Aikido Classes Scheduled

A new self-defense class in Aikido will start July 11 at Torrance High School. Aikido is one of Japan's most modern self-defense arts.

Classes sponsored by the Torrance Recreation Department will be held Mondays and Fridays for six weeks from 7 to 9 p.m. Enrollment is $3.

The program is open to men, women and children 12 years of age and over. Parents enrolled may enroll younger children with the instructor's permission.

The principles of Aikido were discovered by Morihei Uyeshiba. This martial art form teaches students to use their minds before they use their bodies. When the art of using your mind is mastered, women and children can defend themselves against a large man.

Instructor Isao Takahashi studied under Professors Uyeshiba and Tohei. These men awarded Takahashi his black belt when he mastered the new martial art form.

In 1965, he was awarded his fifth degree black belt by Professor Tohei and now holds the highest rank of any one in the United States.

BASEBALL GAMES

A team of Redondo Beach area baseball stars will oppose both of their Mexican Sister City counterparts July 9 and 10 in Ensenada, Baja, Calif., Mexico.

PROTECTED BY LAW

Shooting of Sea Lions Illegal in California

A father who wanted his 7-year-old son to learn sportsmanship and the wonders of the sea helped teach a lesson to the captain of a sport-fishing charter boat.

Acting on information supplied by the sportsman, the Department of Fish and Game cited the skipper to appear in the South Bay Judicial Court to answer to a charge of illegal shooting of sea lions. The captain pleaded guilty and was fined $25.

On May 14 Inglewood resident David B. Hargreaves and his son boarded a charter boat out of a sportfishing landing in Santa Monica Bay. Early in the trip, the boy asked why "the man steering the boat" had a gun. He soon found out. While the anglers aboard the boat were fishing a sea lion pup poked his head up curiously nearby. The skipper promptly took a shot at him.

Later, the captain shot at another sea lion while the boat was under way from one fishing location to another. This time he apparently hit his target; one angler said he saw blood.

Hargreaves didn't see blood, but he did see red. His son could not understand why the sea lions were attacked, and neither could Hargreaves. After the boat returned to shore, he fired off a letter to the DFG's regional office in Los Angeles.

"As a skin diver and fisherman for a number of years," he said, "I have grown rather fond of our old friends the California sea lions. I understand they are protected by state law. I am trying to teach my son to be a sportsman in the truest sense, not a sadistic murderer of animals. There is a difference."

United States swimmers who provided Uncle Sam with the bulk of the Olympic medals at Tokyo, and who return from a 10-nation meet in Russia, will provide the competition and excitement at the 8th annual Los Angeles Invitational Swimming Meet July 29, 30 and 31 at the Los Angeles Swim Stadium.

In every one of the preceding seven Los Angeles Invitational, world records have been smashed.

After an investigation of the incident by Warden Terry Hickman, legal action was brought against the charter boat captain.

California law prohibits the taking of any seal or sea lion except that a fisherman while engaged in fishing from a boat at sea may take any seal or sea lion which is damaging his nets, tackle or fish.

Shooting from a charter boat under way from one location to another obviously does not fall into this category, the DFG said.

In a followup action, the Department contacted the employees of the errant skipper and was assured that this type of incident would not be repeated under their jurisdiction.

Rams Open Training Next Week

Eleven veteran players and 41 rookies will report to head coach George Allen at 9 a.m. next Wednesday, when the Rams open their summer training camp at Chapman College in Orange.

Leading the early group of veterans will be quarterbacks Roman Gabriel and Bill Munson, whose premature presence was made mandatory by Allen.

"I want Bill and Gabe in camp from the outset," Allen says, "because we plan extra techniques work for them and long book and films sessions with the staff."

Most of the other veteran players will report July 17. Among the nine other veterans who will report on July 6 are five who have been Ram regulars. They are centers Ken Iman and Joe Wendryhoski, defensive backs Dan McInhaney and Clarence Williams and flanker Bucky Pope. The other four early reporters are linebacker Mac Byrd, offensive lineman George Burman, end Steve Heckard and running back Jim Stiger. Burman played one full season for the Bears.

Top-drafted rookies reporting include first-round pick Tom Mack of Michigan and 1965 future choice Billy Guy Anderson, the Tulsa quarterback to rewrite most of the NCAA passing record book last year. Offensive guard Mack and QB Anderson will leave Orange on July 14 for the camp of the College All-
