MARKS INDEPENDENCE DAY

Retired Admiral Named Speaker for Observance

Rear Admiral W. C. Chambliss (Ret.) will be the principal speaker next Monday at special Independence Day ceremonies to be held at the Malaga Cove School in Palos Verdes Estates.

The program, being sponsored by the Peninsula Independence Day Celebration Committee, will begin at 10 a.m.

Admiral Chambliss will address himself to the present Viet Nam War, discussing the historical background and the eventual consequences of the struggle.

A GRADUATE of the Columbia Law School, former newspaperman and motion picture publicity writer, Admiral Chambliss returned to active duty in 1940. He was on the staff of Admiral W. F. "Bull" Halsey and served as task force navigator for the invasion of Guadalcanal. He was aboard the carrier flagship U.S.S. Wasp when it was sunk off Guadalcanal.

A counsel at the Court of Inquiry into the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, Admiral Chambliss served in many parts of the world following the Second World War. He retired in 1959 and is now a corporate communications executive and consultant.

He is the author of four books and numerous short stories and articles and a member of the New York Bar. Admiral Chambliss is a member of Alpha Epsilon Rho honorary communications society.

HE HOLDS a bachelor's degree from Columbia University and a master's degree in communications awarded by The American University.

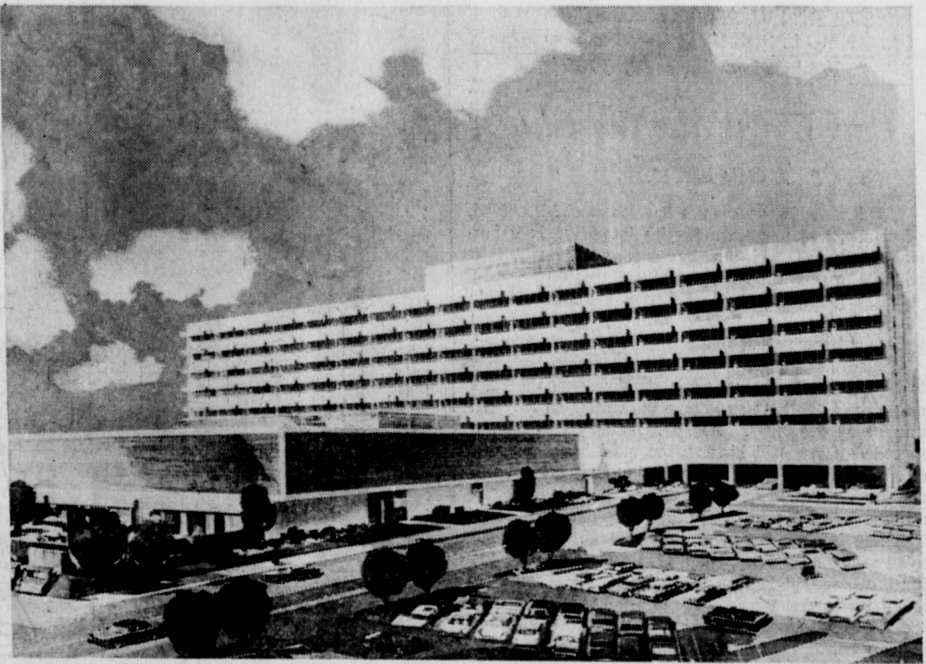

Admiral Chambliss's address will follow a bicycle parade and band concert in Malaga Cove Plaza. The concert will begin at 10 a.m., with judging in the decorated bicycle parade scheduled for 10:20 a.m.

The annual Fourth of July observance is cosponsored by the Palos Verdes Peninsula Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Palos Verdes Community Arts Association. Bryan Hardwick, Peninsula advertising and public relations executive, is general chairman.

MASTER OF ceremonies will be Max Schwartz of the Palos Verdes Peninsula. The invocation and benediction will be delivered by the Rev. Henry Erickson, pastor of Ascension Lutheran Church in Rolling Hills Estates.

