Your Right to Know is the Key to All Your Liberties

Press-Herald GLENN W. PFEIL ..... Publishe REID L. BUNDY . . Managing Editor Torrance, Calif., Wednsday, December 21, 1966

An Early Resolution

We know Santa will be here this weekend, so it's too late to put it on our Christmas shopping list. But it may not be too late to consider making it one of our New Year's resolutions

We mean this business of getting down to a serious study of the patched-up city charter with an eye to bringing it up to date.

The matter of charter revision was much with us a scant 45 days ago when a noisy claque sought to strip the voters of the right to elect the city's mayor. It was soundly defeated at the polls on Nov. 8.

In earlier elections, the voters have been offered piecemeal revisions of the charter, adding to its patch-work of amendments and amendments to the amendments.

The need for a complete charter review by a citizens committee with the full cooperation of the City Council and the city administrative staff should be evident. It has been called for by this newspaper, by the League of Women Voters, by the board of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce, and by citizens throughout the city speaking on their own behalf.

We suggest strongly that the City Council assume the leadership in this field and designate a select committee of citizens to begin work on the charter.

It would be an excellent beginning for 1967.

YMCA Spirit Undaunted

A few tears must have trickled down a few cheeks last week when the news about the hold-up at the YMCA's Christmas tree lot came out. Two thieves made off with more than $700 in cash from the sales office

Unforunately, many trees were purchased, a moun tain of sawdust shoveled, and many volunteers from 8 to 80 labored many hours only to provide a brighter Christmas for a couple of thieves. Only a couple of weeks earlier a newly donated color TV set was taken by thieves who broke into the YMCA biulding

The news of the robbery came as a shock to some 400-plus workers on YMCA tree lcts and to 6.200 persons who have been selling tickets for the holiday greenery. Volunteers all, they included the Torrance Y's Men, a club which has spent weekends since September preparing the lots for the annual sale.

The Christmas tree sale annually provides a large share for the YMCA budget-youth and family club programs serving some 6,000 families, for camp equipment-trucks, buses, movie projectors, etc., for camp funds for youngsters, and for a variety of other projects benefiting local kids.

The Torrance Y has certainly been one of the greatest forces for good in this city, and countless resi-dents can take pride in its coninued services to local Baron youth

Despite such setbacks as the loss of these funds and the lack of services these funds might have provided, the YMCA will continue to brighten local lives, perhaps best expressed in the spirit of a famous Christ-mas character: "God bless us, every one." The thieves can steal the money, but not the Christmas Spirit.

'The Other Guy'

The California Federation of Safety Councils is finishing an intensive campaign aimed at reducing death and injury because of traffic accidents on California's streets and highways. The slogan of "Watch Out for the Other Guy" suggested in this campaign is particularly applicable during the holiday season when western man is sup-posed to be thinking in charitable terms of "the other guy." Certainly it applies to our driving habits. The failure of California drivers this year to "watch out for the other guy" has had a large bearing on California traffic accident statistics which show more than 4,500 killed and some 250,000 more injured in traffic accidents so far this year.

There's no point in going into the moral implication of those figures but we will point out they are tragic. They aren't nameless, meaningless figures to those who were involved. They represent human suffering and billions of dollars on a national scale.

Simply through "watching out for the other guy" we all can reduce both the suffering and the cost. As the California Highway Patrol suggests, the rewards are great: A Merry Christmas and a safe and happy

STAN DELAPLANE

Opening of Restaurant The Event in Acapulco

The social event of the win-* * * ter season in Mexico was the elegant opening of Dario Borzani's Restaurante Acapulco Rivoli.

All the name people were down from Mexico City. The down from Aexico City. The season is on now — the fly-ways are filled with rich birds from Cannes and Ca-pri. From Westport and London's West End. Conver-sation oozed with things like, "Have you met the Baron ...?" The airline will do this for you free. Or let a travel agent set it up through the airlines. Saves you a lot of calls and ticket pickup.

* * * "If we drive from Rome The Acapulco w eather was warm and splendid. The new Rivoli is open-air. A breezeway bar. In the dinto Paris must we pay to have the car driven back?"

You must pay for the re-turn of the car. But - call ing room coco palms grow toward the brilliant Mexi-can stars. A truly magnifithe Hertz people. They quite often have a car to be re-turned. See if the Rome office has a car to be returned to Paris. If so, they'll give you a very low rate to drive it up.

* *

seemed to me they come out pretty much the same.

