Your Right to Know Is the Key to All Your Liberties Press-Herald Publisher GLENN W. PFEIL . . REID L. BUNDY , . Editor and Co-Publisher

Torrance, California, Wednesday, March 20, 1968

A Needless Proposal

We often hear it said that an endeavor which can produce little or no tangible results is "an exercise in futility.

That phrase might well be used to describe the proposal on the April 9 municipal ballot calling for the repeal of Torrance's housing code.

Proposed by a group called Active Citizens of Torrance, the ballot measure would repeal Ordinance 1567 by which the city adopted the 1964 uniform Hous ing Code. Also would cancel out whatever amendments had been made to the code, and it would prohobit the City Council from enacting another code without going to the voters.

Proponents seemingly believed that the cancellation of the city's housing code and its authority for housing inspections would block urban renewal in the city

As fact, we are told, the repeal of the code would have no effect on renewal. The principal flaw in the reasoning, city officials say, is that the state's housing code would become operative here with the end of the local code. It contains nearly identical language.

A further threat is seen in the possibility that the city's plumbing, electrical, and building codes are in jeopardy at the same time. Add to this the doubts about the validity of the initiative as a legal requirement on the city and it adds up to a complex mess.

And all for naught. The only change it would bring would be to substitute state codes over housingin the city instead of our own. It would take the code out of the hands of the City Council and transfer it to the Legislature without affecting the operation of urban renewal here, the real target of the proposal.

We are convinced Torrance voters would be doing themselves a big favor if they would reject the initia-tive on April 9. It has no positive qualities to recommend it, and it has many bad ones.

Vote NO on Proposition A on April 9.

Opinions of Others

In the wide coverage of President Lyndon Johnson's 'State of the Union' address, emphasis was given again and again that he means to press for maximum economy in the operations of the government. His avowed purpose is to get a dollar's worth of value in return for each public dollar spent. . . . It is to be hoped that the President will take still another needed step . . . that is, to urge the removal of government from the tax-exempt operation of commercial projects which can and should be undertaken by taxpaying private enterprise.-Mullins (S.C.) Enterprise.

* * *

One of the things that gripes us, no end, is that various groups and individuals who declare their right to free speech and demonstration deny that same right to their opponents. You can read daily of various groups who simply raise heck in assembly halls with their screeching and hollering when a respected member of our society reaches the podium to give his talk.... It is time that rowdy elements of our society garner the common rules of courtesy for their opponents, cr in simple words practice the golden rule .- Brighton (Colo.) Blade.

If Congress is looking for priority targets for possible economies in the new budget, the contemplated increases in the $25 billion federal palyroll certainly merit a place close to the top.-Towanda (Pa.) Review.

> * * *

A local executive commented to us that the one thing that disturbs him most about big government and its proclivity to mix into the affairs of business is the bureaucratic tendency to believe that failure is evil. If through government protectionism, business loses the "freedom to fail," it loses that which has driven private enterprise to its great heights of accomplishment.-Honolulu (Hawaii) News.

SPEAKING OF THE DOLLAR DRAIN

HERB CAEN SAYS:

