All-Star Coach

Mel Mothershead, the coach who turned the San Pedro High football team into a Marine League title contender, has been named coach of the East Team in the ns All-Star Football Game.

The announcement of the coaching assignment for the game Aug. 1 was made by Don Banker, game chairman.

We are fortunate to obtain the services of Mothershead to handle the East squad in its bid for its second consecutive All-Star Game win," Banker said. "He has a fine background and has brought the San Pedro football program to life.'

In his first year as varsity coach at San Pedro, Mothershead led the squad to a 6 win-2 loss record and a tie for second place in the tough Marine League behind

Seven boys from his team were All-League, and three were named to the All-Los Angeles City squad.

Mel's over-all coaching record in the last six years — including Bee football competition—stands at 44 wins and four

"It will be a pleasure to coach the East in the annual midsummer Classic at El Camino College," Mothershead said. "I'm honored at being selected and will guarantee a fine effort by the East

Mothershead is a graduate of Fremont High in Los Angeles. He attended El Camino College for two years, lettering each year in football as an offensive and defensive halfback.

He was graduated from Pepperdine in 1955 and earned an education degree at Long Beach State College. He received a master's degree in Health Education from Los Angeles State.

The San Pedro Coach taught for five years at Wilmington Junior High and was head Bee Football Coach at Banning High for another five years.

During his tenure as Bee Coach, he compiled a record of 38-2, winning three Marine League Championships.

The Lions All-Star Game, sponsored by the West Torrance Lions Club, annually pits the top 60 graduated seniors in the South Bay in an East-West clash. Proceeds

Topic of Upset

Coach Bob Boyd of USC said he was three points away from junking the stall tactics eventually credited with upsetting UCLA Saturday at Pauley Pavilion, 46-44.

'We were down seven points early in the game (11-4) and if the Bruins had gotten ahead by 10 we'd have gone to our normal game," Boyd said.

"There would have been no percentage in us holding the ball if we'd gotten down by 10. "We were not playing to hold down the score. "It would have been embarrassing to our players to stall under those circumstances.

Although the happiness of victory still was apparent, the USC coach rapped Bruin fans for their post-game conduct.

"I want to thank John Wooden (UCLA coach) for congratulating us on our win, but I can't pay the same compliment to that segment of the UCLA followers who threw apples, oranges and hot pennies at Ernie Powell when he was being interviewed on radio," said Boyd.

Trojan star Don Crenshaw said he doesn't forsee any difficulties for the Bruins in the NCAA playoffs which begin Thursday night at Pauley Pavilion.

"When Lew Alcindor decides to play, you can't match up to them," he said. Crenshaw was asked if he meant Alcindor wasn't ready for the Saturday

"I'm saying he might not have realized how good we were or how good we were going to play." Crenshaw replied.

State Champions

The Metropolitan Conference is the sessor of two major California junior college athletic titles in the wake of Pasadena City College's victory in the basketent at Fresno and field's triumph in the wrestling tournament at San Bernardino Saturday night.

The Lancer's tripped Imperial Valley, 59-52, to take the basketball title for the second time in three years. The win also marked the second year in a row that the Metropolitan Conference has provided the winner of the championship. Last year Cerritos copped the crown-beating Pasadena (then a member of the Western State Conference.)

On the way to the winner's circle, Pasadena whipped Merced, 82-56, on Thursday and Fullerton, 67-59, on Friday.

At San Bernardino, Bakersfield piled up 83 points to run away with the mat crown. Another Metropolitan Conference team, El Camino, tied San Bernardino for second place with 67 points. Cerritos finished fourth with 62 points.

Prep Basketball Player of the Year is Dan Anderson, the 6-foot, 2-inch recognized play-maker from North High School.

The senior guard has been with the North High first string varsity for three championship seasons. During an undefeated Bay League campaign this fall game total was 568 points.

Not very far away from Dan in handling himself on the basketball court is teammate Jim Thomas, another guard with a 16point league average. Thomas and Anderson both were named to the Al-Bay League first unit. Jim was first

CONSTRUCTION BEGINS ON NEW FISHING PIER

Construction began Monday on new buildings for the Redondo Sportfishing Pier. The building area is 15 feet by 220 feet, and will house a ticket office, coffee shop, bait, and tackle store and storage and locker space. The cost is $200,000 for the pier and buildings.

The new facilities will serve as a landing for day and halfday fishing boats, charter boats, harbor tour boats, and boats going to and from offshore barges.

Construction of new buildings will be done by Lorentz Voien of Torrance. Architect is the Sheldon Pollack Corporation. Traut-wein Bros. of Newport Beach built the new pier. All will be ready for the summer fishing season, according to Gordon McRae, president of Redondo Sportifship. McRae, president of Redondo Sportfishing.

With the formal opening of the pier facilities, another signifi-cant milestone is passed by Re-dondo Sportfishing. It began 24 years ago when Gordon McRae came to Redondo Beach in 1945 following a tour in the Armed Forces. He used the then Mon-stad Pier (now Fisherman's Wharf, for landings. Expansion

Good Old Days Of Horse Racing

In 1893, Maximilian Justice Hirsch, then 12, arrived on the racing scene in Maryland, a stowaway in a box car with a s h i p m e n t of Thoroughbreds from the John A. Morris ranch in Fredericksburg, Tex.

It had been warm in Texas when young Max helped to load the horses and suddenly decided to become a jockey. It was showing in Maryland when they found the hungry and half-frozen youngster shivering in the horse bedding. That was 76 Springs ago. Eight years later, after a weight-shortened career as a jockey, Max Hirsch obtained his trainer's license and in 1902 at

New Orleans he winner, a horse named Gaut-ama. He has since trained some great ones, including Grey Lag, Sarazen, Tick On, Better Self, Bold Venture (his first Derby winner), and Assault, one of the turt's eight Triple Crown win-ners.
