New State Law Is a Big Step Against Secrecy

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO - Signing of AB 1381 by Governor Ronald Reagan last week marks another step in the continuing battle to keen the public, or allow the pub-lic to be, informed as to what its government is doing.

The measure is authored by Assemblyman William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael) and is to the public's right to know the content of government documents as the Ralph M. Brown Act is to the public's right to attend public meeting of local government. Known as the California necessary right of every citizen of the state,"

Such an act on the statute books of California guaran-tees the right of a citizen to access to informaiont which hitherto has been kept in confidential files, usually because governmental offi-were unwilling to share the business of gov-ernment with the people, or disliked having the public find out how that business was being conducted. Public Records Act, it states as a fundamental policy of government: "Access to information concerning the conduct of the people's bus-iness is a fundamental and Certain records are ex-empted in the bill from disclosure, as would be expected when a new measure comes on the scene. These exemptions include records involving public lit-igation, where the interest of the public would be dam-aged by disclosure; person-access to information which would invade privacy: trade secrets which if public knowledge would deprive business of competitive ad-vantage; data relating to oil and mineral findings, and several others which a re discretionary.

discretationary. Passage and signing of this far - reaching measure was not won easily, or with-out lengthy and hard-work-ing discretion of the part ing discussion on the part of those who were interest-ed in protecting the public's right to know.

hight to know. Bagley has said several times that the measure em-anated from an idea present-ed in an "Affairs of State"

YAH! I GOT

AWAY WITH

IT, COPPER!

His Second Chance

column, published through-out California several years ago. Subsequently, an advisory committee was appointed to work out the details of the new public records act. This committee consisted of representatives from the state bar of California, the state bar of California, the attorney general, the Cali-fornia Newspaper Publish-ers Association, the State Freedom of Information committee; the American Newspaper Guild; the Cali-fornia Broadcasters Associa-tion, the California Associa-tion of School Administra tion of School Administra-

COURTS

ACQUITTED

DISMISSED

91% ARE

REARRESTED RNEW CRIMES tors, and the California School Boards Association. Sigma Delta Chi, national cial proceedings, but did not define public policy. It almost missed being journalistic organization, was prominetly represented on the advisory committee, and in fact, its representa-tives did much of the spade work in getting the measure in shone for the localistature. signed this year, Bagley dis-closed, because of the lastminute interference of some state government officials who wanter changes. These changes, he said, referred to relatively minor portions of the measure, and will be corrected at the next ses-sion of the legislature. Through his untiring ac-tivity in securing both pacin shape for the legislature. The measure represents an important step ahead in the battle for the right to know, amplifying the pres-ent laws relating to accessient laws relating to accessi-bility of public records, which were written in 1877 and pertained to the admis-sability of evidence in judi-

Through his untilling ac-tivity in securing both pas-sage and signing of the mea-sure, Bagley has performed an outstanding service to the public.

I an ion :

get

but don'

expi

has sens phra

an o

say advi

th fore

thin

send pens

ers

this

Is it

edg

won

he b

this

like give leg.

it is and ladi

foot

no

abo

let Land requ 80c

Send

si

fa

th ru el

fr

Ce ye

li tv

HERB CAEN SAYS: 'Cool It,' He Advises Rebels

My unsought advice to our young rebels today is to stop calling police officers "Pigs." In the current jargon, it's counter-productive. Esthetically, it's nonfelicitous. Artistically, it's inaccurate. Morally, it places those who use the term in the same group with the morons whose common currency includes nigger, wop, kike, Chink, Jap and so on. Philisophically, it fails to distinguish between good and bad policemen. Hypocritically, those who call policemen "pigs" pretend to be dedicated to the dignity of man, so why should they rob a man of his dignity?

10 Final piece of unsought advice to the young rebels: cool it for a while. The reaction from the right is now more dangerous than any promise of immediate gain. Meanwhile, the UC budget is cut, a thing called a Rafferty is headed for the Senate (with the avowed help of H. L. Hunt) and you-ve made a very big man out of a very little man, George Wallace. If you're really ready to sacrifice all for full-scale revolution, that's one thing, but this other thing — trouble for troube's sake — gives aid and comfort to your enemies and discomfort to the rest of us. The Establishment can break heads as well as hearts, and will and does. Repeat: cool it.

Via AP from Washington: "After two and a half years of public hearings and study, the Government has decided that unless it's 90 per cent peanuts, it isn't peanut butter." The foregoing flash is the result of the Food and Drug Administration's review of 7,822 pages of testimony . . . another statistic: During the seven years of "the American presence" in Vietnam, about 26,000 of our troops have been killed in combat. During that same period, 22,000 U.S. servicemen have been killed accidentally, more than half in traffic accidents. . Meanwhile, our psychological warfare forces continue to drop packets containing a toothbrush, a tiny tube of toothpaste, and a manual titled "How to Brush Your Teeth" on the fortunate peasants of Vietnam. A significant reduction in cavities and Vietnamese is