A family picnic will follow the program and the Palos Verdes Symphonic Band will give a concert at 2 p.m.

TWO DECADES OF SERVICE . . . Harbor General Hospital, which began its service to humanity as a war-time barracks hospital, will celebrate its 20th year Friday. Since its beginning, the hospital has outgrown the barracks which had served as Army hospital before it became a county facility. It now occupies this large medical complex, one of the most modern hospitals in the Southland.

Harbor General Celebrates 20 Years of Solid Service

Los Angeles County Harbor General Hospital will begin its 21st year of service to Southwest communities Friday.

The date of the hospital's 20th anniversary is doubly significant. It coincides with the start of the federal government's Medicare program in which it will have an important role for more than one million residents in 14 communities still labeled "explosive population growth" areas.

Observance of the anniversary will be a "family affair" with hospital personnel invited to coffee and cake during breaks. The cutting of a three-tiered anniversary cake during one of the breaks will be witnessed by a number of employees who were among the first to staff the hospital.

To teenagers, Harbor General Hospital is the 8-story rectangular building rising against the skyline at Carson Street and Vermont Avenue. But their parents remember it first as the Army's 101 barracks type buildings used during World War II and acquired by a Board of Supervisors wisely aware that the surrounding communities would have tremendous industrial and housing post-war growing pains.

VOTERS approved a 1956 bond issue which funded the present acute and administrative building, the two-story abutting outpatient clinic, its modern kitchen and a laundry handling 5,500,000 pounds of its own and three other county facilities' linens. It has averaged yearly, more than 19,000 inpatients and 255,000 outpatient clinic visits and 3,099 live births since commissioning the new unit Feb. 23, 1963.

However, both Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, in whose district the hospital serves, and Leslie R. Smith, administrator, point out that these facts have often been placed before the public, and concur that the "hospital's functioning tomorrow" to meet the health needs of the communities is now our chief concern.

In a pre-anniversary message, Hahn said:

"The personnel at this hospital is to be congratulated on seeing to it that on its 20th anniversary Harbor General Hospital has gained the fine reputation it enjoys in patient care and development of new medical programs. These facts are attested to by a long list of medical school graduates all over the United States requesting their internships at Harbor."

By the increasing attention of doctors throughout the world in its developmental programs, and by commitments from such countries as Japan, India, and the Philippines, planning to build hospitals to serve their citizens in the same fine manner as people of Los Angeles County.

"WHILE THE hospital staff may well be proud of the fine record it has developed in the past, I am sure they will match it in meeting the challenges of the new medical programs of today and tomorrow."

Smith said: "It is opportune that the Federal Medicare Program starts on the date we pause to look ahead. It will be through this legislation that the means will be provided to us in meeting the challenge of the next 20 years."

Ann Landers Says

Poor Unwed Father Gets a 'Black Eye'

Dear Ann Landers: I know you receive many letters from unwed mothers because you have printed them. Why don't you ever publish a letter from an unwed father?

You, Ann Landers, have done more to damage the image of the unwed father than anyone in this country and I resent it. My son is a lovely young man, just 19 years of age, and every time you print a letter from an unwed mother he shows it to me and says, "Why doesn't Ann Landers ever say anything good about us—we have a side, too."

Are you so blind you don't realize some girls run after boys, pester them, get them full of liquor and then offer themselves in such a way that no male could refuse? This is exactly what happened to my son, and to some of his fine friends, too. Yet the boy always gets called the terrible names and ends up with a black eye. I dare you to print this.—MOTHER OF A GOOD SON.

Dear Mother: I have yet to hear from an unwed mother who wouldn't cheerfully take the black eye in exchange for what she gets left with.

Sorry that I don't have any good conduct medals lying around for the unwed fathers. And I don't have any advice for them, either. They don't need my list of maternity homes. They can go right on living as they always have—continuing at their jobs or remaining in school.

