

Redondo Girl Is Princess

Carol Dorler, a 17-year-old Redondo Union High School senior has been named a Christmas Seal Princess in the First Annual Christmas Seal queen contest. It was announced today by James Soutouf, president of the Redondo Beach Chamber of Commerce. Miss Dorler, a pert, dark-haired cheerleader, was sponsored by the Chamber in the contest. The Christmas Seal Association of the Tuberculosis and Health Association of Los Angeles County conducted the contest. She was selected on a recent television show and according to a statement by President Arthur W. Weiss, of the Christmas Seal Association, "added much to the occasion, in charm and beauty—and was a tribute to the good judgment of your Chamber of Commerce." Miss Dorler was a guest at the Christmas Seal Campaign kick-off luncheon today and is slated to appear in many parades and special events.

Concert Scheduled

The Pan American Festival Singers of Redondo Beach will present their third annual Goodwill Concert Saturday at the University of Ensenada as a part of the Sister City program.

Under the leadership of Thomas W. Wilson, conductor and president of the sponsoring Pacific Music Foundation, the 65-voice group will travel by special buses to Ensenada for the concert at 8 p.m. Proceeds from the concert will be contributed to the breakfast fund for needy children, which is administered by the Mayor's wife.

A preview performance of the concert will be presented in the new auditorium of Redondo Beach First Baptist Church tonight at 7:30 p.m. There will be no admission charge.

College Officials Will Meet

Dr. Wallace Cohen, vice president of instruction at El Camino College, will serve as a panel member of the meeting of the Advisory Council for the UCLA Junior College Leadership Program Nov. 21. The panel will discuss the implications of the progress report to the instructional innovations for Southern California junior colleges. Presiding at the meeting will be Milo P. Johnson, chairman of the steering committee for the advisory council. One of the reports at the advisory council meeting is entitled "Yosemite Conference for Junior College Presidents," by Wendell Black, president of Harbor College.
