

Coffee Break

By Adeline Daley

After weeks of concerted effort, not to mention the money spent on countless tubes of different sun tanning preparations, the question now arises: What do you do with a sun tan, once your vacation is over? And, also is it worth it?

For here we are — my husband and I, both sporting beautiful sun tans, but with nobody to show them off to. Unless, of course, we invite people in for daily showings between 2 and 4 p.m. and serve tea and sandwiches.

Or perhaps I could adopt a sarong as my permanent attire for the rest of the summer and sing "The Moon of Manakuri Island" at the supermarket check-stand in order to draw attention to it. It's better than baring a shoulder to display your tan, as most returning vacationers do.

My husband, however didn't take kindly to my suggestion that he dive for pennies at the foot of Pier 35 to greet passengers returning on the Lurline from Hawaii to show his tan.

Incidentally, I'll have you know that the type of sun tan cream he used was advertised as being the same brand used exclusively at Waikiki. Which is about as close as we'll ever get to that beach.

It was just one of the many brands we had on hand which supposedly offer you a choice of "Bronzed Loveliness" you desire — Hawaii, Sun Valley, the Bahamas, or Palm Springs

However, I wish the directions read differently because I get the feeling that I'm preparing Chicken Tetrazzini, instead of getting a tan: "Apply Oil Liberally Bake well for five minutes on one side. Turn over." Then too, you use so much "goop" that you form oil slicks every time you go in swimming.

As a result, I think that with the amount of money we spent on sun tan preparations in order to look as if had vacationed in Hawaii, we could have gone there.

Of course, our older daughters had been "working on" their sun tans for several weeks. In fact, they attack getting a sun tan with the same determination as those who climb Mount Everest. Apparently, because "it is bare."

But the type of "tan" I think I favor is the one our three youngest children get every year. It's a wonder John L. Lewis doesn't ask them to pay union dues. Just as Tony Bennett "left his heart in San Francisco," Diane, Sharon and Jan left their "tans" in the bathtub.

In the meantime, I wish you'd drop by and see my tan. Remember, as the press agents say, "It's here for a Limited Engagement." As I've always said, "Old sun tans never die, they just fade away."

Junior Orchestra to Grow; Plan Concert

South Bay Junior String Orchestra will become the South Bay Junior Chamber Orchestra in the coming 1968-69 season, announces Paula Gwinn, conductor.

This means that the orchestra, previously made up entirely of young string players, will expand to include clarinets, oboes, flutes, bassoons, French horns, trumpets and percussion instruments.

The orchestra will now be able to schedule more diversified concerts, still featuring string chamber music, but will perform some of the symphonies of the Baroque period as well.

The first rehearsal will be held Saturday, Aug. 10, at the Lomita Recreation Center, 24428 Eshelman Ave., Lomita, from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Any young musicians with two years of study on their particular instrument are invited to attend the first rehearsal. Each is asked to bring a music stand.

Work will begin immediately on a fall concert. Featured work will be music of "Oklahoma" by Rogers and Hammerstein, since it is the 25th anniversary of the opening of that famous Broadway hit.

The opening concert will be the Second Annual Picnic and Pizzicato Concert. Families will be invited to bring a picnic supper to be followed by music of a pop nature. Concert date will be announced later.

For further information concerning the orchestra, the Lomita Recreation Center may be called.

Visit Shinodas

Mrs. Leroy Pulliam and Mrs. Claire Cannon drove to Goleta one day last week, where they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shinoda, former Torrance residents. They were overnight guests of Mrs. Pulliam's son, Jim Pulliam, who is in Goleta supervising the construction of a business firm.

Emblem Club Annual Dance Set For Aug. 17

Formal wear is out, sports clothes are in for the Gardena Emblem Club's annual Cotton Casual Dance to be held at the Elks' Hall, 1735 W. 162nd St., Saturday, Aug. 17. Dancing to music by the Martinaires begins at 8 p.m. The main door prize will be accommodations for two for three days and two nights at the Hacienda Hotel in Las Vegas. The tickets also entitle the holder to a special price on a pizza of his choice.

