Your Right to Know Is the Key to All Your Liberties Press-Herald

GLENN W. PFEIL . . . . . . . . Publisher REID L. BUNDY . . Editor and Co-Publisher Torrance, California, Sunday, December 10, 1967

Courtroom Capers

Sidney T. Raycraft, a Southwest Area man, was brutally murdered May 2.

Ronald Clifford Harris, accused of participating in that murder, will spend the Christmas holidays at Whether Harris is guilty or innocent is yet to be determined. In this society, only trial by his peers will determine his fate.

Yet, Superior Court Judge Allen S. Miller, without hearing one line of testimony and even before a jury was selected, allowed Harris to walk out of a Torrance courtroom on his own recognizance with no bail set. Judge Miller, last week, was disqualified from hearing the case.

Judge Miller's action in allowing a suspect in a murder case to walk out of his courtroom with only an order to return further points up police department criticism of the court's handling of criminal suspects.

Dedicated officers spend literally hundreds of hours tracking down suspects and then spend one hour in a courtroom watching the man be released on some technicality.

Needless to say, thousands of tax dollars are spent monthly in apprehending these wanted men.

Time and again, in recent years, cases have been cited in which a criminal is tried, convicted and sentenced only to have his trial be reopened a few months later and be set free on a technicality.

Police usually end up repeating the process of apprehending the same man for the same type of crime

Communities all over the Southwest are conducting programs to cooperate with their respective police departments to help prevent crime.

Perhaps the courts-and their judges-could take a lesson.

Santa Is Honest, but...

The period between now and New Year's Day has been labeled "Danger Days" by District Attorney Evelle J. Younger, and he points out that every resident should ask this question, "How close am I to committing or being the victim of a crime."

"Danger Days," says the district attorney, affect every person in the county-youngster and adult.

To make the holiday a happy occasion instead of a sad one, he suggests shoppers place their purchases in the trunk, lock their cars, hold purchases and purses tightly.

For merchants, Younger advises watching out for bad check artists. This can be done by requiring good identification, checking the endorsement carefully and asking that the check be endorsed in the merchants' presence.

Parents can help by keeping their children busy during Christmas vacation and to know where they are. Idle youngsters are prone to get in trouble when they have nothing to occupy their time Youngsters with their new holiday bikes should be encouraged to know safety rules and use them. In addition, every bicycle owner should have a strong lock to prevent theft.

lition, every bicycle owner should have a strong k to prevent theft. All in all the district attorney offers sage advice everyone and this newspaper endorses his "Danfor ger Days" campaign.

Opinions of Others

from teens to social security age; come from poor, average, and rich families: are usually pretty intelligent; are rebellious of their own society but lack the initiative to do anything to improve it; are searching for something meaningful in life but from the wrong source, such as drugs; and they're not a happy people."

So hippies are not new but the publicity and glamour given them by the news and entertainment media is, that's all .- Ontario (Ore.) Argus-Observer.

What is a hippy? Well, a couple of weeks ago a group of young people in Ontario discussed this and came up with the following: "There have always been hippies but by different names; they can range in age ## home with parents and friends.

WILLIAM HOGAN

'Amateur' Historian Tells Story of Japan's Defeat

dramatic account of a pergenerals as he invesitgates iod from just before Hiro-shima to the formal surreneverything from the desper-ate efforts of the kamakazis, der aboard the Missouri in Tokyo Bay. This first book or suicide pilots, in the war's last moments, to the story by a young Massachusetts historian, William Craig, is of The Bomb. Craig is a "history buff" steadily building toward best-sellerdom. It was published e a r l y in September to excellent reviews (General S.L.A. Mar-and has been since 1941 Browsing Through the World of Books shall, the military historian, saw it as "virtually flaw-less.") It is a book in the Walter Lord-John Toland-Cornelius Ryan tradition rawhen, at the age of 13, he began a careful diary of the war based on daily reports in the Boston newspapers. He subsequently earned a ther than that of Samuel Eliot Morison, Robert Trummaster's degree at Colum-bia, but he suspects his book bull and others who have documented the end of the has roots in a graphic five-page account of the battle Japanese war in more tradi-tional historical fashion. of Iwo Jima he wrote for his school paper, his first publised work.

Craig sees his book as an The research on "The Fall of Japan" took him from the National Archives in Washington, D.C., to Tokyo

AFFAIRS OF STATE

"The Fall of Japan" (Dial) prime achievements here is where he interviewed scores is a meticulously researched, the element of suspense he of Japanese who particiof Japanese who participated in the events of those days. Most everyone was cooperative in helping him piece together this human version of that painful saga, even Mrs. Tojo who, over tea, spoke to him with "a voice that signed."

