Area Camp Fire Girls Will Sell Candy Mints

Harbor District Camp Fire Girls begin their annual candy sale Thursday and will continue to sell the chocolate covered mints and assorted chocolates through June 1.

Hotel Site Chosen for Convention

Harbor Dental Assistants will meet with other chapter members for the 28th annual convention of the Southern California Dental Assistants Association at the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel Saturday through Tuesday.

Delegates are Mrs. Ralph Burrows, Mrs. Leon Copelin, Mrs. Joseph Beadle, Mrs. Phyllis Fair, Jane Willey, Val White, Jenny Gilbert, and director Mrs. Fred Hawkins.

Girls, Junior High Camp Fire Girls and Horizon Club—will participate in the sale. All will be accompanied by adult volunteers.

Mrs. Frank Parlapiano of Studio City, serving as candy chairman, noted that the United Crusade provides less than half of the Los Angeles Council's operating budget and that this candy sale is vital to the continuation of the Camp Fire Girls' program in this area. Candy dollars also are used by individual girls and groups to finance their Camp Fire connected expenses.

Many girls donate profits from one carton of candy to the Camp Fire Neighborhood Service Fund. This fund is established to help pay dues and other expenses for girls from poverty areas who want to join Camp Fire Girls. The Council is now training adult leadership in these areas and plans to serve as many girls as possible through its on-going programs.
