GUATEMALA — This is high, blue sky country for the North American driver who wants new country. Excellent paved roads. Little traffic. Three easy days on good roads with good hotels takes you from Mexico City to the Guatemala border. It's open from morning to 7 at night. Check with AAA before leaving the U.S. on documents. This is being changed so that AAA can give you the right papers.

There are two routes: Through Tapachula on the coast and six banana land, tropical hours up to cool Guatemala City. Or, through the pass called El Tapon—the cork—and eight cool highland hours to the capital.

noted where I was coming from and where I was going. It's better to avoid night driving. You can run into sudden Army road blocks. And in city and country, you must drive with your interior dome light on.

Gasoline runs 27 cents for regular, 50 cents for super. The money is the Quetzal—100 centavos each. It exchanges equally with the U.S. $1. And you find American quarters in your change along with Guatemala 25-cent pieces. Don't cash travelers' checks in great amounts though. You pay about 10 per cent at the banks to get Guatemala money back into dollars.

CIGARETTES are 75 cents for American imports. But you can get several name brands made in Costa Rica and sold here under the Central American common market agreement for 20 cents.

Shoeshines in every plaza cost five cents. Tipping is mild—10 per cent of the restaurant bill. No tips to taxis. Twenty-five cents for the poring at the same time are going to lose paint and chrome on both sides.

A flash of car lights means, "I'm coming through first," never argue.

Most of the traffic on the highland roads is on foot—Indians in bright, tribal dress. (Each village has its distinctive own.)

It's wonderful, unspoiled country. Blue skies. Clear, bracing air. Towering volcanoes. Miles of corn patch hills so steep they harvest holding onto ropes.

Hotels are few—showing how little tourist traffic there is. The Bonifaz at Quezaltenango. And you can leave the highway a few miles and find three first-class hotels at the village of Panajachel on blue Lake Atitlan at 5000 feet. The Regis at $9 for two looked best to me.

THERE'S BEEN political trouble here, but it didn't inconvenience me. At an Army check point at Quezaltenango, soldiers looked in the trunk of my car.

On the road to Chichicastenango, a lone policeman

THE HOTELS in Guatemala City are the new Ritz Continental, the popular Biltmore, the Maya Excelsior. All modern and first-class. About $19 double seems to be the going price. The Pan American and Palace are older and in the colonial style and cheaper.

Several good restaurants led by Vittorio's which is excellent. Dinners are not expensive, but French wine will nudge you for $6. to $8. a bottle. The beer is very good. Best is Gallo's.

Night life is nil. I don't find the capital an attractive city. Guatemala's best is the Indian villages and the highlands and the open road. A wonderful country for the driver with a week to spend beyond Mexico City.

Governor Defends Own Tax Proposal

Capitol News Service
SACRAMENTO—Governor Ronald Reagan has defended his do-it-yourself withholding tax plan and, in doing so, had the chance to turn the tables on one of his most vocal critics.

Reagan suggested that banks, savings and loan associations, or credit unions inaugurate a plan of setting up Christmas club-type savings accounts for persons to save money for their state income tax. The money would be withheld by the employers from payroll checks, in much the same way as it is done now for contributions to the United Fund or for other purposes.

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh (D-Inglewood) was among the early critics of the plan, calling it "the ultimate in illogical and confused thinking."

"THE REAGAN plan will be vastly more expensive to business and to government to administer," Unruh said. "Finally, it's a patent attempt to make private profit for financial institutions out of the taxpayers' money."

Unruh said the legislature would give the plan careful scrutiny.

Senator George Miller Jr., (D-Martinez), chairman of the senate finance committee and an opponent of a withholding tax, said "nobody needs Governor Reagan's help to save their money."

BUT REAGAN said he was not asking for legislative action for the program because none was needed. He said he merely was calling attention of employers to the possibility. And, at his weekly news conference, Reagan managed to criticize Unruh for being out of the state. Unruh often has said Reagan should spend more time in Sacramento and not be traveling around the country.

"Perhaps on my way to Washington (for a conference on the California National Guard), I can stop by Rutgers where Mr. Unruh is lecturing and bring him up to date on what is happening in the California legislature," Reagan said.

Policemen Enrolled in Aikido Class

Aikido, a defense tactic that utilizes the basic principles of Judo, is being taught as part of the training course for police science majors at El Camino College.

Initiated three years ago, the course is instructed by Mits Yamashita. It is open to regular police officers and police science majors who have completed 12 units of training.

Yamashita is attending California State College at Long Beach where he is completing requirements for a B.A. in criminology.

Family Fun Day Funds to Benefit Boys Rancho

A real "fun day" for the entire family is being planned by the Knights of Columbus, Southern California chapter, at Rancho San Antonio, Boys Town of the West, 21000 Plummer St., Chatsworth, on Sunday, April 28.

Highlights will be "the world's largest barbecue," coupled with an old time fiesta from 11:30 a.m. to 8 p.m.
