SAMUEL B. NELSON
New RTD Boss

RTD Board Names New Manager

Samuel B. Nelson, a public agency administrator with more than 41 years experience, has been named general manager of the Southern California Rapid Transit District.

RTD directors appointed Nelson to head the district's rapid transit and four-county bus operations after reviewing more than two dozen resumes for the post from applicants throughout the country.

General manager and chief engineer of the Los Angeles Water and Power until the fall of 1967, Nelson served until recently as director of the California Department of Public Works.

NELSON, who will assume full time duties Nov. 11, will receive $45,000 annual salary. He will take over at RTD from Milton McKay, who will continue in his capacity as general counsel for the district.

A graduate of Pomona College, with graduate studies leading to an engineering degree at Cornell University, Nelson was named to the top post of the Department of Water and Power — the nation's largest municipal utility — in 1961, rising through various engineering and administrative positions.

Active in a number of professional and civic organizations, at the national, state, and local levels, Nelson in 1965 was named one of the Top Ten Public Works Men of the Year by the American Public Works Association and Kiwanis International.

Leg Bones Fractured In Crash

A Torrance man fractured his right leg and thigh bone Saturday when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a car at Pacific Coast Hwy. and Ladeene Avenue, and them rammed another car.

Rushed to Little Company of Mary Hospital was Chris J. Vadborg, 23, of 3314 Rain-tree Ave.

Police said the accident occurred when a car driven by Gordon L. French, 34, of 3221 Paseo del Campo, Palos Verdes Estates, pulled out across Pacific Coast Highway from a parking lot. Investigating officers recommended that French be cited for failure to yield right-of-way to Vadborg.

Carson High Students Join United Crusade

Nineteen Carson High speech students who have made plans to give short speeches in 386 junior high and elementary classrooms are among the Harbor area high school students participating in the United Crusade school program.

The Harbor area includes Gardena, Lomita, Palos Verdes, Rolling Hills, Torrance, Carson, Harbor City, Wilmington, and San Pedro. The program, open to all Los Angeles city and county high schools includes a speech contest for the two divisions — students speaking in junior highs, and those in elementary schools. Entrants from each school will be chosen from among participants by their speech instructors.

THE WINNER in each division will win a $50 savings bond and two trophies, one for himself and one for his school. Prizes are donated by interested organizations, and do not come from United Crusade funds.

Students speakers give three to five minute speeches about United Crusade, some of them using visual aids.

"Students receive no academic credit for these speeches," said Rawson Gorsch, speech teacher and student activities coordinator at Carson High. "They have to make up any class work they miss."

TRANSPORTATION for the speakers is provided by local PTA members.

John Ryan, a member of the Carson High speaking group, has also made a radio tape for United Crusade. Ryan is president of Los Angeles City High School Student Councils and represents Los Angeles in the District 20 and State Cabinets of that organization.

Other help is available through adoption agencies, homes for unwed mother, psychiatric counseling, day nurseries for working mothers, travelers aid, and the Visiting Nurse Association.

IN ADDITION to the 244 United Way agencies in the Los Angeles area, there are 12 American Red Cross chapters which receive United Crusade funds.

Red Cross provides services such as disaster relief, blood bank programs, first aid and safety classes, classes in prenatal and baby care, and social services to servicemen and their families.

One in every three persons utilizes at least one United Way service each year.

CALCIUM NEEDED

Medical experts say "milk is rich in calcium, but some adults feel they don't need milk. Unless they compensate by getting enough calcium from other sources, they can suffer from calcium deficiency, easy bruising, slow healing of wounds, weakness of bones, etc."

Classes Set for Frogmen

All frogmen of the future may sign up now for Torrance's junior frogmen class at the city plunge. Classes will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6 to 7:30 p.m. beginning Oct. 28.

Boys and girls ages 10 through 18 are eligible to participate in the class sponsored by the Torrance Recreation Department.

A special class for adults will be held if eight or more adults register. This class will teach basic techniques of skin diving.

Registration will be taken Monday through Friday at the Joslyn Center, 3335 Torrance Blvd., 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A fee of $5 will be charged at the time of registration. Entrants will be required to pass a swimming test before starting the class.

Maj. Cahill Will Lead Air Patrol

Major Hugh M. Cahill of Torrance has assumed duties as commander of South Bay Group 17, Civil Air Patrol. He has appointed Captain Robert L. Trano as his executive officer and Second Lieutenant Richard P. Winnen as adjutant.

Major Cahill has been with Civil Air Patrol since 1953. His wife Barbara is information officer for the group. They have four children.

Group 17 has moved its headquarters to Nike Site 55 on Hawthorne Boulevard, Palos Verdes. The group meets every Thursday from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Cadets between the ages of 13 and 18 are currently being sought. Those 19 and over may apply for senior positions.

Vote for A MAN

Vote for A SENATOR
