

Strong Enforcement May Curtail Rioting

Stronger law enforcement practices will reduce riots and other civil disorders in the opinion of voters who responded to a survey conducted by Sen. Ralph C. Dills in his 32nd Senatorial District. He said 53.6 per cent of those polled gave this as their answer to the problem. Another 39.1 per cent said the solution was to provide jobs and proper housing and education for minority group members. Only 4.1 per cent

Teen Boys Arrested on Dope Charges

Torrance police arrested two teenage boys on dope charges early Saturday morning after observing their car driving in an erratic manner near the corner of Bernist and Halson Streets. The car's 17-year-old driver was booked for drunk driving as well as possession of dangerous drugs. His passenger was booked on drug charges only. A search of the car turned up 29 capsules which appear to be seconal and 21 tablets resembling benzedrine, police said.

expressed the opinion that rioting and civil disorders cannot be reduced. "This last figure is very significant," Senator Dills said. "It shows that our people have not given up hope, that they are confident solutions can be found."

ALTHOUGH three of the four Assembly Districts within the 32nd Senatorial District followed the overall pattern, one district proved an exception, the senator said. This is the 55th Assembly District, embracing the area north of Rosecrans (Willowbrook-Watts).

Here the voters upgraded the jobs, housing, and education solution by a 61.0 to 34.4 margin over stronger law enforcement. And only 2.0 per cent thought the threat could be reduced.

A former judge, Senator Dills said he is supporting stronger law enforcement measures in the Legislature, and has himself introduced legislation designed to aid peace officers in their work.

IN THE FIELD of jobs, housing and education, Dills noted these programs now being considered by the Legislature: • A bipartisan package including unemployment and other problems of minority groups that he described as "one of the most important legislative developments of 1968." It would bring together government, business and labor in an action-packed endeavor to meet the growing crises in the state's urban areas.

• Legislation which would be known as the California Home Ownership Construction and Rehabilitation Act to provide up to 50,000 home construction and improvement loans to low-income families.

• The significant "Magna Carta" of education just signed into law by the governor, which would remove rigid state controls over scheduling of courses and eliminate many mandatory subjects. It will allow school districts to stress subjects their students may need, and to offer special curricula to students with special needs.

Marine Pvt. Michael J. Murphy, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Murphy of 822 W. 131st St., Gardena, was graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego.

Corner Hazards Told

Every driver knows what red means. It means stop! "Unfortunately not all drivers observe the law that requires them to stop when the light is red," Captain P. J. Ford of the California Highway Patrol said. "Many try to beat that red light, by going through an intersection long after the amber light comes on."

"What does this have to do with you? Well, it could mean a bad accident if you become involved with one of these drivers."

"You should always wait a moment and check cross traffic before entering the intersection when the light turns green for you. There could be some driver trying to get through the intersection at the last moment."

Boatswain's Mate 2.C. Adriel B. Kitchens, USN, 25, husband of the former Miss Marilyn N. Wilson of 1722 W. 145th St., Gardena, is serving aboard the landing ship dock USS Whetstone at Yokosuka, Japan.

Army Pvt. Michael J. Nolin, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Nolin, 18421 Crenshaw, completed eight weeks of advanced infantry training May 31 at Ft. Ord, Calif.
