ress-Herald GLENN W. PFEIL REID L. BUNDY .... Editor and Co-Publisher Torrance, Calif., Sunday, March 26, 1967

our Right to Know is the Key to All Your Liberties

Easter -- A Happy Day Easter Sunday is regarded by untold millions around the earth as the world's most important reli-gious holiday. One of the most joyous days of the year, t symbolizing the reawakening of life that is universal-v associated with excitation associated with springtime. The present-day parades that mark the day had eir beginning in the original Easter walk of Europe, when devout men and women congregated and walked in an orderly manner through town and into the open untry, stopping along the way to recite prayers and sing Easter hymns.

Today in many American communities, elaborate ster parades find women and children in their new inery—the husbands and fathers going along for the walk. And one of the most charming of all customs is the Easter egg hunt for the children- renewing the stom far older than Christianity. Easter combines a rich mixture of laughter and elemnity. Both are good—both are needed by the soul

Yes, Easter Sunday is one of the great days of the ear, a day of joy for you and your family.

Opinions of Others

For years Congressmen have been taking official urs to various parts of the world, sometimes for betreasons than others. In the latest year for which ures are available, for example, House members ant $472,800 of Government money on global travel.

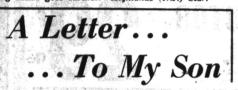

Then, of course, came Adam Clayton Powell, who did the same things that a number of his fellow House members had been doing. One reason for the New York Democrat's current troubles apparently is that he did

Now, with a questionable sense of timing, Rep. Abraham J. Multer proposes that each member of the House be allowed, in addition to his "official" trips, two expense-paid tours every year, each of two weeks' duration. The first would be to any foreign country of his choice and the second to any state other than

Mr. Multer says these vacation jaunts would provide his colleagues with useful wisdom, and that may be true. In fact if there's much more of this sort of thing the voters may decide that some legislators do need vacations: Permanent ones, without pay.-Wall Street Journal.

* * * The State of Oregon is not impoverished and it should not knuckle down to congressional coercion in the highway safety program. Oregon should adopt the traffic safety measures it considers workable and in the public interest and tell the federal government to go fly a kite. If this state should take the lead in organizing a revolt of the states against federal dictatorship, Congress would quickly change its mind. After all, members of Congress are elected by the people, although they seem to forget it between elections .- Portland (Ore.) Oregonian.

The 90th session of Congress, now under way, will be faced with still more demands for increased spending even though the last Congress passed scores of new laws that add up to high budgets and bigger government. It is up to grassroots America to urge the members of Congress to practice fiscal restraint and to cut Federal spending. This is one positive way to squelch the fires of inflation-and to make sure that each spending dollar goes further .- Highlands (N.J.) Star.

By Tom Rische High School Teacher and Youth Worker Dear Bruce

As I write, you've fallen as leep on the couch after a busy day of banging pans, bouncing your ball, climbing here and there, and generally making us ner-vous. As your dad, I wonder what the world will be like in 1986, when you're 21. I keep reading about something magazines like to call a "generation gap." That means they think the output the people of the over 30 generation the the people of the over 30 generation the people of the people of the people of the over 30 generation the people of the peo As I write, you've fallen as leep on the couch

HERB CAEN SAYS:

taxis

circle Gstaad.

* * *

In Which He Continues Non-Skiing Alpine Visit

Gstaad: The millionaires as 4 a.m. and find a crowd dancing and drinking—and you still think San Francisco Fiona, is there, to drive Volkswagens and the are Mercedes-Benzes. swings? Each VW has two sets of * *

* The Eagle Club is a gray stone aerie atop a 3,000-foot peak, reachable only by a two-stage lift. This is where skis strapped on the back (are they built in at the factory-or when you buy a pair of skis, do they throw the celebrities gather for lunch and to celebrate their well-knowness. The food and the view are of equal in a VW?). On the road one in a VW?). On the road one day, we saw a Volkswagen with a single ski on the left and a pair on the right. "Look," whooped Stanley Weiss. "Trader Vic and his wife must be here." There are so many rich Greeks on hand — skiing wildly, gam-blind madly—that Le Group calls this Gstaadopolis. And there are more celebrities per square foot than any place this side of Gstaad's bitter rival, St. Moritz. It magnificence, and those who have been turned down for membership have been timed down for membership have been known to dash themselves to death on the rocks. be-low, with no one to mourn their passing.