A Japanese edition of the book is in progress, no doubt with a change of title. "The Fall of Japan," Craig feels, would not go down well there. Several Japanese nations have read the book in English; all have found it to be "fair."

Craig feels that perhaps 30 years hence, if the world remains whole, an American historian might write a sim-ilar book on how people in Hanoi lived and acted as individuals during the 1960s. As a historian, Craig sees a great story in this very dif-ferent kind of war. No, he does not expect to write it.

steely eye and snifted: "I can only assume you're a very busy dentist who didn't have time to change." And afterwards, at L'Etoile, the maitre d'hotel said: "I'm sorry, we don't allow . . . oh, I beg your pardon. Come right in, Father!" And if a state convention cannot be established, it is believed the state can accept Glenn Dorenbush, who, like the rest of us, fancies himself a gourmet, said to the waiter in a Fisherman's Wharf restaurant: "Great soup! Compliments to the nation. He is convinced, say his braintrusters, that his brainfrusters, that Bobby Kennedy will leap onto his bandwagon, in which case the theme song at the convention might be "Goodbye, Lyndon" "Bye-bye, Birdies"). (from

A noted San Francisco dowager who gets her occasional kicks by driving through the Hashbury in chauffered limousine her was stopped at a red light Report From Our Man when a hippie poked his head inside and asked: "Rich, huh?" "Filthy, like you," she smirked. (Ac-tually, she's a Lady Bounti-going out on patrol in Vietnam are warned not to wear

The Air Force has demonstrated the use of plastic

The

ure.

qualifying a new party.

tions for a new party,

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR trip to the court house or electors with their addressother designated place for registration and changing SACRAMENTO- Extendparties. ed complications beset individuals who seeks to estab-The second method, by lish a third party in Calipetition, is even more com-plicated. An actual petition fornia as the promoters of the American Independent Party supporting George Wallace of Mississippi for President of the United

a letter from the national convention of a qualified party containing the necesfor a new party requires 660,587 signatures, or 10 per sary names. cent of the total vot Also, there of the senate transportation committee and perhaps the most influential legislator on matters concerning high-ways and the highway paways and the highway pa-trol. Collier objected to use of the patrol at the anti-draft demonstration in Oak-land on grounds the officers should be at their posts on the highway and that Cali-fornians always have resist-ed the idea of having a full-flodged tate police force

Sullivan noted the CHP recently apprehended a Fort Jones bank robber, was instrumental in capturing a Susanville murder suspect and a Santa Barbara bank

HERB CAEN SAYS:

Sullivan was deputy chief of the Los Angeles police department and head of the department and head of the traffic bureau before being appointed to his present post by Governor Ronald Reagan last December. He had been with the depart-ment since 1937 and a dep-uty chief since 1951. The setting of speed lim-its is up to the legislature in general and the depart-ment of public works for specific sections of high-ways. Nevertheless, Sullivan has some pretty pointed ideas on speed limits.

The Men in Action on the Sacramento Scene.

"The most important part of safety on the highways, as far as speed limits are concerned, is the regularity of movement of the traffic," Sullivan said. "And the dif-erential between the fastest cars and the slowest is the problem " problem That is why Sullivan would

That is why Sullivan would be opposed to boosting the maximum speed limit in Cal-ifornia to any higher than the present 70 miles per hour. The 70 mph speed lim-it is in effect only on some of the larger freeways, with most maximum speeds still at 65 mb. at 65 mp. Sullivan also is in favor of sumvan also is in ravor of minimum speed limits be-ing posted, as they are in many eastern states. So far this has been used only on a trial basis in California.

