The Mail Ego

By Terrence O'Flaherty

"Is it true that Elvis Presley will have a bedroom scene in his next movie?"

Yes, He's 33 years old now and everyone thinks it's about time.

"What is Tiny Tim REALLY like?"

I doubt if anyone knows and I'd sure hate to find out, but he packs in the paying patrons for his concerts. Most of them start out laughing at him but before the show is over, many of the laughers fall under his warm, unsettling spell.

"Will Jack Paar do another TV show?"

When last heard from he was on his way to Africa again and said he wanted no part of it—TV, that is, not Africa. He likes Africa. He also likes his life as it is now and said he can't even remember what he did on television.

"Who was the actor who played the role of Mia Farrow's physiotherapist in 'Peyton Place' and what is he doing now?"

His name is David Canary. He massaged his way out of Peyton Place and into a movie called "Hombre" which led to his present TV role as "Candy" the hired hand on "Bonanza."

"Does the gangland Mafia ever try to silence the actors in a show like 'The Untouchables'?"

Robert Stack, the star of the series, said: "They never bothered us. I think they realized we were merely performing animals and therefore harmless." However, they are reported to have contacted studio executives.

"What has become of Evelyn Rudie the precocious child star of 'Eloise' and the Jack Paar show? Is she still at that awkward, in-between age?"

She's no longer awkward but she's still in-between, that is, between entering college last year and getting married this month to actor Tim O'Kelly in Hollywood.

"Who discovered Rowan and Martin?"

They were "discovered" individually by comedian Tommy Noonan. Rowan was a used car salesman at the time, and Martin was a bartender. Noonan introduced the two and gave them the nightclub material which he had used when he was teamed with Peter Marshall, another comedian. Marshall says: "They owe their current careers to Tommy not to me. I didn't think they had any talent."

"I can't understand why 'Bonanza' is considered to be a violent show. Doesn't Ben Cartwright stand for non-violence?"

Yes, and kills several people in every episode to prove it.

"When I read in the paper the other day that some guy is producing a game show to make the housewife think I nearly fell out of my tree. Does he really believe the we're in need of a game to enlighten us?"

Yes. And after looking at the soap operas you've been watching, he may be right.

"Who owns the bear in TV's 'Gentle Ben' series?"

There are actually two bears portraying Gentle Ben but unless you're another bear it is impossible to tell them apart. Both are owned by "Africa USA" the Hollywood jungleland which supplies TV and movies with animals and jungle locations. "Africa USA" is owned by TV producer Ivan Tors.

Area Musicians to Be Featured in Concert

Four area musicians will be featured in the first of two July concerts by the El Camino Summer Symphony Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the college auditorium. Admission is free.

Merriam Paul, oboe; Elien Keck, clarinet; Tom Barstow, assoon; and Robert Peterson, French horn, will perform the "Sinfonia Concertante for Four Winds and Orchestra" by Mozart.

The concert will include the "Symphony No. 8, Op. 93" by Beethoven and four short works by contemporary composers Ernst Toch, Irving Fine, Alan Hovhaness and Robert Muczynski.

DIRECTED by El Camino instructor James E. Mack, the orchestra membership includes community and college musicians and is in its fourth season of summer concerts.

Mrs. Paul lives in the Riviera area of Torrance and plays principal oboe with the Beach Cities Symphony and teaches.

"Miss Keck is a senior at Palos Verdes High School, a student of clarinetist Mitchell Lurie, and has received recognition as one of the outstanding young musicians in California," Mack said.

BARSTOW, a businessman from Redondo Beach, and Peterson, a resident of Hermosa Beach, have contributed their talents to many local performing groups and are both skilled amateurs with many outstanding performances to their credit, Mack added.