Dear Bruce, Dear Bruce, While you visited your grandmother, your mother and I were almost 6,000 miles away, seeing how Eu-ropeans think and act. For us, foreign travel is fun, and when you are older, you can come along nourned their deaths nearly as much as Americans. One woman lectured us on our "poor" educational system, "because it doesn't produce great statesmen, although I don't remember the British producing many Winston producing many Churchills either. Winston And when you are older, you can come along. Americans often are amazed to find that oth er countries don't think the U.S. is the center of the uni-verse. In England, the Dem-ocratic National Convention menally was pucked off the Explaining America's po-litical system isn't easy. Along with many Ameri-cans, Englishmen find our conventions, primaries, Elec-torial College, and long usually was pushed off the front pages by the Czech drawn-out campaigns very odd. (British campaigns last invasion, a British prin-death, or results of e of months) death, or results of the cricket playoffs (British We got thoroughly tangled up trying to ex what would happen if explain equivalent of the World nobody gets a majority of the Although the British were electorial vote, but I doubt that most Americans could explain it at all. tions, nobody we talked to was happy about either Richard Nixon or Hubert In Britain, violence is un-sual (the "bobbies" don't nsual (the "bobbies" don't carry guns), and many Eng-Humphrey (many Americans aren't either), but tended to lishmen regarded the onstrations and police beha-vior at the convention as prefer Humphrey. Sen. Eugene McCarthy seemed to have many fans, and we found a large rally for him at Speaker's Corner, a place where the British gather to discuss political issues. In fact, one group was noted not too different from the tribal warfare that is going on in Nigeria. TV commen-tators dwelt on Chicago police brutality, and ques-tioned how "civilized" Americans could be, with fact, one group was even passing a petition, although I'm not sure what it was this kind of behavior. We learned a lot about supposed to do. Most people expressed great admiration for the late Americans talking to the British Kennedy brothers, and we were told that the English Your for understanding, YOUR DAD

Your Right to Know Is the Key to All Your Liberties -Comment and Opinion -

TORRANCE, CALIFORNIA, SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1968

Up to Legislators

Proposition No. 9, the Watson amendment to put a ceiling on property tax, is stirring considerable controversy. While criticism mounts, no one seems to have a solution to property tax relief.

The fears expressed would indicate that taxes collected from sources other than property would not have the same dollar value. The amendment does not claim the state must operate with less finances. It merely shifts responsibility to the legislators to come up with new and imaginative tax sources

Latest organization to voice protest is the Engineering and Grading Contractors Association. It claims that, "Highly dangerous restrictions on public works bonding in the proposition will shift the burden of financing development and contsruction of vital public works such as sewers. flood control projects and special schools, directly to the shoulders of the California taxpayer."

It would seem that these programs now are paid by someone other than taxpayers.

It is a strange statement from an industry steeped in the philosophy of free enterprise.

The construction industry is for-state levels. Perhaps the next time Supervisor Kenneth Hahn suggests a raid on the state highway fund to finance other programs, he should be supported. Naturally a cut in property tax tunate to have a "built-in" funding the gasoline tax-and on federal and program for road-building projects-will foster new tax demands. Certainly our legislators are capable of their responsibilities and will find a way. Unhappy as it might be.

Congestion Sure

Rapid transit and freeway planners are bumping heads again

Last week a detailed account of a $2.5 billion transit system, including a southwest corridor, was revealed aimed at reducing congestion on southland freeways.

This week, the division of highways released a progress report projecting construction of five new freeways in the southwest which will cost an estimated $700,000,000-aimed at reducing congestion on existing freeways

What could lie ahead are empty freeways and a congested rapid transit system.

WILLIAM HOGAN

Kandy-Kolored Boswell Checks 'Acid Novelist'

In a full-dress profile of Beach rooftop bust, his fugi-acid novelist" Ken Kesey tive period in Mexico, pur-and his band of Merry sued by the Federales, the Prankster called "The Elec-FBI, and operatives of the tric Kool-Aid Acid Test," San Mateo police depart-you must adjust to Tom Wolfe's eccentric literary style (full of "Ouija-wham-my"). Then you must adjust to Kesey's equally eccentric ity . Inen you must adjust to Kesey's equally eccentric life style ("out on the rag-gedy raggedy edge"), which many straights in the audi-ence will object to right now. Be that as it may—this is a remarkable document is a remarkable document, the most remarkable and urgently contemporary since Norman Mailer's dazzling personalized account of last year's peace march on the Pentagon, "Armies of the Night.

Some of it is electronic journalism, taken off tapes, and from the Prankster Archives, diaries, letters, photographs, clips from the 45hour movie, much of it shot out of focus, the Pranksters made during the cross country trip in the summer of '64 in an International Harvester and an elect belonged to a man in (everybody uary performance, and an electrifying one, by the former razzle-dazzle Herald Tribune former reporter whose collected reporter whose collected pieces were published in 1965 as "The Kandy-Kolor-ed Tangerine-Flake Stream-line Baby." He has grown up a lot since then. Wolfe, it seems to me, is the first certified literary Brahman to emergy from this Probation Generation, which he labels it and which Kesey symbolizes. Like Jackson Pollock's painting, you may not like it, but it is here, a strange, wonderfu', controlled, inventive prose controlled, inventive prose written in a frenzy of pri-mary colors, something out of Hieronymus Bosch.