Sullivan said there is a certain amount of tolerance in enforcing speed limits and much of the traffic in and much of the traffic flows about five miles an hour above the limit. Thus a 75 mph limit would mean a lot of traffic moving at 80 miles an hour, providing quite a offerential to ve-hicles traveling at only 50 or 60 mph ed several laws dealing with pokey drivers who stay in the inside or fast lane. Sul-livan said the patrol now is enforcing this regulation. "If a person is in the center lane and going 10 miles an hour slower than the flow of traffic, we now are citing them for traveling too slow in the fast lane," Sullivan said. The commissioner be-lieves the implied consent law for suspected drunk drivers is working success-fully. The arrests of drunk

The legislature has enact-gusted been the sid

was n

cut (a son a

the b band's

out a fright

schoo

get a

dad r

yours

he'd attrac

let yo

at lea

cot

it. bo

$01

marr

dowr

me.

my j abou

with.

for f

same

him-

we f

thing

rate

pank

he b

good

him.

abov

repu

this

to

as

ter.

she

lac

ene

Send

T

part

forc

Se

Y

A

tau

the

Ch

De

pre

fri

ju

bo

at Ro

St

fully. The arrests of drunk drivers are increasing all the time. "We believe the extension of the law to require the test under the implied con-sent provision has given more confidence to the offi-cers making the arrests." cers making the arrests," Sullivan said. "This no doubt is part of the reason for the increased arrests for this offense."

Most drunk driving arrests are in the "on view" category, he said, where the driver's action is erratic or driver's action is erratic or where some other tell-tale sign catches the attention of the patrolman. Two of the latter are drivers going much slower than the traffic or autos without head-lights on at night.

Sullivan said it still is a bit early to tell but there seems to be some definite signs that the increased enforcement a g a i n s t drunk drivers is beginning to pay The improvements are the area of the social drinkers who might be arrested occasionally, rather than the problem drinkers. rather And recent studies by the department of public health have shown a high percentage of drivers arrested for drunk driving have had other drinking or drug preb-lems.

Dear Doctor, Couldn't We Spank Just A Little?

CHP Chief Says Patrol Trained to Handle Riots

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

CAPITOL NEWSMAKERS

SACRAMENTO - Harold SACRAMENTO — Harold W. Sullivan, commissioner of the California Highway Patrol, said there may be some philosophical differ-ences of opinion on whether the patrolmen should be us-ed in controlling demonstra-tions or riots. But, as a practical matter, the patrol officers have to be trained in such work in their regular line of duty. "We don't know when and where they may have to be used," Sullivan said. "There may be an organized dem-onstration on a state high-way or unincorporated area way or unincorporated area street, where we have jurisdiction.

"So the fact is there are 5,000 to 6,000 trained peo-ple who can be used in these special situations," he said. "It's a policy decision for the people to make."

The CHP had been criticized by Senator Randolph Collier, D-Yyreka, chairman ed the idea of having a full-fledged state police force. "Our primary responsibil-ity is enforcing traffic reg-ulations on the freeways and unincorporated streets," Sul-livan said, "but we can't ov-erlook the other. Criminals use highways and cars. Sullivan poted the CHP ## or 60 mph.

Turtleneck Sweater Ploy Saved By a Snooty Label wen you price one at Rodes High Style: Burton Vau-

High Style: Burton vau pen, the Young & Rubicam exec, got himself up in the latest with-it evening attire —a silk turtleneck shirt and dinner jacket-and set out with his date for a night at the opera. At Trader Vic's he was refused admittance till he unzipped the shirt and displayed the Neiman-Marcus label (for some rea-Marcus label (or some rea-son, that impressed the Vic-kers and they let him in). During intermission at "La Boheme," a Hillsborough dowager fixed him with steely eye and sniffed: "I can only assume you're a

* * *

In San Francisco

across the Bay in Oakland, the salesgirl says coolly: "With one hose, it's $7.95. If you want to take a couple of friends on the trip, it's $11.95 for the three-hose model" (is Oakland getting away from the influence of Knowland?)... Sign on a dress in the window of a second-hand dress shoppe on Van Ness: "The two gals who wore me before each snared rich young men. Do not break the chain — buy me!" . . . Flash: Anita's Cuban Restaurant is on Cas-tro St. Unflash.

Onward to New Lows: Talk about class! La Pan-tera, the family-style Italian restaurant on upper Grant Ave., bars ladies wearing pants suits. And all this time I thought Pantera MEANT pants, How little we know . . . Odd note from Insider's Newsletter: Troops ioral Sciences in Palo Alto (he mfrs. teaching aids), has the sharp-nosed Viet Cong can smell 'em coming . . .

Like a Fox: Frank Armbruster, the youngish owner of Products of the Behavthat

ful. Picks up stray young girls and pays their fares back home.) * * foam as a lining for fuel tanks in aircraft. The Federal States are finding out. Aviation Administration has acknowledged that the foam has far-reaching implications for use in preventing explosions aboard commercial and private aircraft. The development of this safety measure is but another step taken by the aviation industry to make flying the safest way to travel .- Brookings (S.D.) Register.