Unfortunately, when a foolish young couple decides to "Have fun now—Pay later," it's the female who does the paying.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a salesman in a large department store. Like most salesmen of major items (furniture, rugs, jewelry, refrigerators, stoves, etc.) I work on commission.

Last week I spent the better part of two days with three couples. They asked dozens of questions, which I was happy to answer. That's what I'm here for. I gave them my card and said if they decided to buy I'd be happy to help them.

At the end of the week I followed up by telephoning these couples and all three told me they had been in the store and bought the items from someone who just happened to be standing there. They all added, "You aren't on commission are you?"

Well, on behalf of most salespeople of major items, I'd like to say "I AM on commission. This is how I make my living. When I spend hours with a customer I expect him to return to me if he decides to buy."

Thank you, Ann Landers, for letting me have my say.—NO SALE.

Dear No: You just made a very nice sale, my friend. You got your message before the eyes of millions of customers.

And now I'd like to add a word: When a salesman hands you a card, that's the hint and here's the message: "I have time and energy invested in you. If you return to buy, I hope you will remember to ask for me."

Dear Ann Landers: My mother and dad were a grand couple. Mother passed away last November.

Fifteen years ago, when Dad was in his early fifties he had a torrid affair with a married woman who lives in this city. She was well-known and it was an unpleasant, gossip sort of thing that hurt Mother deeply.

The other woman is a widow now and dad has taken her to dinner a few times. We just learned of his renewed interest. Naturally, we are furious. Mother forgave him but we can't. Any advice?—DAUGHTERS.

Dear Daughters: If your mother forgave him you CAN—and you should. Life is for the living.

"The Bride's Guide," Ann Landers' booklet, gives authoritative and complete information on how to plan a wedding. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

COUNT MARCO

'Mother System' Leads to Unrest

The young man of today steps into marriage with hip boots on so as not to get his feet wet. He's really afraid of marriage, doesn't want it, but tries it because all his friends are getting into it.

Consequently, because he's not prepared for the tough responsibilities of marriage, he becomes the one who, through divorce, leaves behind them a trail of bitter wives and howling brats.

It's all the fault of the American Mother System. You won't let the boy grow into manhood because you're afraid of losing your ill-gained domination.

As a mother you can sabotage his future happiness by not teaching him the main fact of life, which is "responsibility." The other facts he soon learns without your help.

You American women today marry and have children so you can join the PTA. Once that's done, you assume that your job as a wife and mother is over. You've produced and been accepted. But what a mess you've made of it all.

Honor Society Adds West High

Thirty-three students at West High have been named members of the school's new chapter of the National Honor Society.

Membership in the organization, sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals, is based on scholarship service to the school, and leadership. George Kopecky, chairman of the West High foreign language department, is advisor to the group. An organizational meeting will be held when the fall semester gets under way.

Students named to the group include James Ackerman, Donna Anderson, Jacqueline Bethea, Gregory Bostwick, Eric Bramhall, Charles Brashear, Linda Brown, Neil Campbell, Patricia DeFussi, Kathleen Filas, David Forbes, Donald Gardner, Judith Harris, Ronald Heideman, Susan Hennrick, Pamela Holley, and Richard Hubacek.

Others who qualified for membership were Dawn Linkletter, Carole Patterson, Stephen Pearlston, Sandra Peitz, Harold Pretorius, Wayne Sabo, Monika Schubert, Michael Sellers, Thomas Somerset, Kenneth Swift, Michael Tomas, Linda Underwood, John Waldruff, Sharon Walker, Nancy Woodward, and Marcia Workman.

Naturally it's always the woman's fault. So train your daughter now. She must forever be an example of modesty and goodness—to her husband and family.

Always considerate, she must never demand more of him than he can pay for. She must cook, wash, and sew.

In fact, once a week she should drag out an old fashioned washboard and scrub some of his clothes as sort of penance to show her appreciation for just being married.