San Francisco

place this side of Gstaad's bitter rival, St. Moritz, It was a, bad day for the Gstaadlings when that well-known celebrity, the Karim Come, peasing, look at the beautiful people! There is the Chief Eagle, the Earl of Warwick, a man with fierce eyebrows and a Churchillian manner; he is glowering at me and exving Aga Khan, transferred his affections to St. Moritz be silently "How did HE get in?" In that secluded corner sit Prince Rainier and Prin-cess Grace, she looking a bit cal slope toward tea at the Palace Hotel. "I don't feel like skiing," laments Fiona Thyssen, "but I need the fresh air" — with which she cause he was not allowed to land his plane here among the dangerous peaks that en-long in the tooth, he a bit thick in the middle. Here is The folksiest hangout for Le Group is an old hotel on David Niven, all smiling charm. There is William the main street, appropriate-ly called the Olden, where Buckley and it is reassuring to find that he looks as though he had just smelled something bad even when seated alone. a lady named Molly makes the best Bull Shots in the the best Bull Shots in the world: real soup stock, Po-lish vodka, juice of half a lemon, celery salt and ta-basco, hand-shaken with three ("only three!") cubes of ice, and served with a float of 110-proof Russian vodka. Another headquar-ters is the Palace Hotel, a glorious neo-Camelot of tur-rets and banners, lording it  $\mathcal{A}$

AFFAIRS OF STATE

State Government Review Moves Short Step Nearer

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO - For a amn has advocatinged a thorough a has advocated and a thorough and com-usive study of state ment by an inde-to organization well prehensive study of state government by an inde-pendent organization we ill versed in the principles of business administration, to be conducted with a view toward reducing the over-load of unnecessary and in-efficient operation which causes costs to mount to un-reasonable heights. Although som e studies along this line have been made, there never has been an all-encompassing study which would come up with recommendations placing government administration on a par with the admini-stration of private business.

Such a study does not appear to be imminent in the immediate future, although some moves along this line are being made by the administration at the present time.

ministration at the present time. Governor Ronald Reagan is requesting citizen task forces to move into the var-ious areas of government. "They're going to move into every area," he said, "and report back the find-ings of just what business practices could he used to increase efficiency and up-date procedures.

ROYCE BRIER

entirely fetching. Hs ex-wife,

Fiona, is there, too, with her man of the moment, life in Gstaad being momentous in that fashion. Porfirio Rubi-

* * *

One by one, the beautiful people put on their skis and zoom down the almost verti-

plunges over the frightening precipice. In the background, like the conscience of eternity, rises the 12,000-ft. glacier of Le Diableret, silent, white and pure.

WILLIAM HOGAN

"The economies so far are job of running a department just economies we've been loses in final action. able to grab at and see in 4 4 4se few months we've m in office, but we're going to proceed with this whole, over-all study."

* * * Although the Reagan task force studies may not be as extensive as a survey that many believe should be ac-complished, they will at least provide the nucleus for continuing surveillance of government administra-tion and attempt to prevent it from getting completely out of hand.

Sacramento

A from getting completely out of hand. The contention is often made that government can-not be run like a private business, and there is some validity in this contention. Government administration encounters road-blocks which private business could not survive overnight. Some of the road-blocks include an entrenched an d established civil service em-pire, which can't be over-hauled without a vote of the people, and which can-not be fouched without the threat of lengthy legal pro-ceedings. And the history of such proceedings is that the administrator really

* * *

Another is the fact that laws enacted by the state legislature govern a good part of departmental oper-ation, and when these laws conflict with sound admin-istration, the laws have to take precedence. All of which brings up the fact that any task force looking over administration event-ually will have to come up with some recommendations on law changes. with some rec

A MANIAL I

Walter Hoxle

n law changes. The fact that state government, partially at least, is run by tradition, is an-other factor involved. It is much harder to get govern-ment out of a rut than it is to the de get government out of a rut than it is to change operations in private business. These and many more hinderances, not the least of which are the complaints and criticisms heaped up when changes and cut-backs are proposed, all contribute to the diffi-culty of obtaining real effi-ciency.

ciency. However, it is generally accepted fact that moves must be made to reduce government itself, and re-duce operation of govern-ment to conform to the abil-ity of the public to meet the costs, else like private business, bankruptcy is in-evitable.