Morning Report:

I have just decided that what a man needs to be a Presidential candidate above anything is faith. No, not faith in the democratic process, or America, or faith in anything or anybody but just unadulterated faith in himself. How else can anyone account for Harold Stassen or George Romney?

As those with long memories will recall, Mr. Stassen has been running for the Presidency off and on since 1948. And he was the first Republican to admit in public that he is a candidate this year. Then one day last week, George Romney was not a candidate. And the next day, he allowed as how he was. His announcement was an amazing non-event. Nothing stirred except Mr. Romney.

that party is qualified to participate in the next pri-The plain fact is that this year, the real GOP candidates don't have to say who they are. The voters mary election. know.

at the last general election.

It's No Snap Procedure

To Qualify Third Party

News and Opinions complications, of course, may be overcome with diligent effort but are On Sacramento Beat such that unless that effort is put forth, and move to the petition to be filed with the secretary of state.

upset the two-party system is virtually doomed to fail-Jordan is keeping a runarticle for the proposed new Wallace party, and as of last Wednesday, clerks reported 15,149 registra-tions for the American In-According to Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan, there are two methods of dependent Party, and these were from the seven largest counties of California. First, by affidavit of reg-Jordan points out that if a istration denoting party af-filiation. There would have to be 66,059 new registranew party does not qualify by either of the methods ex-plained, then theree is no to be 66,059 new registra-tions, or one per cent of the total vote cast in a general election, as of January 2, 1968. County clerks report party affiliation figures to Jordan by January 21, and if they have 66,059 registra-tions for a new party, then way for it to have a presidential delegation on the primary ballot.

However, this not really necessary, in that to have the candidate's name put on the general election ballot, then the secretary of f needs a letter from its the con-

Abe Mellinkoff This first method does not ventition listing the names for president and vice-presi-tition, but rather taking a dent and the names of 40 get a candidate for president or any other office on the general election ballot as an independent nomination, which requires a minimum of five per cent spon-sors of the total votes cast for the office in the last election. In the case of president, the signatures would amount to a minimum of 330,294, filed between Aug. 27 and Sept. 20 with the county clerk.

The only catch to this one is that none of the signatures of qualified voters may include anyone who has vot-ed for that office for any party in the previous pri-mary election.

Whether the Democrats and the Republicans compli-cated the procedures on purpose, of course is a matter of speculation. speculation.

But in any event, the election laws make it really though for any group to go through the required riga-marole and put a third, or fourth party on the ballot.

chef, and I think I'll have another bowl." Waiter, after invented a game called "In-stant Insanity" — and is in danger of becoming an in-stant millionaire. The game quick trip to the kitchen: Sorry, that was our can"... My favorite native wit, George Lemont, is never at a loss, and here's proof. I was walking down Sutter Street with two umbrellas (five colored blocks that have to be arranged in a manner that seems impossi-ble to me) has sold over (just repaired) on my arm, and ran into George, who thought for a moment and then said: "I've got it. You have just done in Mary Pop-pins and her mother, right?" A tourist at Sally Stan-ford's Valhalla in Sausalito watched Mme. Sally bustling around the other night and ter finally asked Chace Webb: "Who's that?" "That," re-plied Chase, "is a former well-known mattress d'hotel." (You can't get a straight nswer anywhere these days.)

* * Sen. Eugene McCarthy will be here in March for a round of speechmaking, to show he's not kidding about very big in the pot and hashish set. Which is why running for the Demonomi-manner that seems impossi-ble to me) has sold over 250,000 in the past year, but that's not what's about to put him on Easy Street. Parker Bros., the biggest mfrs. of games, has just bought "instant Insanity" on a rowalty deal and fig. on a royalty deal and fig-ures to sell 50,000 a week, at a buck a throw. Plus an extra two-bits if you want to write in for the solution, and I say it's worth a quarto keep from going crackers.

These Foolish Things: Out These Foolish Things: Out in the Hashbury, we spotted a dilapidated truck with this painted on the sides: "Ashes Hauled, Basements Cleaned, Brain Surgery on Fridays" . . . Turkish waten pipes (hubble-bubbles) are Alan Grey Says . . . New York's commuting public . . . Is having serious doubts . . . About the Transit Authority . . And change in subway routes . . . They still have minor problems . . . That seem to need correction . Like subways that are running . . But in the wrong direction . . . only feel com-For all the subway Since New Yorkers are notorious For the voicing of their views.