

Around the World

with Stan Delaplane

SAN FRANCISCO — In March, passport applications were down nine per cent from March of last year — first time I can recall anything like this in the last 15 years.

"With all the talk of travel taxes and dollars losing value overseas, were really don't know what to plan about our trip to Europe."

The talk now is that some travel tax will be put on air and ship tickets to Europe and the far Pacific. (But not to Mexico and South America, the Caribbean, Hawaii and Canada.) Probably $5 on every $100 worth of tickets.

You could insure yourself by buying tickets now—you can always change the reservation date. You can buy foreign money in advance, too.

"If we go to Jamaica and the Virgin Islands this summer, is there a time when the rates are cheaper?"

July and August. The hotels usually drop 30 to 50 per cent from the winter rates. But I think the winter rates are way out of line.

On all these islands there are small guest houses. Too small to advertise or be listed with travel agents. You find them by staying in a big hotel for three days while you take a taxi and shop around. The local tourist office will have a list.

"... how a student on short money can get around Mexico cheapest?"

Mexico by bus is the cheap way. I'd ride the first-class buses if you can. Mexico has a high rate of bus accidents—you go off the road in pine trees and wind up at the bottom in bananas.

The ones that crash are usually second-class buses. I suspect the brake repair is poor and the drivers are careless. The hairiest rides I've ever had have been on Mexican buses: I mean drivers who put the thing out of gear and try to coast the next 50 miles.

"On a cruise ship to the Caribbean this summer, whom do we tip and how much?"

The major tips go to the room steward and table steward. On American ships, first-class, about $1 to $1.50 a day for a couple. (Tip at the end of the voyage.) On foreign ships, I think I'd cut that a third. Not a firm rule. If the ship and cruise are very elegant, you might find your fellow passengers bumping it up.

The deck steward is tipped a couple of dollars to start if he assigns your deck chair. Couple more at the end of the trip if you've been taking drinks outside. Wine stewards are usually paid each week and get a dollar or two at each payoff.

Bar stewards are tipped at the end of each session. (If you're a swinger and want a lot of attention, give the head bartender $10 right away. Tell him you're going to give him a place a lot of action.)

"A friend of mine says there is a free port shop in the airport at Honolulu."

Only open to people going onward to foreign ports. And not much of a shop. Liquor, cigarettes, a few watches, some perfume.

"... a good men's shop for sports clothes in Honolulu?"

Either Ross Sutherland shops or Andrade shops. You will find them on the main street in Waikiki and branches in Waikiki hotels.

Any colorful restaurants you might recommend in Rome?"

Rome is full of good restaurants. I am particularly high on those in Trastevere—across the Tiber. Fine old section where medieval walls lean over the streets. Any of the restaurants around the square of Santa Maria in Trastevere are good and garlicky.

Romulo's in Trastevere is a fine restaurant for a warm night.

ONE OUT OF SEVEN

Study Shows Marijuana Users Later Try Heroin

SACRAMENTO — One out of seven persons who were arrested for marijuana offenses in 1960 had progressed to involvement with heroin within five years, the state Department of Justice has reported.

This was part of a study reported by the department which included a segment of all drug offenders arrested in 1960, and their records for the next five years.

The figures on marijuana offense persons who went on to involvement with heroin was one out of seven for men but only one out of 20 for women. For persons arrested in 1960 on dangerous drug offenses, one out of 11 became involved with heroin within five years.

MORE THAN half of all drug offenders arrested in 1963—53 per cent—were arrested for some type of drug offense within the next five years. For heroin offenders, 72 per cent were rearrested, as compared with 45 per cent of the original marijuana offenders and 34 per cent of the original dangerous drug offenders.

Breaking down the records by nationality, 45 per cent of all white arrestees were rearrested, in contrast to 66 per cent of the whites of Mexican descent and 55 per cent of the Negroes. However, the department said the recidivism appeared to be more closely tied to the type of offense than to racial characteristics.

THE STUDY showed offenders under 25 were more apt to be rearrested for drug offenses. Their rearrest rates by offense groups were: heroin-type, 74 per cent; marijuana, 51 per cent; and dangerous drugs, 41 per cent.

For those 40 years or older, the percentage rearrested for drug violations was 56 per cent for heroin-type, 21 per cent for marijuana and 18 per cent for dangerous drug subjects.

Six per cent of the drug offenders accounted for 31 per cent of all subsequent drug arrests.
