Red Cross Offers Class For Expectant Parents

Before the baby comes, after the baby arrives, and during that all-important first year, graduates of the Red Cross Mother and Baby Care course are better prepared, according to Mrs. Philip Shaffer, Red Cross Nursing Services chairman.

During the course, expectant parents will discuss the baby's progress from conception through birth, the need for periodic medical exams for both mother and baby, budgeting time and money, and community health in relation to the family.

A free training class for expectant parents is being offered in this area. Information about this class can be obtained by calling Red Cross.
