Around the World with Stan Delaplane

SAN FRANCISCO — The "off-season" with lower rates has just about disappeared from the world's resorts. But from now until Christmas they are less crowded.

I called a friend in Honolulu who said: "Rooms are OK on all the islands and at Waikiki up to Christmas and New Year's."

From Acapulco: "The Olympics jam goes off at Thanksgiving and rooms won't be hard to get until Dec. 20."

The Virgin Islands: "All right now. But we expect the tourist rush to be heavy early in December."

Air fares to Europe are down for the winter. Icelandic Airlines will fly you round trip New York-Europe for $215.

"Would Christmas be a good time for two single, working girls to go to Hawaii?"

The holidays are swingy times at Waikiki. (Not so much in the Outer Islands.) Plenty of tourists. You might read a new paperback, "Bachelor's Hawaii," $2. Supposed to be a bachelor's guide on the islands, but reads like a survival course for girl visitors.

"Any advice you could give us on how to dress at Christmas time in Mexico City?"

This is a modern world capital, and you dress as you would in any big city. Cocktail dresses for evening. Dark suits for men (I never see dinner jackets.) Women should carry a scarf to wear when you sight-see in the old churches. (If you forget, a man's handkerchief will do. It's the token covering that counts.)

You need a coat for nights. It turns chill. Days are usually in the sixties. But Mexico City gets several day cold snaps. The temperature goes down to freezing, miserable thirties.

I just get out of town. Go one hour down to Cuernavaca into spring until the weather gets better in the capital. Which it will in three to five days.

Easiest is from the travel desk in any of the big tourist hotels. The seats you want the shady side (sombra) and halfway up (premer tendido). The front row (barrera) is too close to the killing. Starts at 4 p.m. Ends about 6. Take an overcoat. The afternoon begins warm and turns cold.

An usher shows you to your seat and rents you a cushion — two pesos last time I was there, probably five now. (a peso is 8 cents U.S.) Take the cushion. Those stone seats are hard and cold.

If you wait until the end — the sixth bull — cabs will be hard to get. Leave after the fifth bull, and you've got it made.

"Where do you get tickets to the bull fight in Mexico City?"

Los Angeles Beautiful To Honor Local Firms

Two Torrance firms will be honored today in Los Angeles as Los Angeles Beautiful presents its 11th annual awards. A total of 32 awards will be made by the group.

The Fashion Square complex was designed by the firm of Welton Becket and Associates and is comprised of 16 stores. The site is a 20-acre area at the northeast corner of Hawthorne Boulevard and Carson Street.

Harper's of California is an industrial firm located in the city's Central Manufacturing District.

Mrs. Valley M. Knudsen, founder and president of Los Angeles Beautiful, will present the awards during a luncheon in the Biltmore Ballroom.

Scout Executive Appointed Here

Harvey L. Price has been named Scout Executive of the Los Angeles Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America, according to Council President J. Murray Yunker.

Price is now Scout Executive of the San Francisco Bay Area Council. He entered Scouting professionally in 1937.

TRAIN Committee To Show Films

Two free films will be shown this evening and Friday evening at 8 o'clock under the sponsorship of the Harbor Area TRAIN (To Restore American Independence Now) Committee.

The films, "The United Nations: Peace Dove Unmasked" and "The Opinion Makers," will be shown at the American Opinion Library, 1532 W. Carson St. A discussion period will follow.

Fish Club Schedules Give-Away

The October meeting of the Harbor Aquarium Society will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Recreation Hall, Harbor City Recreation Center. President Dick Saleh of Torrance will call the meeting to order.

Major event of the evening will be announcement of the winners of a 26-gallon aquarium complete with fish and equipment, and a transistor radio. The prizes will go to lucky ticket holders in the club's yearly give-away.
