Who Controls the Money?

With the emergence of women into the business world, the control of the money in the country is now in the hands of the women, so stated officials of the Imperial Bank who entertained the Torrance Woman's Club at a luncheon in the Bank's Crown Room Wednesday. Robert Goldberg, one of the bank directors, pointed out that 40% of the millionaires are women. The 50 club members were welcomed by Ann Ladd, secretary to the board of directors. Goodwin J. Knight, former governor and chairman of the bank's advisory board, spoke on "Women's Position in the Banking World," and told of the assets of the three-year-old Imperial Bank.