Dress was resort casuals. (It costs about $500 to get that casual look in a dress.) Champagne corks popped softly. And just about every-body discreetly pointed out the lady who took an over-dose of sleeping pills last cent place.

"What rental agency has the lowest rates for cars in Europe?" weel There are so many deals. Limited mileage. Unlimited mileage. By the month, weekly, etc. I've worked these out a few times add-ing and subtracting. It seemed to use they come out It's a success story.

* * *

"We wanted to find a beach resort in Mexico but airlines appear to be sold out almost all winter.

"Or should we buy a car where the company guaran-tees to buy it back?" So they say, Yet I saw a plane come in yesterday with 10 empty seats. Can-cellations, I suppose. So if you're willing to stand at the airport and take space available, I think you'd make it just about the same as if Just about the same as in I'd rented it. If you buy and ship the car home, you come out better. You get the car. And all that mile-are you would have maid

The question then is getting hotel rooms. In Acapulage you would have paid for is free. co, hotel managers are hustling each other for ANY rooms to take care of their hotel managers are On cars in the $5,000 class, you save some money overflow. I'd shoot for an inland city-maybe Guada-

ACAPULCO, MEXICO — open. Chancy, but at least saving is not paying car rental while driving around Europe.

"Could you suggest a way to get tickets for theaters before we arrive in New York?" * * * "Where can we change money? We arrive in Lon-don at night."

Buy some pounds at the airport bank before you leave America. The airport banks at London will be closed, And ALWAYS try to avoid the source of the source o to exchange in banks to exchange in banks. Hotels all over the world are beginning to pick up this shabby business of tak-ing about $2 on every $100 for changing your money for changing your money or travelers' checks. It's almost standard here in Mex-ico. Same in Portugal. I'm now running into it in England I think it's incredibly dis-gets the full amount you should have had. It takes advantage of your problem of doing foreign exchange in your head. And of your trust in their fairness.

WILLIAM HOGAN

Psychological Study of Wilson Triggers Debate

The unlikely combination shock that the book was Freud again in 1939, the of Woodrow Wilson, Sig- written at all, to say noth-I did this once. Came out ing of seeing the light of mund Freud, former Am-bassador William C. Bullitt and Allen W. Dulles has beday, and finds it is not "the whole truth and nothing but the truth." So already the come the center of contro-versy among psychiatrists and historians. The reason controversy is launched. Houghton Mifflin Co. tells is a book to be published in January (Houghton Mif-flin), after having been withda from publication Houghton minim co, tens us that a few years after the Paris conference (Bullitt was a member of the Amer-ican delegation), Bullitt planned to write a chapter since 1939. This is a collaboration be-tween the renowned psy-chiatrist and Bullitt, who

HERB CAEN SAYS:

New York Doesn't Have To Pretend, It's Here there but what would I do?

given by Andrew Goodman, NEW YORK - Capital of NEW YORK — Capital of the World — this is where the action is. Other great cities pretend to nave it, but New York has it with-out pretending. The best (and the worst) drama, art, music, architecture, the fan-tastic richness and poverty, the resolute ethnic identi-ties — and above it all, like the froth on a boiling caulhead of Bergdorf Goodman, the most illustrious women's store in New York. As we were leaving, Bob Stein, editor of McCall's magazine, said: "Give my regards to San Francisco — the most san Francisco — the most beautiful city in the coun-try. I'd love to live there, but what would I do? I'd starve to death." I advised the froth on a boiling caul dron, the newsmakers, the names, the achievers, the arrivistes and the arrived. him to stay here, on top of the glorious heap.

You walk into a restau-rant at random — in this case, a tasteful little French place called the Lafayette place called the Lafayette— and there they are: Jacque-line Kennedy, whose mere presence excites a thousand emotions and conjectures. Her handsome sister, Lee Radziwill, and Lee's Prince. Chuck Spalding, an old JFK intimate. Just leaving the place: Kay Graham, owner of the Washington Post and Newsweek, a great lady in a great mink. Just arriving: Susskind and his beautiful pregnant (January, they say). wife

$ $ In a penthouse above Fifth Ave., I sat at the feet of Edward Steichen while Benny Goodman played his clarinet and Adele Astaire, seated on the floor nearby. wiggled her toes and sighed, "I wish Fred was here so we could DANCE." Every-

ROYCE BRIER

Side joint called Jilly's. At a table in a far corner sit Frank Sinatra and his Mia, surrounded by his tough-looking but sweet-talking) cronies. He is at the top of cronies. He is at the top of his form: blue eyes blazing, fingers snapping to the loud music, the Sinatra-style gags crackling fast and brittle. He and Mia had just left a fancy blacktie party. "That's not for me," he "That's not for me," he

