

Supervisors Back Merit Plan to Appoint Judges

By KENNETH HAHN
County Supervisor

Our courts and system of justice safeguard our basic liberties.

That's why it's essential that politics be kept out of naming judges. The judiciary should not be used for political patronage.

At present California judges are appointed solely at the discretion of the governor.

The appointment is virtually for life. Few attorneys—except rare cases—will try to unseat a judge in an election. (If he doesn't win, he may have to appear before that judge to plead a case in the future.)

FOR EXAMPLE, only 10 of the 247 incumbent superior and municipal court judges in Los Angeles County are opposed in this June's election.

To eliminate politics from judicial appointments, Governor Reagan, the State Judicial Bar Association recently proposed a merit plan for selection. It is now before the State Legislature.

It would establish commissions to screen potential judicial candidates and submit nominees to the governor.

I commend this effort, but I don't think it is strong enough.

AS PROPOSED, the six-member commissions are dominated by attorneys appointed by the State Bar and judges. Each commission would be made up of two judges, two attorneys (appointed by the State Bar), and two citizens appointed by the Governor.

The courts belong to the people. We must make sure behind-the-door Bar Association politics are not substituted for partisan politics.

On my motion as chairman of Courts, the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors has supported these amendments to the merit plan:

- Citizen membership should be increased from two to three, providing a total of seven commissioners.
- A section authorizing the Lieutenant Governor to appoint judges to vacancies if the Governor fails to do so within 30 days should provide that the Judicial Council make the appointment in the event the Lieutenant Governor does not within 30 days.
- Names of candidate submitted to the Governor by the commissions should be made public (as we do with nominees to the Grand Jury).

With these changes, I think California can lead the nation in insuring the best-qualified judges are appointed in a natural election in which heled.