ing salary for kids fresh out

*

$ * *

$

Savings Tycoon Admits Strong Union Leanings

wall. Too many members Savings & Loan tycoon Savings & Loan tycoon Bart Lytton does his own TV commercials, so he had to join AFTRA, the TV per-formers' union. When he came to the line on the apclaimed that the very sight of Le Grand Charles produced dyspepsia, if not out-right nausea, and there's nothing more nauseous than a nauseated Frenchman. plication reading "Other union affiliations," he wrote, * * * union artillations," he wrote, tycoon-like: "Union Bank, Union League, Union Oil." ... New York City is so des-perate for lawyers that it is offering a $15,000-a-yr. start-ing salaw for kite. Onward: S/Sgt. Tom Cal-lahan of San Carlos, Calif., member of a helicopter crew in Vietnam, sends some $400 school, and don't think In San Francisco of school, and don't think that isn't worrying law firms here, where a good starting salary is $10,000. At least one big and distinguished a month home to be stashed away, but last month he mailed in only $350, explainfirm is ready to meet that $15,000 figure — although I ing to his parents that he needed the $50 for a new uniform because "we had to should think just the priv-liege of being in S.F. would be worth $5,000.... As a Scotch drinker, it pains me to report this true fact: The bomb the village where our laundry is done." The other day I was thinking of a few problems that even I importing of Scotch whisky costs us 10 times as much as can't solve: one is how to tell a driver on a straight away freeway that his blinker turn signal is on. The solution is simple, acour foreign travel, in terms of the trade deficit. . . . Be American! Stay home and get slosted on bourbon. The solution is simple, ac-cording to a local sage. As you pass him you wave fran-tically with your fingers opening and closing on your thumb. If you don't care about being taken for a nut, give it a try.... The wives of our San Francisco cable car grippers are griping LBJ is in trouble. This isn't my first exclusive — everybody knows it, includ-ing even LBJ. He's so worried he's coming to Cali-fornia soon to make one of of our san Francisco cable car grippers are griping about their hubbies coming home on pay day without their paychecks. Now don't his rare personal appear-ances outside an armed camp. That's because the LBJ-pledged State delega-tion to the national conventell me there's gambling around our car barns! tion not only has some powerful absentees (State As-sembly Speaker Unruh and State Senator Moscone for instance), there is even evidence that some of the "loy-alists" ON the delegation are ments these nights revolve around the movie, "Bonnie and Clyde." "Glorification of secret admirers of Eugene McCarthy. Zounds.

Report From Our Man

a couple of psychotic bums," "In cite ment to violence," "Not even true to life,"

the

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Summer Jobs for Youths Poses Gigantic Problem

* * *

The Men in Action on the Sacramento Scene.

successful summer for the division. As a result, about 1,050 of the 1,400 employes

In the division of beaches and parks, where young men are hired for general main-tenance work, as well as in some other areas, the num-ber to be hired this summer will be about 1,200, or about

* *

the hiring of Indian youth He said not all of the 1,200

temporary summer positions hired this summer.

1.200

years

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

Governor Ronald Reagan's plan for hiring youth in summertime jobs may result in some realignment of who gets the jobs but, at this point, doesn't indicate it will put many more young peo-ple to work. Spencer Williams, administrator of the health and welfare agency, announced several weeks ago that a full-scale program would be launched to find work for up to 400,000 young people, up to 400,000 young people, between the ages of 16-21. Along with efforts to find jobs for them in private in-dustry, an all-out effort was planned for hiring the youth in state service. Robert H. Hill, of the state department of employment, who is coordinating the pro-gram, said it's doubtful if too many results will be shown this year. He said the youth summer employment is not a crash program and may take another year to show real results. * * *

director, said preference would be given to disadvan-taged youth, including 100 from poverty areas who will be hired this summer for Williams had said committees in state government and private industry would work toward removing some of the barriers which prevent work at Angel Island state park. young people from finding employment. One of the bar-riers specified by Williams was a present state regula-tion which prevents hiring of Nicol said a special pro-gram will be started for parks and beaches which are near Indian reservations, for persons under 18 years of age in most departments. Williams said the personnel board would be asked to re-lax this rule.

are for people between 16-21, however, as some are for To date, the personnel board has not been asked to 21, however, as some are for life guards and other spe-cialized types of work. Nirol said it is hoped that 300 dis-advantaged youths might be make any changes in the rule. John F. Fisher, executive officers, said he didn't see that there would be any objection, unless there are In the department of fish and game, the 1968-69 bud-get would restore the seasonlegal problems, but there. had been no request.

get would restore the season-al aide program to the level it was before last year's budget cuts. In the current fiscal year, the hiring of nart-time workers in the launching into a pep talk to his staff, mostly female: "I'm going to have each of * * * 1 In the three state agencies which do most of the hiring you in my office individu-ally so we can get closer to-gether." (Titters). Sal, redof young people during the summer months, there won't part-time workers in the summer actually was cut by about two-thirds in order to be much change in the numabout two-thirds in order to meet economy orders. It is expected the budget for 1968-69 will restore the summer employment pro-gram in fish and game to about 150. It had dropped to about 50 last year. getner." (fitters). Sal, fed-faced: "This is to say, I mean I can only handle you one at a time." (Girlish laugh-ter). "Oh, the HELL with it, ber hired this year, although the selection of the employes may be somewhat different.

