Park Talent Shows Begin Summer Runs

Local performers, showing their talents in such areas as singing, dancing, drama, and puppetry will be the stars of the second Sunday Showcase to be held at Welteria Park, 3855 W. 242nd St., beginning at 1 p.m. Sunday. The program is sponsored by the Torrance Recreation Department.

The series was opened at

Harvey Gets Award From Ohio Center

Award of a contract valued at $86,625 to Harvey Aluminum, Inc., 19200 S. Western Ave., has been announced by the Defense Construction Supply Center at Columbus, Ohio.

The contract, awarded by the Department of Defense, is for the production of an aluminum alloy pipe. Harvey Aluminum, Inc., was one of three responding to a call for bids.

Work will be done at Harvey's Torrance plant.

McMaster Park last Sunday. Although the department's announcement was made too late for residents in the McMaster Park area, other showcase programs have been scheduled to follow the Welteria Park event next Sunday. The program has been scheduled at Entradero Park on July 24; at El Retiro on July 31; at Victor Park on Aug. 7, and at Lago Seco Park on Aug. 21.

HEADS PROGRAM

Job Corps Begins New Drive Here

A new drive to recruit 2,250 high school students from poverty areas for part-time summer jobs was launched this week by Los Angeles anti-poverty officials.

The drive is being conducted to fill new jobs in the Neighborhood Youth Corps made available through a $1.2 million grant from the U. S. Department of Labor, according to Joe P. Maldonado, executive director of the Economic and Youth Opportunities Agency.

Jobs available include 750 child center aids in the Operation Headstart program, and 1,500 jobs with the Teen Post program in such positions as office worker aide, custodial aide, gardener aide, and playground aide.

The jobs are open only to high school students currently on vacation or in summer school who meet the age and family income standards. Applications for jobs may be made at a Teen Post Center or Operation Headstart class location.
