...Let's Go

By LARRY MACARAY

One of my favorite museums is the Long Beach Museum of Art. All of my drawing and painting students at El Camino College are required to make a field trip to Long Beach and report on the particular exhibition they see. During this past week I visited the museum to see the exciting sixth annual Southern California Exhibition.

There are 79 works consisting of paintings, prints and sculpture that were selected from 510 entries. Pointing to the rising importance of the museum is the selection of the sole juror, Clement Greenberg, considered by the majority of the art world as the most important art critic in America today.

...Spot Checking

(Continued from Page C-6) Press from 8 'til 10 in the evening. Suggest you give Sam a call if you're intending to attend 'cause it'll probably bring 'em out. Just pick up the 'phone and call 325-5231. There'll be entertainment, too.

Mr. Greenberg's selection must be shocking to many people—not only to the shuffling, perplexed ones who can't understand Vic Smith's prize winner but also to the young, experimenters who just don't "dig" works that are done in the old traditional manner such as Jean Swiggett's "Victorian Interior." It is indeed surprising to see such an exhibition as this being equally made up of abstract and representational works.

Here now, Smith Bros. Indian Village, as you know, has been family headquarters for holiday dining in the Torrance area for many years and they're still swinging the same this year. And by way of making the point, Easter Sunday brunch will be served next Sunday from 10 in the morning 'til 2 in the afternoon.

THERE REALLY is something for everyone. This is pleasantly unusual, yet I wonder whether everyone will be satisfied. It becomes apparent that works can be judged by one set of criteria—and that these works can be diametrically opposed in content and direction and still be exhibited next to each other—whether we personally like or dislike them.

There'll be the traditional and tantalizing hot and cold foods served buffet style in the Pow-Wow Room during these hours at a price of $2.45 per each, including beverage. And for a dollar and a quarter the papooses can stuff themselves, provided they're under 6 years of age.

There were many paintings and sculptures that excited me—and a number of others that were not suited to my taste. George Nicolaides' "Orange Crush" is a combination of huge oranges, collaged on canvas with a background of wild color. I liked the audacity and arresting stimulation of this painting—so much so, that I went out and bought a bag of oranges.

Then we get into the dinner menu which will be offered from one p.m. 'til ten in the evening, featuring complete dinners of traditional baked ham and roast turkey, as well as a variety of seafood, delicious prime rib and juicy steaks.

An intriguing sculpture, "Shoestring" by John W. Outerbridge, seems to provoke a whimsical reaction in most viewers. I liked it, yet I would probably have named it something else. The graphics are not ignored. There is an intaglio by Alice L. Patt titled, "Scheherazade," that almost sings with its rich reds.

Yes, the kiddies'll be taken care of, naturally, and there's plenty of high chairs available. Be sure you make some reservations, however, for this Sunday. They'll very likely be pretty well swamped.

RICHARD KLIX has painted patterns with liquitex, glass and polyester and the result is a special luminosity that defies description. For Easter featuring a tossed rye and luminous spray salad, the savory baked ham with fruit sauce, candied yams, green beans, roll and butter.

Then you top the whole thing off with some of the most famous Red Balloon apple pie (and it's delicious!) with your choice of tea or coffee. And the whole shot goes off at a mere $1.99. The kids may dine on kid's portions for 99¢ and they'll love it!

Winners share $4,000 in cash awards. That is a great deal of money for a museum of this size to offer—which emphasizes the growing importance of the museum. Prize winners included Vic Smith, Westminster; Robert Gore, Nick Boismert, Wilma Boyer, Ann Schechter, Los Angeles; Thomas J. Holste, Laguna Beach; Alexander Lapidus, San Pedro; Bernard Wynne Sierra Madre, and E. Tom Daniel, Walnut.

So to wind up this Easter bit let's not forget the action at the Torrance Ramada Inn for this Sunday!

This exhibition will be shown until May 5, so there is enough time to plan a visit. The Long Beach Museum of Art is at 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., Long Beach. It is free to the public and is open Tuesday through Friday from 10 to 5 and Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 5. The museum is closed Mondays.

You'll have a full course dinner starting at two and a quarter which will be served all day and you can bring the kiddies in (under 12, that is) for a dollar less!

Now Possible To Shrink Painful Hemorrhoids

And Promptly Stop The Itching,
Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

New York, N. Y. (Special): A scientific research institute has discovered a medication which has the ability in most cases to actually shrink hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from the itching, burning and pain. Then this medication starts right in to gently reduce the swelling of inflamed, irritated hemorrhoids.

And it was all accomplished without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind. The secret is Preparation H®—an exclusive formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids. There is no other formula like it! In addition to actually shrinking piles and relieving the painful distress—Preparation H lubricates, makes bowel movements less painful and soothes the irritated tissues. It also helps prevent further infection. Preparation H comes in ointment or suppository form. No prescription is needed.
