

HELPING HAND . . . Mark D'Anna, kindergarten student at Newton Elementary School, helps Mrs. Bonnie B. Knutz, retirement home resident, board bus following school concert. Residents of Carson Manor and Spring Manor were guests of the school at the school's third annual Spring music and dance festival.

Silver-Haired Citizens Attend School Festival

When a class of students, accompanied by their teacher, boards a bus and leaves the school grounds to explore the community, it's known as a field trip.

—And field trips have become commonplace for Torrance students.

But when a group of silver-haired residents of a retirement home board a bus and head for a schoolyard, that's something else again.

College Sessions Planned

Registration for the six-week summer session at El Camino College begins June 17 and classes beginning June 19, according to Dr. Leo Christian, dean of admissions at the college.

Students who complete the present spring semester will sign up for classes Monday from 1-3 and 5:30-7 p.m. in the Communications Center. Registration for new or re-entering students will be held Tuesday during the same time periods. No late registration will be permitted.

"Registration for this session is open to any person 18 years of age or older, or a high school graduate who can profit from the instruction," Christian said.

Orchestra Rehearsals To Begin

An opportunity for local musicians to continue their musical participation during the summer is being offered by the El Camino College Division of Fine Arts. Summer rehearsals of the El Camino College Community Orchestra will begin Wednesday evening, June 19, in the rehearsal room of the college auditorium.

The class will continue for six weeks on Wednesday and Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 9:50 p.m. with concerts planned for July 11 and 26.

Registration dates at the college are June 17 and 18. Further information may be obtained in the admissions office of the college.

Ray Banks Will Address Writers Club

Southwest Manuscripts members will hear a former president of the writing group discuss: "Mystery Writing: Tricks, Tips, and Marketing" at their meeting Friday at 9 p.m. in Clark Stadium Recreation Center, Hermosa Beach.

Mystery and science fiction writer Raymond Banks, of Hermosa Beach, will be the speaker. Banks is the author of some 45 science fiction short stories, eight of which have been included in anthologies reprinted in Japan and Europe.

Torrance Teachers Set Linguistics Workshop

Recent developments in the structure of the English language and English instruction in the schools will be discussed at a five-day summer workshop for teachers to be jointly conducted by Torrance Unified School District and the Los Angeles County Superintendent of Schools this month.

Participating in the linguistics workshop, which will take place at South High School, June 17-21, will be teachers from kindergarten through 12th grade from Palos Verdes, Redondo, Manhattan Beach, El Segundo, Compton, Hermosa, Lawndale, South Bay Union, and Torrance school districts.

Topics to be discussed will include: sociolinguistics, new English, teaching of reading and literature, structural linguistics and teaching of composition, transformational-generative theory with applications to syntax, spelling, and analysis of the new state adopted text materials with teaching suggestions.

Information regarding the series may be obtained by contacting Robert Allen, Torrance Unified School District office of instruction.

Area Students Get Training In Leadership

Emily Ireland and Dawn Martinez of North Torrance High School, and Adele Satele of Carson High School will be among 400 students who will attend a leadership training camp this summer.

Sponsored by the Red Cross, the camp will last for six days and will be held at Cate School in the Carpinteria Hills, according to Mrs. Stephen Lovas, chairman of Red Cross Youth.

Information regarding the series may be obtained by contacting Robert Allen, Torrance Unified School District office of instruction.
