

Social World

Edna Cloyd, Editor

NOVEMBER 12, 1967

B-1

For Children, Too

Little Catherine Large, two years old, looks on admiringly as Mrs. LeRoy Lindsey, seated, displays some of the wall plaques and children's items to be sold at the "Goodies and Gadgets" bazaar sponsored by the Torrance Junior Woman's Club. Above, Catherine's mother Mrs. Ronald Large arranges the paper flowers that will be sold in her Americanism section booth. (Press-Herald Photos)

Jellies And Jams And Taffy Apples

Everything from home-made jellies to Christmas tree ornaments will be offered for sale Friday at the "Goodies and Gadgets" bazaar planned by the Torrance Junior Women's Club. Pre-Christmas shoppers have been invited to look over the colorful selection between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the Torrance Recreation Center, 3331 Torrance Blvd.

Mrs. John Thayer, general chairman of the event, said that Juniors have been at work for weeks preparing home-made jams, jellies, dressings, and sauces from their own recipe collections.

Other specially made items include hostess sets, paper flowers, placemats, crayon-keepers, bean bags, pillows, taffy apples, and candles.

Each section of the Junior Woman's Club is preparing "Goodies and Gadgets" for its own booth, under the direction of Mrs. Douglas Hedde, dean of chairmen.

Hungry shoppers may wish to enjoy the luncheon planned by Juniors in connection with the sale. The menu will include casserole, salad, roll, coffee, and home-made pumpkin pie.

Those desiring to purchase luncheon tickets before the day of the bazaar may contact Mrs. Thayer or any member of the Junior Woman's Club. The public may attend the sale free-of-charge.

Proceeds from the event will be donated to Villa Contenta Convalescent Home, Harbor Hospital, Project Headstart, Retarded Children's Foundation, and Pennies for Pines.

Goodies And Gadgets

No need to waste even a pumpkin shell! Mrs. John Thayer, left, general chairman of the "Goodies and Gadgets" sale, carves jack-o'-lanterns from shells left over from pumpkin pie baking activities. Mrs. Leon Taylor, center, invitations chairman, is showing a poster advertising the bazaar to Mrs. William Kitchie, decorations chairman. The "Goodies and Gadgets" sale, featuring dozens of home-made items, will be held Friday under the sponsorship of the Torrance Junior Women's Club.

Everything's Home-Made

Homemade treats and novelty items will line the booths at the Torrance Junior Woman's Club "Goodies and Gadgets" bazaar to be held Friday at the Torrance Recreation Center. Here, Mrs. Peter Tillson, left, makes tempting candy dishes while Mrs. Lowell Costello decorates candle dishes.

Bazaar Pennants

Colorfully-decorated bulletin boards, such as the one displayed above by Mrs. Larry Smith, health chairman, are, among the "Goodies and Gadgets" to be sold Friday by the Torrance Junior Woman's Club. Also shown is Mrs. Wayne Lynch, safety chairman, checking out a few of the giraffe letter-holders that her section has created for the sale.