Browsing Through the World of Books

It would be ironic if Kesey, a self-styled "former writer," is remembered less as the author of "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" and "Sometimes a Great Notion" than as the central character of another writer's Boswellian efforts. Kesey's Boswen enough tried to tell not only what Kesey and his Pranksters did, but to recreate the mental atmosphere, or sub-jective reality of it all. "I don't think their adventures can be understood without that," he emphasizes. So Wolfe grooves on many strange events, he reports and interprets — Kesey's al-liance with the Hell's Angels; the Great Trips Festi-val at the San Francisco Longshoreman's Hall in Janity between Kesey and Tim-othy Leary; the "magical cement" of Kesey's charisma — some Count Caglios-tro standing under the mighty strobe — and of course of Acid Tests, in which the Pranksters slosh-ed ISD into which of Kedi ed LSD into vats of Kool-Aid and distributed among the citizenry, about as irresponsible a caper as any recorded in this frightening, Day-Glo odyssey down the great American superhighway. Kesey may be the all-American Oregon boy who became the greatest drop-out of them all. But the way Tom Wolfe tells it, Myster-

It would be interesting to have the identity of the scientists who advised the late President Kennedy that we could put a man on the moon, and bring him back,

Indeed, the goal seems farther from reality than it was when it was announced in 1961. The announcement in retrospect now appears to have been quite unaware of the technological prob-lem it posed. Simple exper-ience with the rudiments of the preparatory steps neces-sary even to attempt a lunar landing has taught most of the zealous Apollo advo-cates that the enterprise, as a technological problem, is of almost infinite complexity by 1970.

ROYCE BRIER

It is entirely probable the Soviet dream of lunar ac-complishment has been equally lacking in realism, while at the same time it was presented to both Americans and Russians as tary a race for a breakthrough tion.

Unfortunately, Mr. Ken- test to be the first on the nedy's original proposal was designed to assure Americans that a conquest would establish their military dom-cal site, hence their mili-tary domination of the earth

Landing Moon Explorer

Still an Elusive Goal

240,000 miles away. Unfortunately, again, this was a hypothesis, not a proved proposition, and an important share of the existing military minds did not subscribe to it. From the course of events since the original proposal, it is a safe guess the Soviet mind did not subscribe to the hypothesis, either.

In any case, the American scientific mind, let alone the Soviet, has acted as if the man-on-the-moon proj-ect, even if achieved, will not confer any marked mili-taxy advantage to achieve a tary advantage to either na-expected by this time next year. moon, a contest now somewhat deflated if not academ ic, and partaking of patri-otic pride rather than hope

This dimming of aspira-tions has resulted, in the United States at least, in a diminishment of funds avail-able for the space program,

The doubt touches not only the Congress but the scientific world. After much study, the National Acad-emy of Sciences is now urging a space overhauling which in effect would de-emphasize Apollo in favor of non-manned interplane-tary flights primarily de-voted to exploration of the solar system At present this program limps along on an annual $75 million of the billions still available for space. The interplanetary program can-not be enlarged without di-minishing Apollo funds. AS proposes instrument ed flights to study the inner ed nights to study the inner planets, and a several-year run to Jupiter, 480 million miles distant. They would send two orbiters to Mars in 1971, and two landing vehi-cles in 1973. They would the wirth Vacuucasis (the Series.) also visit Venus again (the Russians have been on the surface with inconclusive results), and unvisited Mer-cury, nearest the sun. They would use large packages of instruments on these tar-gets in the mid-1970s, and would expand radar astron omy at least a hundredfold. The puprose would be: bet'er understanding e origin and evolution a bet'er of of the solar system: the origin and evolution of life, and the dynamic processes that shape man's terrestrial environment.

of achieving a realignment in the history of nations.

Opinions on Affairs of the World reportage on a hippie elite, which means the maripuana scene, the LSD scene, the Merry Pranksters scene, Kesey's La Honda bust, and North

Dress-Herald

Glenn W. Pfeil Publisher

Reid L. Bundy Editor and Co-Publisher

Published Each Nednesday and Sunday

3238 W. Sepulveda Blvd Torrance, Calif. 90510 to the conquest of extraterrestrial environment. '66: the mutual hostil-ioso. You'd better believe

It therefore has resolved itself into an emotional con-

Morning Report:

With all this sympathy about what has happened to the Czechs, almost everybody has forgotten the poor Russians. The tanks rolled into Prague but the exhaust fumes will hang over Moscow for a long time.

Just for starters, the Kremlin jammed all foreign radio broadcasts for the first time in years. Those in control didn't want to take any chances that a bit of the truth might leak into the country. Those Soviet writers and professors, who have been complaining a bit about the government, will get the message. Outside of jail. And if not, after quick trials.

Sure, the Czechs lost their freedom. But so did the Russians and they had a lot less to lose.

Abe Mellinkoff