

Nimble Fingers At Work

Youngsters of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church seem to be taking an extra interest in their mothers' creative handiwork as the women prepare for the international fall fair scheduled at the church Nov. 16. Shown here are (from left) Lisa Pischel, 4; Mrs. Keith Pischel; Mrs. Rod Bills; Joey Bills, 4; Mrs. Billy Hoffman; and Diana Hoffman, 4. The fair will feature a puppet show, a gypsy fortune teller, live music, dancing, and many other attractions in addition to a sale of handmade novelties. (Press-Herald Photo)

St. Andrew's Women Plan Church Festival

An international flair will highlight the St. Andrew's Episcopal Church fair, to be held Nov. 16 under auspices of the women of the church.

Main attractions will be staged in the parish hall, Sunday school rooms, and the church grounds. These will include a reading of coffee and tea cups by "Jeneva" in the improvised gypsy tea room, sponsored by the Girls' Friendly Society; Janet Pryor's puppet show for the small fry; games for both children and adults; baked goods and sweet tooth booths; a live combo presenting pop music; square dancing sponsored by the Young People's Fellowship; and a super market featuring gift ideas by the dozens.

Mrs. Robert S. Hollister, president of the Episcopal churchwomen, has chosen Mrs. Andy Krauzer as fair chairman. An evening dinner featuring foods of three countries will be planned and served by St. Anne's guild under chairmanship of Mrs. Earl Christiansen.

Jams and jellies, apparel for the younger set, books and games, aprons and gift selections galore have been in the making since early summer for the international fall fair.

Dorcas Welfare Society Holds Federation Lunch

Members of the Torrance Dorcas Welfare Society of the Seventh-day Adventist Church, 1610 Acacia Ave., were hosts at a luncheon for heads of the South Bay Health and Welfare Dorcas Federation.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Meses Amie Bunge, Catherine Cochran, R. Grissom, Marie Karpie, Louise Carter, Marie Shanahan, Della Gorrell, and Cecia Foster.

Mrs. Meyers, president of the federation, opened the one-day session.

Study was given to intensification of the church welfare program in this region with comparison of works done by member societies of neighboring cities.

Award Plaque Noted

FRIDAY, NOV. 8, 1968

B-1

Formal pictures of the candidates have been sent to the International Office of the sorority, located in Kansas City, Missouri. These pictures will be added to the large number sent from chapters located around the world for competition in the International Beta Sigma Phi Valentine Contest to be judged by a movie celebrity whose identity is a secret until the issue of the magazine is off the press.

The judging of this contest has been in existence since 1938, with such stars as Cary Grant, William Holden, Melvyn Douglas, Glenn Ford, Humphrey Bogart, Stewart Granger, Fred MacMurray, Jack Lemmon, James Garner, Bob Cummings, John Forsythe, Tony Randall, Gig Young, Dick Van Dyke, Ben Gazzara and George Hamilton serving as judges. Rita Hayworth has been the only woman judge.

The winners of the contest, the Queen and her Court, will be shown in the February issue of the sorority magazine, "The Torch."

The Stardust Ball Committee will announce at a later date the name of a TV or movie personality who will attend the ball and crown the Queen of the South Bay Area. The South Bay Area Council welcomed at the 1968 Valentine Ball Yale Sommers of the TV series Daktari. They were honored to have Edgar Buchanan, star of Petticoat Junction, attend the Jewelled Ball in 1967.

Pocahontas Order Appoints 'Guard'

As We Na Sa Council 298, Degree of Pocahontas, recently welcomed Mrs. Esther Lovejoy back from an order convention in San Diego, where she was appointed to the state office of Great Guard of the Teepee.

Mrs. Lovejoy has made a series of visits to order functions in Northern California, including the annual Orphan's Ball. Proceeds from the ball will be used to give each orphan child supported by the order a $50 Christmas gift.

Friendship Night, on Monday, will feature an informal reception for Deputy Great Pocahontas Sarah Bantum of Inglewood. Special guests from 35 surrounding councils will be greeted and honored. Members will also present a patriotic drill team salute to the guest of honor.

This event will be the first council opportunity to display the special plaque award members received for their work on behalf of mentally retarded children. The plaque is from the California Council for Retarded Children.

Chartered by Congress in 1769, the degree of Pocahontas is a patriotic, philanthropic order.

PTA To Sponsor Scholarship Talk

"Front and Center" will be the theme of South High PTA's meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. Two programs will take place simultaneously, one in the school library and the other in the cafeteria, PTA will serve refreshments in both places.

In the cafeteria, Col. Jack M. Goetz, will speak on the Army ROTC Scholarship program and show a color film narrated by Chet Huntley. Lt. Col. Donald Moore, professor of military science at UCLA, will be present to answer questions.

Army ROTC scholarships have been in existence for more than two years. Some 800 scholarships are given yearly on 282 campuses. Literature listing these schools will be available.

In the library, Haig Marashlian, director of planning and development for Southern California Regional Occupational Center, will show a film, distribute literature, and speak on the new Center's program. South High's liaison with the Center is D. L. Peckum, vocational counselor.

The Occupational Center opened April 1, 1968, and is located at 2300 Crenshaw Blvd., Torrance, and serves six school districts: Centinela, El Segundo, South Bay Union, Inglewood, Torrance, and Palos Verdes.

The Center operates two daily sessions, 7:30 to 10:30 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m. Senior students are bussed from their regular schools to attend the Center for three hours daily.

Seven programs are offered: secretarial and office, data processing, key punch, major appliance repair, welding, and dental and medical assistants.