One of the big employers is the division of forestry. The work is mainly fire-In the department of em-ployment, Hill said work fighting. Employes are paid up to $377 per month, with some $30-$40 deducted for was progressing at removing barriers from hiring of young people by the state. However, he said the barroom and board. There presently are 1,400 although such positions, let's get to work!"...Screen-star Julie Christie wants to buy Mimi Tellis's houseboat in Sausalito-the one Julie occupies on her periodic visits here, sometimes with Warren Beatty, sometimes with somebody else, some-times with nobody.

WILLIAM HOGAN

titled "Fish." That doesn't look like a fish," she sniffed. "It's not a fish, madam," replied Picasso. "It's a paint-

* * *

Sal Millan, new gen. mgr. of the San Mateo Co. Fair

JFK Secretary Says LBJ Scheduled to Be Dumped

Inside Stuff: An unex-pected salvo has been leveled against Lyndon B. John-son — and from an un-expected critic in this elec-tion year. She is Evelyn Lincoln, who joined John F. Kennedy as personal secre-tary after he was elected to Senate, and remained with him until his death. Very much a Kennedy per-son, and author of a pre-vious book, "My Twelve Years with John F. Ken-about 1,800 youths are in- riers were primarily inforvolved each summer because of a turnover. Robert D. Calmational or educational. As a result, Hill said the kins, deputy director of the department of conservation, As a result, hin said the state personnel board was preparing a brochure which would inform young people of what job opportunities existed with the state. In adsaid more young men could be used if funds are pro-vided for it in the budget. dition, the board is setting up a class for part-time sum-However, a division policy requires that preference in hiring be given to those per-sons who have worked a mertime help. Hill admitted there would

Hin admitted there would be only a limited number of jobs available this year and said the department "didn't want too much publicity" on them. Hopefully, he said, more planning can be done for the future, with the re-sult the summer hiring nrosult the summer hiring prowill be returning this year after service in previous gram may be going strong a year from now,

Quote

GE

GE

GE

SI

H

We don't plan to let people influence us to divide our nation in a time of peril the same number as last year. Frank D. Nicol, deputy I ask you to join in a pro-gram of national austerity gram of national austerity to ensure that our economy will prosper and our fiscal position is sound—President Lyndon B. Johnson.

* * *

Ushering common drunks through the "revolving door" of the criminal process has failed to deter public drunk-enness. It has failed to rehabilitate persons with chronic drinking problems. It has proved to be unnecessarily expensive. — Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, Riverside.

古 方 ☆ ☆ If federal officials can set their own regulations on res-ident wildlife, including the killing of wild birds and animals when they please, other land own ers might claim the same right for the same reason. — Walter T. Shannon, director of fish and game

"Opened by mistake" ap-plies more to mouths than to letters.—James A. Wil-liams in the Southwest Vir-ginia Enterprise. MOSCHE?

Everyone is of some use even if nothing more than serving as a horrible ex-ample. — Jack E. Hester in the Charleston (Ind.) Courier.

 $\Rightarrow \Rightarrow \Rightarrow$ We are on trial as a nation as to whether we have the discipline and the courage and the leadership to pay our way.—Congressman George H. Mahon (D-Texan)

Lincoln on Mr. Kennedy's political styles of the two choice for 1964: "At this time," he quoted, "I am thinking about Governor Terry Sanford of North Carolina. But it will not be Lyndon." At best, "Kennedy & John-son" is a footnote to history.

