

Nurses Learn of New Drugs

Latest information on drugs will be provided in a special course for nurses this fall at Harbor College. "Drugs and Their Effects" is the course offered Thursday nights from 6 to 9 p.m. All students in these programs.

The purpose of the class is to update the knowledge and skills of nurses, either practicing or interested in returning to the field of nursing. Information on current drugs as well as the mathematics of conversion of values from apothecary or systems is included.

Nurses interested should apply for enrollment before Aug. 23. Class space is limited. Additional information can be obtained by contacting Harbor College Nursing Division.

Applications for the Fall classes in Vocational or Registered Nursing are still being considered.