Bonn Government Rushes To Rescue Krupp Firm

* * *

World Affairs

A little way out of Essen weren't at tea-breaks. On plants and square miles of this motley of 400 Britons, the Krupp patriarchs and matriarchs glowered down, in the Ruhr, stands the not amused

You move up a mile-long driveway with water pipes beneath to melt the snow. 40s, was in the bucket with many of his associates for war crimes. His father, hus-band of the celebrated matriarch, Bertha, was too old to try. Back in the old war Krupp made a cannon called Big Bertha which lobbed shells by plywood partitions. The mansion was occupied by a British mission administer-70 miles into Paris. No such range had ever been known, but it was no damn good and blew up. ing the ruined steel and coal empire.

Almost everything the Krupps made for almost a The elevators weren't working and the British century was good. This in-cluded heavy armament, working and the British century was good. This in-lieutenants and cockney sec-cluded heavy armament, retaries from London were structural steel and steel for skipping up and down mar-watch springs. The Krupps ble staircases, when they also owned machine tool plant was at Essen, but others were scattered across the Rhineland. * * * Ålfried Krupp, then in his

In 1946 the Essen plant was flat as a pancake. The allies beholding this vast iron tangle which had so long supplied German militarism, were passionated devoted to keeping it flat. onately coking coal beds. The main

Alfried Krupp was sen-tenced to 12 years in prison, but he was paroled in three years on his promise not to rebuild the trust. But he was a steel man, one of the best in the world, and how will you prevent a steel man making steel?

So the Krupp empire was somewhat restored. There was no armament market in Germany, but all the new construction made a lucra-tive steel market, and the Krupp family firm became a million dollar operation.

VILLIAM HOGANStudy of 'Culture' ofPoverty Wins Top Prizea million dollar operation.The other day there was a news story that a business recession had left the Krupps $75 million in debt.with creditors pressing. So the Borneut would bail it out, but the Krupp firm would have to become an ordinary corporation.Wins Top Prize

It's a good bet this will not injure the Krupp name, Oscar Lewis, the Univer-/ Lewis thinks of himself as and problems of the poor." or producing and marketing or producing and marketing power. The Krupps have al-ways had two talents-mak-ing steel and survival. Why not, if you know more about steel than most steel men?

that fashion. Porfirio Rubi-rosa's widow, Odile (known as "Big-deal" to the irrever-ent Americans) is holding hands with Count Poniataw-ski of Paris, another big deal. For the moment. The pleasant man who looks like John Kenneth Galbraith is indeed J.K.G. The tall blonde man w ho looks vaguely German is actually Italian: Prince Victor Em-manuel, son of King Um-berto, and the Americans cal HIM "Old Vic." He is with his sister, Princess Maria Gabriella de Savoie, and how is out-of-season Krupp Mansion, really a castle about the size of a large high school. The main mass was four stories of yellow stone, and there were big wings.

there were big wings. There was a Great Hall with marble pilasters three stories high, and off it the various drawing rooms, din-ing rooms, music rooms and libraries. Shortly after the war the vast Krupp family portraits were still on the the walls, somewhat hidden by plywood partitions. The and how is out-of-season royalty faring these days?"

eration (that's me and your mom) can't understand each other any more because of the changing times. Styles, fads, and music are different, I read, and today's generation is marching to the music of a different drummer than mine.

But when your dad goes to high school to teach. Morning Report: finds his students, most of them anyhow, don't he finds his students, most of them anyhow, don't wear long hair or mod clothes, and don't spend their If it works for ailing corporations, why not the spare time rioting on the Sunset Strip. I wonder where same remedy for ailing countries? Merger! The rich magazine writers find these way-out teenagers they countries take over the poor ones and presto - no like to call "typical."

Your dad has been involved in journalism long ough to know that many writers pick out the weirdos sorrow but I think we could carry it off. to hail as the "wave of the future." Maybe, if these writers write about the "generation gap" enough, they'll for starters, the United States might buy up for a song fiction create one. Some kids wonder now if they're not "out of it" because they aren't doing the things that some middle-aged, story-seeking writer says is the latest teen- folio balanced. age fad.

I suppose it's normal for teenagers to rebel, and ven a bit healthy. I supose that in a few years, you ed by your mother and me-will be happy enough to learn to enjoy it - just as our regular vice-presidents ep you from being a rebel without a cause.

