine equality that would be. But as I said: YOU WOULDN'T DARE!

Or would you?