AN ARTIST IN THE FAMILY

Potpourri of Talents

Not all "good" ideas for club progress come at club meetings but many are "cooked up" by new officers of the Junior Woman's Club as they put their culinary talents together on a new recipe. Talking over what they plan to accomplish during the coming year, are, from left, Mmes. James Burger, recording secretary; Leon Taylor, first vice-president; Douglas Hedde, president; John Batley, second vice president; and William Trommald, third vice president. (Press-Herald Photo)

Installs at Dinner-Dance

Mrs. Douglas Hedde was recently installed president of the Torrance Junior Woman's Club at the Lobster House in Redondo Beach. Club members and their husbands enjoyed a social hour with dinner following. Mrs. Michael Riley, Marina District president, conducted the ceremonies, presenting each incoming officer with a rolled blueprint symbolizing the new president's theme "Build Today for a Better Tomorrow."

Assembled to begin their official duties were Mmes. Leon Taylor, first vice president; James Burger, recording secretary; Peter Tillson, corresponding secretary; John Thayer, treasurer; and Robert Long, reporter.

Others were Mmes. Roland Davenport, auditor; William Ritchie, bulletin chairman; John Dunbar, parliamentarian; Larry Smith, philanthropy; Donald McKenzie, program; and Richard Spaan, junior liaison. Torrance Woman's Club Junior Co-ordinators are Mrs. Lee Virgadamo and Mrs. Delbert Thomsen.

Certificates of Award were presented to Mmes. John Thayer, Citizen-of-the-Year; Leon Taylor, high points (most hours worked); Ronald Large, club contributions; Peter Tillson, high points, new members. A special Presidential award was given Mrs. John Thayer for outstanding service.

Following the installation ceremony, members and their husbands enjoyed dancing to the music of The Peer Group.

For The Adults

A schedule of activities for every member of the family and open to all South Bay residents has been announced by the Torrance YWCA as its "Summer in the City" program. Designed to allow time for vacation, most activities are planned for 12 weeks of which any 10 weeks can be taken.

Many classes have been set to allow mothers to take a class as family members, including the pre-school children, are in class. Child care is also available.

The daytime classes for women include bridge, piano, interpretive dance, yoga, swim and exercise.

Evening classes are still on the schedule for women including yoga, charm, exercise and theater dance.

Men are not forgotten on the Y's summer program. Evening classes for men and women include karate, guitar, bridge, piano and social dancing.

BOYS CAN'T COOK

Youth Attractions

Youngsters, from pre-school through teenage, will find a varied and interesting program at the Torrance YWCA.

Seven kinds of activities are offered for the pre-schoolers, swim, ballet, special preparatory classes for school, crafts, singing games, tumbling and rhythm band.

For elementary school girls, ballet, tap dancing, baton twirling are again available with several new classes, the Junior Chets, Arts Around the World, and for both boys and girls there will be karate, guitar and group piano. A new cooking class for boys only has been planned with emphasis on outdoor meal preparation. There is also a boys only tumbling class.

Pre-teens and the teenagers will find fun at the Y in the afternoons and evening. For girls, there are classes in drama, theater techniques, makeup and voice as well as cheerleading and song leading. Besides these new classes, hairstyling and makeup as well as interpretive and theater dance classes will continue.

The Torrance YWCA may be called for more information.

HOW IT'S DONE

For poise and coordination, LuAnn Camilli, 14, takes time out to show her two younger sisters, from left Cara 4, and Cindy 10, what she has learned in the YWCA's ballet class. For the Small Fry there are classes in tumbling, ballet and tap. (Press-Herald Photos)

Rally To A Need

Children at the Normont Headstart school count among their "best" friends, members of La Sertoma of Torrance, who have during the past year contributed 160 hours of service. La Sertomans have not only assisted at the school but have been generous in their donations, among them 32 pairs of shoes, four baby layettes, 35 dresses, 20 pairs of socks and two dozen pairs of shorts and panties. Thirty families received baskets and gifts at Christmas. On a regular visit to the school is La Sertoman, Mrs. Lee Virgadamo, in background, as pre-school teacher, Mrs. A. J. Smith talks with two five year olds, Louie Ramirez and Larry Hudson. (Press-Herald Photo)
