

The Mail Ego

By Terrence O'Flaherty

"I read a lot of stories about the women of America controlling the television dial, deciding what movies the family sees, and nearly everything else, but I want you to know that my husband wears the pants in my family."

Many husbands do—under their aprons.

"Is the actor who took the role of Robin Hood on last week's television musical an Englishman?"

Yes, David Watson is from Nottingham but the show was from Nottingham.

"This season we have watched several of those original television dramas which are recommended so highly. Why has everyone of them been such a pretentious bore?"

Most of them seem to be based on notes taken by the playwrights' psychiatrists. They have been well acted and both CBS and NBC have paid as high as $112,000 to TV's best writers, but the characters have been totally without sympathy. The worst was "My Father and My Mother," the best was "Do Not Go Gentle into that Good Night," if the psychiatrists hold out.

"What's become of Mia Farrow—since she's discovered yoga, that is?"

Paramount has offered her a role in "Mirage"—that of an actress who is married to an unfaithful movie actor. So what else is new?

"Every television show seems to be in color now but no one I know has a color set. How many are there in the country compared to black and white sets—or does anyone know?"

On Jan. 1, 1968, NBC claims there were color sets in 14,130,000 homes which means 25 per cent of U.S. families. Another 500,000 are in use in clubs, bars, and public places and they are being purchased at the rate of five million per year. Inasmuch as NBC pioneered the process and is in the business of selling color to its advertisers, the figures might tend to be optimistic but their accuracy has been confirmed by the Advertising Research Foundation.

"The favorite TV shows in my family are 'Cimarron Strip' and 'Good Morning World.' Will you pass the word along to CBS?"

Yes, but it's too late, I'm afraid. Both series have been dropped from the fall schedule to make room for three new ones, "Blondie," "The Good Guys," and "Hawaii Five-O."

"What has become of the baby that Lucille Ball had 15 years ago?"

It did what most babies do even in Hollywood: grew up. Both Desi Jr. and Lucy Jr. will co-star with their mother in next fall's Lucille Ball Show.

"Is Terrence Stamp single?"

Not very often. His most frequent date is English fashion model and (hopeful) actress Jean Shrimpton.

"What has become of the sergeant who sang 'The Ballad of the Green Berets'?"

Former Staff Sergeant Barry Sadler has just completed "Dayton's Devils," his first movie, and will start filming another next month. His latest album is "Barry Sadler—Back Home" and his book, "I'm a Lucky One" is a best seller.

"Is it true that movies usually take several years to make any profit?"

It depends on the size of the investment and the number of tickets sold. A popular movie like "The Graduate" made back its $3 million costs in less than eight weeks and may eventually bring in six times that amount. Even an unsuccessful film at the box office can be sold to television to pay its costs and show a profit within one year after completion.

Cycle Accident Rates Increase, Report Says

Capitol News Service
SACRAMENTO—A recently issued report of the California Highway Patrol has confirmed what everyone thought—motorcycle riding can be dangerous.

Motorcycles make up only 3 per cent of the total vehicle registration but they are involved in about 5 per cent of all fatal and injury accidents.

"But, although motorcycles are involved in a large number of accidents, not all of them are the fault of the motorcycle drivers," the CHP said. "The investigating officers considered motorcycles to be at fault in less than half of the accidents which involved motorcycles and other vehicles.

The study also provided support for something else which was believed—clothing protects the riders and can cut death and injuries in motorcycle accidents.

Operation Head Start centers in Torrance and Wilmington will join with centers throughout the area in observing Nursery Education Week, today through Friday.

The centers plan to hold series of demonstrations designed to show the public what goes on in Head Start classes. Open house at the centers will be held Tuesday from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. The public is invited to observe the children's activities.

RTD Property Tax Raise Vetoed by Public Opinion

Southern California Rapid Transit District directors have acted on community response to the RTD's preliminary report recommendations for Los Angeles County's Rapid Transit system.

University of Southern California President Dr. Norman Topping, chairman of the district's Rapid Transit Planning and Finance Committee, said an evaluation of the public's attitude toward the proposed, first-phase 62-mile system clearly shows the following basic demands:

- The community desires more system to be built; and
- System financing, in the opinion of the public, should not rely on the property tax except as a backup, or at most, for a token contribution.

Based on these mandates, RTD directors approved a report recommending that the Legislature be urged to provide the people with alternate financing to the property tax to build the first-stage, four-corridor system.

A fifth leg, to the Southwest and Los Angeles International Airport, the Transit District directors specified, should be included in the first-stage system only if additional funds can be provided by the Legislature.

The RTD board directed that the Rapid Transit staff prepare the Final Report recommending construction of a four-corridor first-stage system costing an estimated $1.57 billion and that certain necessary changes from the Preliminary Report be incorporated in the Final Report at an estimated additional cost of $150 million.

Noting that preliminary engineering is nearing completion on the Airport-Southwest Corridor line, the transit directors said:

- These segments can and should be scheduled for first-stage development if the Legislature provides the additional funds required.

The Rapid Transit staff was further directed to:

- Provide that sufficient money should be included in the first bond issue to commence the engineering and the development of the second stages of the total master plan as projected beyond the first five legs; and
- That the final report should acknowledge the virtual universal community opposition to the use of the

2,705 New Customers Added Here

The Southern California Gas Co. is providing service to 2,705 new customers in its Southwest Division as a result of new meters installed in 1967, according to S. W. Lynch, division manager. Gas company statistics show an increase of 27,367 customers during the past year, despite a continuing slump in residential building. A slight improvement in the building trend was noted late in the year.

The additions brought the company to within 30,000 customers of the two million mark. The utility's current active meter figure is 1,970,034.
