

Coffee Break

By Adeline Daley

If nothing else, I may go down in history as one of the few women in America who found some merit in Jackie Kennedy marrying Aristotle Onassis.

First, as far as the discrepancy in age is concerned, I look at it this way. Onassis, at 62, is two years younger than Cary Grant. It's not his fault that he looks more like Oscar Homolka. But, look, nobody objected to his being co-starred romantically with youngish Audrey Hepburn in "Charade." I mean Cary Grant, not Oscar Homolka. I don't think Onassis has ever been in the movies.

Yet, everybody is saying that Jackie is making a mistake, but nobody is worrying at all about Onassis, who might find his way of life somewhat more complicated than before. That is, when Caroline decides she wants to bring her pony, "Macaroni," on the yacht.

Not to mention all of those newly-acquired nieces and nephews all of whom will come to love "Uncle Aristotle." I know that the Kennedys aren't exactly destitute. But I always say, there's only one thing nicer than having a rich uncle and that's having a richer one.

Be thankful, too, that you aren't a personal friend of theirs and faced with buying them a wedding present.

An island? They already have an island. Unless everybody pitched in and made it Rhode Island.

Moreover, what do the newlyweds need to set up housekeeping? Bath towels, monogrammed with "His" and "Hers," figuring that Maria Callas took all of "Hers" with her? Maybe they could stand a new address book, to keep track of all of their homes around the world.

In keeping with the seagoing theme, with the yacht and all, there are always these novelty gifts which you see advertised in the back pages of magazines, such as, a bar-apron for the "galley" inscribed with "Ship Ahoy," or a nautical cap with "Barnacle Bill" on it.

But actually, I'm glad it's not my problem. Consider the plight of Princess Grace, who now finds Jackie as her "landlady," in that Monte Carlo is owned by Onassis. If she sends anything fancy, it'll look as if they want the Casino rent lowered.

Taylor-Sauser Vows Exchanged

An afternoon ceremony at St. James Catholic Church united Patricia Ann Taylor and John Michael Sauser in Matrimony.

The bride, daughter of the Lewis H. Taylors of Torrance, wore a gown of white lace and chiffon. Matron of honor Mrs. Rosemary Taugher and bridesmaid Marie Frances Taylor wore aqua chiffon gowns and carried aqua and white bouquets.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Sauser of Mammoth Lakes, Calif. Best man Charles Sauser was flanked by ushers William Sauser, Gary Ady, Hank Borgeson, and Les Dahm.

The new Mrs. Sauser was graduated from West High School and El Camino College.

Following a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the newlyweds left for a honeymoon in Sequoia. They are now at home at George Air Force Base, Victorville, Calif., where the bridegroom is an airman first class with the U.S. Air Force.

COUNCIL

Torrance council of PTA is sponsoring its annual drive for the collection of birthday cakes to be presented to Juvenile Hall for birthday celebrations for the children who must be housed there. The drive will begin on Dec. 9 and continue through Dec. 11, according to Mrs. J. E. Hartland, juvenile protection chairman.

The Christmas gift collection for Boys Camps will be held on Dec. 12 at the Council luncheon. The gifts should be wrapped and labeled stating contents and school. Some of the articles needed are all sizes of belts, toilet articles and personal combs.

Used toys will be picked up at each of the schools in Torrance Unified School District on Nov. 12 and 13. The drive will run until Nov. 8. Trucks for this pickup will be furnished by Torrance Recreation Department.

CASIMIR

The Casimir PTA Board will meet on Nov. 14 at 9:30 a.m. in the cafeteria. On Nov. 15 and 22 parents are invited to come to the cafeteria at 7 p.m. for a Christmas Bazaar Workshop.

On the morning of Oct. 29, Mmes. Gene Fister and E. Paul Fullmer managed to catch about 25 board members at home for a "Come-As-You-Are" meeting at the home of Mrs. Davitian, president.

TORRANCE ELEMENTARY

"What are we doing for our children?" or "New ways of doing old things" is the theme for the Nov. PTA meeting to be held on Tuesday, Nov. 12, at 7:30 p.m. A panel discussion consisting of participants associated with the various fields of child psychology, mental retardation, remedial reading and educationally handicapped will be presented.

These will include Mrs. Marjorie Goodrich, speech specialist; Mrs. Marilyn Buck, remedial reading teacher; Dr. Irene Greenhut, school physician; and Mr. Lester Foster, Principal of Columbia School. A question and answer period pertinent to this presentation will follow. All parents and interested persons are invited to attend.

Hostesses will include room mothers from Rooms 4, 5 and 6, with Mmes. James Osteen and William Dute as featured chairmen. The evening program will also include the flag ceremony presented by the Campfire Girls under the leadership of Mrs. Ruth Jacobs.

Plans are currently under way for a paper drive to be held Nov. 21 and 22, as well as a Christmas Bazaar on Saturday, Nov. 23, in the school cafeteria. "Aladdin the Magician" has been scheduled to appear, and a hot dog luncheon will also be served.

Plans are under the leadership of Mrs. James Osteen, ways and means chairman. Mrs. Osteen also states that a workshop for the bazaar will be held at her home each Wednesday at 10 a.m. until the presentation of the bazaar. Anyone wishing to donate scraps of material, yarn, or notions, is asked to contact Mrs. Osteen.

Eastern Visitor

Mrs. Ann Schwartz of the Bronx, New York, is spending the winter in Torrance with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Watkins.

Faculty Club Luncheon Set Tuesday

The Women's Faculty Club of the California State College, Dominguez Hills, will hold its Tuesday luncheon meeting at the home of the Rancho San Pedro.

The original Dominguez family ranch house, now a monument and museum, is located on the grounds of the Claretian Junior Seminary at 18127 South Alameda, Compton.

Mrs. Milo Mills, president of the Women's Faculty Club, and Mrs. Jud Grenier, director of program activities, announce that as part of the day's activities, the group will be conducted on a tour of the historic grounds and of the family home.

Torrance elementary will also participate in the Torrance Council of PTA Christmas Workshop being held Nov. 13 and 14, at the YMCA.

HALLDALE SCHOOL

The theme for Tuesday's 7:30 p.m. meeting of Halldale PTA is "Today's Challenge-Cooperation!" The program for the evening will be sample classroom visitation for each grade level. The parents will be able to meet with their child's teacher to make appointments for future conferences if needed, reported Mrs. Dale Bliven program chairman.

A canned peanut sale Monday, Nov. 18, through Friday, Nov. 22, will be the next ways and means activity for Halldale PTA, states Mrs. James Cyphers, ways and means chairman. Virginia salted-peanuts and toffee-coated peanuts will be available for order Friday, Nov. 15, at fifty cents per can.

Mrs. Richard Bourne, membership chairman, reports parents may still become members by contacting her on any board member.
