

Dills Seeks Youthful Honorees

Senator Ralph C. Dills (D-San Pedro) is seeking the names of two persons under the age of 19 who have performed outstanding acts of courage or service during 1968.

The two young people may be selected for the 1968 Young American Medals for bravery and service. J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, is chairman of the nominations committee for the awards.

"I am seeking these names to pass along to the proper channels," the Senator said, "in order that they can be evaluated for the honor."

Nominations of the two young people should be sent to Senator Dills by addressing him at the State Capitol, Sacramento.

To expedite the handling of the nominations, it is requested that each nomination include a copy of a birth certificate of the nominee, a recent photograph, and reasonable documentation of exactly what the nominee did.

The information should be forwarded to the Senator's office no later than May 20, 1969.

Harbor Students Seek Jobs

"A cooperative program of work and study in which college students of some 30 occupational education curriculums could benefit by actual work experiences is needed in our community," states F. James Clines, coordinator of Vocational Education and Placement at Harbor College.

"The students in the industrial, business, home economics, and public service program need to profit by the actual experience of working in a job related to their major field of study," Clines continued.

Among these major fields are included programs in air conditioning, printing, mechanics, draftsman, machinists, electronics, business administration, accounting, merchandising, and secretarial.

Employers willing to consider utilizing college students part time on a work-study cooperative program are urged to contact the vocational coordinator at Harbor College for further details.

Order for Induction Not Final

Young men who have received orders to report for induction into the Armed Services are not necessarily precluded from enlisting in the Marine Corps, a spokesman for the Corps has explained.

In addition, Marine Corps enlistees may delay their departure for recruit training up to four months under the 120-Day Delay Program.

Under recent Selective Service rules, any individual who can produce evidence that he will be enlisted on or before the date of his scheduled induction can ask for cancellation of his orders for induction.

The Torrance Marine Corps Recruiting Station is located at 2123 Torrance Blvd.

Naval Unit Located in Long Beach

Some vacancies are now available in the U. S. Navy's Construction Battalion (CB) reserve formerly headquartered in Hawthorne, Lt. D. W. Trandal, executive officer, said today.

The unit is now headquartered in the Naval Reserve Center at Terminal Island. It was transferred when the Hawthorne Naval Center Reserve Center was deactivated.

Men with the necessary skills who have draft classes of 1-C, 4-A, or 5-A are eligible to apply for the CB Advanced Rating Program, Lieutenant Trandal said. Some openings are available for fleet ratings, although men with skills as equipment operators or builders are most desirable.

Former Naval personnel as well as all former servicemen are eligible for the advanced rating program.

Training consists of one week-end per month and an annual two-week tour of duty with regular service pay and allowances.