San Francisco

* * *

Three a.m. in a smoky, jammed, low-ceilinged West dish slang is part of the patois (the Jewishness of New York contributes great-"That's not for me," he says. "THIS is for me"— waving an arm at the bot-tles of Scotch, the bowls of ice, the mob, the hubbub. Well, every man knows his own terrain. "I HATE this town," he says happily. "Tm giving up our apartment here — who needs it? I'm still going to get a pad in ly to its rich flavor). When square-apple Southern and Midwestern politicians com-plain about "the New York. international power com plex," I used to think they were smoking hashish, it's true. And good! Vitality. intelligence and the broad "I wish Fred was nere so nere who nere and in viewpoint are all we could DANCE." Every-still going to get a pad in viewpoint are all body else wished so, too. The scene was a party place. God, I'd like to live more important. viewpoint are always good and never have they been

Outsiders Should Not Intervene at Berkeley

Every human institution, be it a university or a gov-ernment, must have a for-mula for its operation. Should it be a government like that of a Hitler, the operation will be carried on by a central authority. right. But what is technical-ly legal is not of necessity sensible, and not of necessity in the interest of the institution or its members.

In our system, which took shape with the English Bili of Rights, 1689, the opera-A student "strike" is a paradox — if a voluntary tion is carried on by, or with the consent of, members of the institution. That is the World Affairs student doesn't like his in-way we operate our society in the public domain. The University of Calistitution or its manage-ment, he may quit it and seek education elsewhere. But to abstain from classes fornia is such an institution. Its members comprise the students, the faculty and certain necessary adminishe doesn't like is to "strike" against himself, his interest and life purposes, as well as the interest and welfare of the institution. In this it differs from a in our society labor strike, which in theory at least is not a strike against the striker. Somebody authorized

"I know," I cut in, "you'd starve to death." He gave me a funny look. "How did you know I was going to say that?" he asked. Every-body says that about San Francisco, everybody's fa-vorite city. Unquote.

Actually New York be-longs to the world — and the world, in a way, be-longs to New York. San Francisco is reasonably cos-mopolitan (quite astonish-ingly so, considering its lo-cation), but New York is the most international city cation), but New York is the most international city of all. In the elevators at the Regency Hotel, we hear French, Italian and Spanish as often as English. The architecture along the beau-tiful side streets of the East Side 60s to 90s is strongly European; the block after block of small, chic shops block of small, chic shops of upper Madison has the flavor of Paris — and Yid-

SUDD

1120

DURO

VODK

E

54

MO

• Fino

BA

LA

Case

24 12-

(6-

SE

DEC

M

0

I. W.

CAL

EAR

1. W.

FOU

SEAC

SEA

BEER

BAL

CLUI CUT CHR SOU

OLD

OLD

BEA

D

E

the second

BIG 10

GOLDI

CO

2301 1 Bit

000

military recruitment table among the tables on the campus. This authorization was hardly prudent, seeing a large segment of the stu-dents, probably a majority, are against militarism in the are against intra sain the abstract, and are particular-ly against the current brand being deployed in Asia. Did anybody ever hear that a hell of a lot of Americans hate the Viet Nam adven-ture deeming it immoral.

ture, deeming it immoral, oppressive and insensate in its conduct? Well, a great many stu-dents didn't like this re-cruitment table, and drove it from the campus and the trouble was on.

* * *

In general, this trouble is the business of all Ameri-cans, but specifically it is the business of the students, the faculty, their councils and the administrative body and the administrative body of the University. It should therefore be composed by these groups. Non-members, whoever they may be, should not be per-mitted to intervene, or bring direct pressure beyond nubdirect pressure beyond pub-lic expression of belief, or any intimidatory tactic to situation existing. the Mario Savio is a former student recently denied readmission for reasons not pertinent to this column. of a politician trying to in-terject himself into the sit-uation. Some of the "strik-ine" students withed him to

If the students or the faculty desire to "strike," or remain away from their classes, that is their legal honest — the hotel walks right over to the bank and certain necessary adminis-trative personnel. The stu-dents attend the University voluntarily to acquire an education, a desirable goal

New Year.

