Bring Your Scissors!

Looking forward to the club's annual Bake and Craft Sale to be held at the Recreation Center in November, the Junior Woman's Club is holding a Craft Workshop every Wednesday morning at the Scout Center, from 9 a.m. until noon. Members work on bulletin boards, felt flowers, antique wall plaques, papier mache mirrors, straw flowers and other items to be sold at the bazaar. Club members wishing to assist are asked to bring their scissors and join in the fun. Working on craft items are, from left, Mmes. Donald McKenzie, co-chairman; John Dunbar, chairman, and William Ritchie, co-chairman. (Press-Herald Photo)

Preceptor Alpha Betas' Annual Picnic Today

Preceptor Alpha Beta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi members will gather at the El Segundo Recreational Park, 4111 Sheldon St., El Segundo, this afternoon at 5 o'clock for an old fashioned Family Picnic. Mrs. Robert Nickelson, social chairman, has games of sack racing, water balloons and horseshoes planned for family participation. Members will enjoy ham, cold cuts, baked beans, potato salad, etc., followed by old fashioned homemade ice cream and cake. The men will take turns at the handle of the ice cream freezer.

1967-68 year. Those attending were Mmes. Andrew Foster, Robert Nickelson, Lester Mayfield, Fran Nichols and Miss Martha Oehlerking.

Mrs. Andrew Foster, president, announced that plans have been completed for the first fall meeting, "Beginning Day" to be held on Aug. 25 at the home of Mrs. Robert Nickelson, Palos Verdes Estates. This will be a combined meeting and potluck dinner, and will include husbands and escorts. Beta Sigma Phi is a social and cultural organization and Preceptor Alpha Beta Chapter has chosen for its cultural programs for the coming year, "Practical and Decorative Arts and Crafts." The first program entitled "Christmas in August" will be presented by Mrs. Henry Lightenburger. Mrs. Lightenburger will have on display holiday decorations that she has made and will teach the art of making them.

Members and their families planning to attend the picnic today include Mmes. Andrew Foster, Fran Collins, Gene Olson, Gardena; Louie Below, Inglewood; Louie Zelanay, Ladera Heights; Raymond Millhouse, Fran Nichols, Hawthorne; Robert Nickelson, Jackie Pinkney, Domnick

Junior Club Will Aid Foster Parent Program

Torrance Junior Woman's Club announces that a major philanthropy for the year is CATHY (Community Assistance to Homeless Youngsters). It will be under the direction of the club's philanthropy chairman, Mrs. Larry Smith.

This foster parent program is affiliated with the Los Angeles County, Department of Public Social Services. The South Bay Area's Foster-Care consultant is Mrs. Catherine Bolton. The purpose of the program is two-fold, to recruit foster homes through community involvement, and to develop understanding and acceptance of foster care in the community. There are over 10,000 children in foster placement in Los Angeles County today and the need for more good foster homes, especially in the South Bay area, is ever increasing. The Torrance Juniors and the Torrance

Woman's Club are going to assist with this "need." Twenty-five Juniors and representatives of the Woman's Club have attended orientation meetings to learn the procedure in pre-screening potential foster parents. Anyone interested in providing a foster home for a child may call Mrs. Larry Smith or Mrs. Bruce Wilkinson.

Albrights at HemisFair '68

Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Albright, Jr. and sons, Tim and Larry, 23313 Pennsylvania Ave., Torrance visited the Ford Motor Company Pavilion at HemisFair '68 in San Antonio, Texas on July 21. In addition to the Ford exhibit, HemisFair has displays, restaurants and entertainment representing 39 nations and 18 industrial and institutional exhibitors.

Mrs. Nicol Honored At Luncheon

A surprise potluck luncheon was held recently for Mrs. Lillian Nicol, who has entered Madonna Manor, the Catholic Daughter residence for retired Catholic Daughters in Salinas. The party was held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Butterfield on Cypress Street.

Coffee Break

By Adeline Daley

Why do they throw these things at me, just before my husband starts his vacation? I mean the news story I read which stated that eventually the typical worker could "look forward" to a 25-week vacation each year, the trend being what it is.

Well, everybody else may be "looking forward" to it, but, as a wife, I'm not.

I can hear my husband now on the first day of his 25 weeks of leisure, "I hope you've caught up with everything so you can relax while I'm on vacation." For husbands don't like to see their wives slaving away while they're loafing in a hammock. Also, they must think elves come in at night and do all the work.

But I would reply cheerily, "Oh, I've done everything, dear, I've ironed 2000 shirts, blouses and dresses so I won't have to touch the ironing board the entire time you're off. It'll give me more time to fix lunch."

Perhaps this is taking too gloomy a view, because a 25-week vacation does have its compensations, as Aristotle Onassis and J. Paul Getty would be only too happy to point out. For one thing, you wouldn't have to rush your stay at the French Riviera. Nor would it make much difference if you split a rod on your yacht and were delayed returning to work because of repairs.

And think of all the round-the-world cruises you could take with so much time off? Although in taking a quick look at the travel section of the newspaper the longest trip I could find takes only 93 days, which still leaves three whole months.

Then there's the additional worry of what to do with the kids for the length of time. In fact, I'm faced with what to do with them for the next two months, because we haven't got any crops to plant or harvest, which, I understand, was the original idea behind a summer vacation.

But to be practical, who could afford such a vacation? Who can afford to go any place for the entire four weeks we have now?

Thus, for most, a 25-week vacation would only mean more time to stay home and make home repairs. In our case a project which approaches redoing the Palace of Fine Arts. Nor can I see my husband being too keen about being handed an arm-length list of jobs I'd like done. He'd wait until three days before he returned to his job to start painting the house or work on the yard. Then it would rain.

Separate vacations, anyone?

Wesleyan Guild Seats Officers

In a candlelight service, with each new officer receiving a lighted taper, the Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church installed its new leaders in ceremonies in Friendship Hall at the church recently. Mrs. Dorothy Goodale conducted the installation.

Assuming their duties were Lois Agan, president; Dorothy Holland, vice president; June Kelso, recording secretary; Irene Steele, treasurer; Alice Nagel, co-ordinator.

New chairmen are Mmes. Phyllis Muro, Helen Smith, Chelcia Shelby, Frances Payne, Virginia Sloat, Helen Wieman, Odell Levis, Paul the Green and Eleanor Stewart.

At the last dinner meeting of the Guild, Mrs. Marilyn Kakich of Garden Grove was the guest speaker. Mrs. Kakich was the originator of an unique anti-poverty program and cottage industry for Watts youngsters and was given the "Citizen of the Year" award by a leading Orange County Aerospace firm. The speaker told of her activities in the Watts area.