Looking forward to the future-I think, Your dad

You can wander into the duce more problem Palace Grill as late or early volves."

more impoverished nations. A professor at the Cali-fornia Institute of Technology suggested the idea in Be Sick corporations are rapidly going out of style. So a couple of busted countries in Asia, several Africans, and perhaps one European - just to keep our port-

Of course the deposed premiers might kick up a fuss at losing their jobs. But that can be remedied. Make each one a second vice-president of the United too will rebel, but I hope that your home life-provid- States - nice pay and little work. They would soon have.

Abe Mellinkoff

ADTRAMANICAS SO IS

sity of Ill Anthro a Natio his illu insight of pove This first-pe Puerto her gi conditi Juan a names "Rios" ple, wh on a ta real A cit

Book A which a the work o Profess stuff of Nationa has se sor Le pology, recently won pology, recently won onal Book Award for minating and moving into the "culture" erty, "La Vida." is a collection of rison biographies of a Rican mother and own children under	an anthropologist, not as a writer. If his work has liter- ary merit, it is because he had discovered "a great deal of passion and poetry in the language of the poor and be- cause their lives are not dull." Indeed, he added, in spite of suffering and de-	Much the same reaction expressed in Mexico foll ing Lewis's earlier "T Children of Sanchez," a tailed observation of pow in Mexico. That book creat something of a scart south of the border wh Lewis was accused of be ons of poverty in San and New York. The	Books	anti-Mexican and even a versive are invented (the family), but the peo- no talk out their lives per recorder, are very	pravity "I dare to say they are less lonely and alignated than some of our middle- class modern men."	☆ ☆ ☆ Lewis has been a field resentative in Latin Ar ica for the U. S. National dian Institute; consul tation by the National	Lewis tried to give a voice	anthropologist for the F

ward panel of judges	to the people who are rarely	Foundation in India and selected "La Vida" as	heard, to provide an inside	recipient of two Gugg
Most distinguished"	view of a style of life which	heim Foundation Fell
f last year in this non-	is common in many deprived	ships, one of which supp
category, noted that	and marginal groups in our	ed his research on sor Lewis's book was	society, but which is largely	Vida."
for its "original con-	unknown, ignored or in-	He mentioned he had on to the uterature of	accessible to most middle-	vised the "Rios" family
pology, and for its	class readers.	the book's prize and rec
tive, detailed observa-	The author emphasized	nition in the North Ameri individuals and the	that "La Vida" has been la-	publishing industry, a f human life 'The	beled a dangerous book, vio-	that they are "delighte
Book Committee	lently assailed by some	"They are not here in p
nt a copy of Profes-	Puerto Rican politicians who	son," he added, "only wis's New York ac-	"seem more concerned	cause of the need to pro-
ce speech, which I luminating, and draw	about the Puerto Rican image than about a deeper understanding of the lives	them and maintain the anonymity." (Random Ho $10.)

s a Much the same reaction was work has liter- expressed in Mexico followis because he i "a great deal ing Lewis's earlier "The Children of Sanchez," a depoetry in the poetry in the a poor and be-lives are not he added, in aring and de-Lewis was accused of being anti-Mexican and even sub-versive.

In the 30s I figured it was better to be buying apples on Market Street than sell-ing them.—Post Office con-troller James F. Lynch, re-tiring in San Francisco after 47 years. Lewis has been a field representative in Latin Amer-ica for the U.S. National Indian Institute; consulting anthropologist for the Ford Foundation in India and the Foundation in India and the recipient of two Guggen-heim Foundation Fellow-ships, one of which support-ships, one of which support-It would be wonderful to move forward by zewing back to No. 2. — Finance Director Gordon P. Smith noting the state ranked No. 1 in per capita taxes. He mentioned he had adored or in-most middle-vised the "Rios" family of the book's prize and recog-nition in the North American publishing industry, and rous book, vio-ted by some "They are not here in per-son," he added, "only be-concerned cause of the need to protect Puerto Rican them and maintain their bout a deeper anonymity." (Random House s of the lives $10.) * * * Real tax relief does not consist of taking money out of one pocket instead of an-other; it requires significant cuts in government spend-ing. Senator John G. Schmitz (R-Tustin).

* * *