Browsing Through the World of Books

men. President Kennedy was acutely aware of this. Peris haps, Mrs. Lincoln writes, is best summed up in a wire Mr. Johnson sent to Mr. Kennedy when the Kennedy in trouble these days is, of argue the artis. The pros course, Mr. de Gaulle. The counter with, "It's the greatcourse, Mr. de Gaulle. The est film in years." I tend to the latter viewpoint, recalllarge picture of him in that S.F. enclave of super-Frenchness—the Cercle de l'Union ing what Picasso said to a French Club) on rue Mason lady who was staring dis-has disappeared from the dainfully at a picture of his (French Club) on rue Mason

Morning Report:

Nobody believes in superstitions any more. Well, nobody except the three-star general, now en route to Vietnam, who was in charge of interior transportation at the Pentagon the day the President and Secretary McNamara were among 13 passengers stuck in elevator No. 13.

The President's mood worsened when the public address system broke down soon after, the two-star general, in charge of communications, noted as he boarded a plane for Saigon. The one-star general, a weather officer, fingering his travel orders, said the rain that fell on the President was just "one of those things."

Why does bad luck always come in threes, I wondered, as I sat in my dentist's office the next day. It's room 1400; just one floor up from the 12th.

nedy," Mrs. Lincoln spills a few secrets in "Kennedy & Johnson," a record of their running mutual antagonism. JFK and LBJ simply did not get along well, Mrs. Lin-coln tells us. They hadn't since they both jockeyed for the presidential nomination of 1960 when Mr. Johnson finally backed Hubert Humphrey in the West Virginia primary seeking to eliminate JFK right there. Mr. Kennedy's first choice for vice president after the nomination, she reminds us, was Orville Freeman.

* * * This book was in the news recently when Sen. Robert F. Kennedy denied her state-ment that Mr. Kennedy de-cided to dump Mr. Johnson from the 1964 election ticket. She relies on a detailed daily diary " of everything that happened in Mr. Ken-nedy's office, and one tends from the 12th. Abe Mellinkoft to believe in her position as "sieve" for all information coming into that office. Mrs.

Mrs. Lincoln admits she is not a professional historian. Yet there are painful mo-ments that show Mr. Ken-nedy seldom at ease with Mr. Johnson. One particular-ly distressing vignatic ly distressing vignette de-scribes Mr. Kennedy's pain during a pre-election visit to the LBJ ranch; the 6 a.m. the LBJ ranch; the 6 a.m. deer-stalking assignments, and perpetual blare of loud-speakers relaying r a n c h orders, or just piping Musak. After the election, she tells us, Mr. Johnson was al-wave after her to get him ways after her to get him on important White House social guest lists. Other em-social guest lists. Other em-barrassing out-of-office tales range ifrom Mr. Johnson's lifting the President's per-sonal copy of the New York Times to tantrums, abusive language, and the Vice Pres-identic invitating habit of ident's irritating habit of shaking his finger under the President's nose and saying: "But now let me tell you, Jack." Mrs. Lincoln's diary en-tries carry a certain gossip value, and certainly empha-size the vast difference in tion.

To My Son By Tom Rische High School Teacher and Youth and Youth Worker done, share my joys and my

A Letter . . .

Dear Bruce, Sometimes I ask my stusorrows, love me when I'm sorrows, love me when I'm good and love me when I'm bad, but don't spoil me. "Be there when I need you, but leave me alone sometimes too. Worry over dents what to say in these letters, and they give me all sorts of ideas. Here's a letter sorts of ideas. Here's a letter I liked, from a girl named Betsy, and I hope that some-day, you'll feel that we were good enough parents and write something like this to your mother and I: "Dear Mom and Dad—I'm me, but don't shelter me. Be happy with my successes, but don't be too gushy-or but don't be too gusny—or indifferent. "I know that sometimes I don't act like it, but I really do listen to you and try to follow your advice, but it's hard and sometimes we both want to throw in the sponge. Eventually, I'll grow up and "Dear Mom and Dad—I'm supposed to be writing you a letter, giving you advice on how to raise teenagers. But who am I to be giving you advice? You who have raised two before me and will raise three after me. You who have dried my tears, patched my hurts, and done other things too numerous to men-tion. want to throw in the sponge. Eventually, I'll grow up and look back and see what you were molding me into, and then I'll turn around and raise my kids like you. Your daughter" Hoping our relationship can be like that

"If I had any advice to give you, it would simply be this: do what you've always can be like that, YOUR DAD