Decorating the tables will be hand-made dolls, dressed in the mode of the early 1800's. These dolls will be given to a person at each table during the course of the evening.

Tickets may be obtained from the chairmen, Mmes. Frank Summo and Paul Swigart, or at the Elks' Hall.

Attend Family Reunion in Texas

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lee, 2007 Andree, and their granddaughter, Selena Bailey, returned last Tuesday from Brownsville, Texas, where they had gone to attend a reunion of Mr. Lee's family. This was the first family reunion in 26 years. The affair was held at the American Legion hall in Brownsville and was attended by 79 relatives.

The annual Luau for the residents at the Kona-Kai apartments, 22413 Ocean Ave., Waleria, was held on Sunday evening, July 19, with approximately 120 residents and guests attending.

An elaborate South Sea decor formed the setting for the catered dinner of authentic foods. Guests were attired in Polynesian costumes.

After the dinner, dancing was enjoyed to music furnished by "Ralph and the Variations". Dave Miller at the piano also entertained.

Mrs. Bertha Weston served as chairman for the event and was assisted by Bert Dana and Iras Fine.

Among the out-of-town guests were Bruce Wiley of Portland, Ore; Mrs. Peggy Cruse of Long Island N. Y.; and Miss Carol Minstrell, North Babylon, N. Y.

Whirl of Farewell Parties for Mr., Mrs. William Faulds

Mr. and Mrs. William Faulds, who will leave Aug. 12 for their new home, Toronto, Canada, where Mr. Faulds has been transferred as marketing manager with TRW Systems, Canada Branch, have been feted at a whirl of farewell parties.

Last Saturday evening they were guests of honor at a party given by the Torrance Junior Woman's Club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Davidson, 24301 Falena Ave., Lomita.

The evening included cocktails, a catered dinner, and swimming.

Mrs. Faulds is past president of the Torrance Junior Woman's Club 1963-64, and an honorary life member. She is also a member of the Torrance Woman's Club and has been serving as coordinator to the Marina District CFWC, junior membership. Her other activities include membership in the Jaycettes, work with the Y Indian Maiden program; served as Cub Scout den mother and active in PTA.

Mr. Faulds is an honorary life member of the Torrance Junior Chamber of Commerce, JCI Senator, a past City Youth Commissioner and has worked on YMCA campaigns.

Eighty Junior Club members and their husbands attended the going-away party.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce members and their wives, the Jaycettes, said farewell to these two popular members at a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lindborg on Saturday evening, July 20.

The 35 couples attending enjoyed swimming followed by a buffet supper. Mr. Faulds, an honorary life member, was presented with a plaque and Mrs. Faulds was given a gold Jaycette charm.

Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Moffitt entertained the Torrance Breakfast Club at a dinner party in the patio of their 2724 Arlington home last Sunday evening.

After dinner, cards were played and a business session was held.

The Moffitts' guests were Messrs. and Mmes. Fred Bever, Vince Villenave, E. Miller; Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Bingham, Dr. and Mrs. O. E. Fossum, and Mrs. Arch Lewis.

Members of the retiring and new boards of the Torrance Woman's Club gathered at Sam's Cafe Friday at noon to extend good wishes to Mrs. Faulds and to present her with a gift of appreciation for her work with the club.

Attending were Mrs. Douglas Hedde, Junior Club president and Mrs. Robert Vroman, immediate past president.

Board members present were Mmes Robert Winship, R. E. Moffitt, J. A. Tweedy, Fred Sandstrom, F. M. Shaw, Lee Stamps, James Wilkes, Bruce Marsh, Blandford Moyer, Richard Dorothy, Morton Diener, Dean Sears.

Other were Mmes Richard Rankin, H. F. Heinlein, J. T. Mathews, Leslie Steigh, Frank Breit, D. A. Cressy, and Arch Boyd.
