

El Camino Sets Film On Opera

The opera story "Der Rosenkavalier," the second film in a series of film classics to be aired, will be viewed next Monday at 8 p.m. in the El Camino College auditorium.

The full ballet color motion picture, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," was the first film shown at the "Monday Night at the Movies" series on Sept. 23.

Following "Der Rosenkavalier," three movies exposing British comedy on Oct. 7, 14, and 21 will be shown. "The Lavender Hill Mob" will screen Oct. 7.

Two American comedies will be featured Nov. 4 and 11, respectively, including "My Little Chickadee" (Nov. 4, and Buster Keaton and Laurel and Hardy Nights (Nov. 11).

The month of December will be taken up with French comedy. In January, a Director's Series by Ingmar Bergman will be featured.

Tickets to each movie will be sold at the door beginning 30 minutes prior to the scheduled showing.

SCOUT NIGHT COMMENDED . . . A special School Night for the Scouting program has been commended by County Supervisors because it will give all boys in Los Angeles County an opportunity to join the scouting movement. Supervisor Burton W. Chace (right) displays a scroll honoring scouts to Scout Leader Thomas S. Catherall, assistant district executive of the South Bay District, and Cub Ronald Jacobson of Torrance area pack. All elementary schools will stage a School Night for Scouting between Oct. 1 to 8 to acquaint youngsters with the Scout program.

CHP to Patrol Area Freeways

"The first step in the shift of traffic supervision responsibility on the freeways within the city of Los Angeles from the Los Angeles Police Department to the California Highway Patrol will take place Oct. 1," Supervising Inspector H. G. Amborn, Zone Commander of the California Highway Patrol in Los Angeles, has announced.

"The portions of freeway affected in the city of Los Angeles will be the Harbor Freeway from Century Boulevard south to its terminus in San Pedro, the Santa Monica Freeway from La Cienega Boulevard to the city limits of Santa Monica, and the San Diego Freeway from Mulholland Drive south," Inspector Amborn said.

The shift in responsibility results from a request by the Los Angeles City Council that traffic supervision be provided by the California Highway Patrol as authorized by a law enacted in 1965.

Little change will be noticed by motorists using the freeways as the same high level of service will be rendered by the California Highway Patrol. The patrol will use basically the same emergency services the city police have used. Frequent patrols will assure that motorists needing assistance will be aided and traffic offenders will be cited into the Los Angeles Municipal Courts.

Inspector Amborn said the patrol's objective will be to insure the safe, rapid, and most efficient use of freeways within the city of Los Angeles.

Registration Set for City's Co-Rec Clubs

Seventh and eighth grade boys and girls who enjoy dancing to live bands, beach parties, snow trips, ice skating, trips to Disneyland, and giving service to the community, may now sign-up for one of Torrance's Co-Rec Clubs, sponsored by the city's Recreation Department.

Membership for the Co-Rec Clubs is divided into North, South, West, and Central Torrance areas. The dividing lines used to determine these four areas are the same as those which divide the four Torrance high school districts.

Registration for all Co-Rec Clubs will be held Friday at the Recreation Center, 3341 Torrance Blvd., and at McMaster Park, 3624 Artesia Blvd., from 7 to 10 p.m.

Registration also will take place Friday, Oct. 4, at the Recreation Center and at Watteria Park, 2855 W. 242nd St., from 7 to 10 p.m. Students should bring $2 for membership fee and a 2- by 1-inch picture of themselves to the registration meeting.

Parents are asked to sign permission slips.