Quote

What I dislike about the Administration's urban legisla-ton, specificially the "Dem-onstration Cities and Metropolitan Development Act of 1966," is that it is nothing but a vehicle of federal control. It sets up no new pro-grams, but merely ties old ones together into a vehicle for control aimed at impos-ing federal social standards on our cities - Rep. Paul Fino (R-New York).

☆ ☆ ☆ Governor Romney's prin-cipal contribution to state and country has been in ac-celerating—by his vigorous support of Senator Robert Griffin — Soapy Williams' retirement from Michigan molitice William & Vesch politics.--William A. Veech, Albany,

Too many parents do not want their children to be-come involved in politics because it has a bad image But the government plays a large part in the lives of everyone and it is a duty to take part in politics.—Sen. Mark Hatfield, Oregon.

2 The quiet man can still speak his mind with the most potent microphone... the vote. - Susan Kazarinoff, Fremont.

Education, family organi zation, employment oppor-tunity, and housing. (These) are the structures which in-cubate crime, delinquency, and violence.—Dean Joseph D.-Lohman, UC School Criminology on the cost lajara. Then get a local $1,000 to $1,500 it is about travel agent to telephone the same as buying at home down to the beach resorts when you add on shipping down until something costs and duty. The real

Morning Report:

Germany, which became the marvel of Europe by becoming its most prosperous country, is now in the midst of an equally marvelous political situation. It's the most democratic country on the continent as well.

It must be. Because all the parties are democratic. Right now, there are the Christian Democrats, the Social Democrats, the Free Democrats, and-last on the scene-the National Democrats. The only difference among the four is that some of the parties are less democraic than others. So much so, in fact, that some writers in France are now talking again about Mr. Hitler, who was no democrat at all.

I suppose the Allies of World War II have nobody but ourselves to blame. We insisted on democratizing Germany and we succeeded. I trust not too well.

Abe Mellinkoff

was 35 years Freud's junior. It is a sharply critical, controversial psychological study of the President titled

"Thomas Woodrow Wilson: Twenty-Eighth President of the United States." It purports to show how deeply disturbed Wilson was dur eply ing the months after the first World War and during subsequent peace negotia tions

Paris.

A recent Look magazine carries excerpts from this curious document, plus a review of it by Allen W. Dulles, described by Look should collaborate on a full-length study of Wilson. In effect, Freud psychoana-lyzed Wilson from afar. A final draft of the work was prepared in 1932, but the as "a foreign affairs schol-ar" and who, like Bullitt, knew Wilson and watched authors disagreed over cerhim in action during the 1919 Peace Conference at

Dulles expresses some about Wilson in a book de-Books voted to the Treaty of Versailles. He mentioned this to Dr. Freud, who had been his friend for some time. Freud suggested that they collaborate on that chapter. Bullitt felt that to bury Freud on Wilson in a single chapter would be to pro-duce "an impossible mon strosity . . . the part would be greater than the while." The two agreed they should collaborate on a full-death.

The Allen Dulles review charges Freud and Bullitt with prejudice. He states that their account "greatly overstresses" the frailties overstresses of Wilson. He emphasizes that the attack in this book if accepted, "would under-mine belief in the ideal of a world of peace for which Wilson fought but so tragically failed to realize cally failed to realize." He is disappointed that Freud would have made such a "psychological study" at second hand, without perat second hand, without per-sonal knowledge of his sub-ject, and simply lambastes the book. All of which is good news to Houghton Mif-flin, which may have the most newsworthy book of the month in January. Notes on the Margin .... Howard & Lamar thas taken year of Freud's death. They were able to agree on a final text, and also that the work would not appear until after Mrs. Wilson's do so. But the administra-tive body was quite right in tive body was quite right in refusing to permit Mr. Savio to appear in any public and official capacity in the ne-gotiation of this dispute. He has a right to his beliefs, as have we all. But he had no more right to negotiate here than had Mao Tse-tung. Those students who do not perceive that outside in-valid in this case, are poor judges of their own rights judges of their own rights on the campus, or of their educational goals in a free society

Notes on the Margin ... The Old Timere Howard R. Lamar has taken The Old Timere Arizona, New Mexico, Utah and Colorado as his domain and in "The Far Southwest" presents a careful study of their similarities and dif-ferences in the march from QO

ferences in the march from Territory to State. A useful complement to Ear! Pom- "The kid who butters up eroy's "The Pacific Slope" the teacher may end up with of last year (Yale; $10). a cheaper grade spread." tain passages in the manu-script and put it away. Bul-litt, who became Franklin D. Roosevelt's Ambassador to Russia, then France, met of last year (Yale; $10).