DOW FACILITY . . . The Dow Chemical Co. has more than doubled its capacity for production of polystyrene at its Torrance plant. The new production facilities were opened Sunday afternoon for inspection during an open house at the plant, 305 S. Crenshaw Blvd. Marketed under Dow's Styron trademark, the plastics can be produced in more than 16,000 colors. Shown here is one of the extruders which converts the resins into a solid, material, preparing it for use in the production of a wide variety of Styron products. The Dow plant can now produce more than 100 million pounds of polystyrene resins each year with the facilities.

Teachers Assigned At South

Six student teachers from California State College at Long Beach and one from the University of Southern California will do their practice teaching this spring at South High School, Dr. Harold Widney, assistant principal, announced.
 Student teachers are: Miss Janet Kier (USC), art 2 and world history; Douglas Becker, sociology; Wendell Eller, U.S. history and English 2; Robert Hughes, bookkeeping 1 and typing 1; Miss V. Krucynski, U.S. history and U.S. government; Miss Carol Schwartz, homemaking 2 and modern living; and Judith Stratton, office practice and shorthand 1.
 College students seeking California teaching credentials are required to complete one semester of student teaching in their major subject area.

Publication Wins Award

All "operations" are going well. That is, all Nepal-type operations. With only two weeks left for preparation, all committees are charging to full steam. The Entertainment Committee has at long last settled the concert dispute. After the crash of the Jefferson Airplane contract, there was some discrepancy on the choice of a replacement.
 The Standells ("Dirty Water") will headline this central event, supported by the Rose Garden ("Last Plane To London"), The Iron Butterfly ("Iron Theme"), The Hook, Jackie Scott and the Young Men, and Johnny and Joe. The concert is scheduled for Saturday, March 16.
 Other entertainment set up for "Operation Nepal" weekend includes a Donkey Basketball game — USC football players vs. South Varsity basketball; a professional puppet troupe, a skit by the Mayfair Dance Studio. Choral groups from Bishop Montgomery, Palos Verdes, South, and West high schools are rehearsing concerts for "O.N." Fashion shows, too, are planned for all style-conscious females.
 At the One Act Play contest held at El Camino Feb.

16, Phil Sarazen from South received the highest rating of "superior." He starred in the third act from Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men," which placed first in a previous contest at South.
 Spartan boys need to watch it on the 29th of both February and March! Not only is this Leap Year, permitting the the switch of positions in asking for a date Feb. 29, but Girls' League has just announced the annual girl-ask-boy "Cotton Ball" will be on March 29.

 Hugh Sterling, field director of the Southern California Council on Economic Education, recently toured Torrance classrooms for a first-hand view of how new ideas are being introduced here.
 The invitation to the nine-state meeting was an outgrowth of that tour.

HIGHLIGHTING the regional meeting will be a talk by Dr. J. H. Hull, Torrance superintendent of school, on the educational philosophy of the Torrance school district which encourages such innovative practices.
 Results of Torrance innovations in economics will be shared with 30 school districts throughout the nation who are participating in a long-range study being conducted by the council.
