Her Mark Is Stock Exchange

The area can boast one woman, Flora Hameetman, who is a success in a man's world, the Stock Exchange.

When illness in the home made it necessary for her to seek good financial planning for her family, the local woman turned to the Stock Market and fell in love. When her two children, Flora and Fred, were grown and she was widowed, the firm with which she had invested asked her to join them.

In 1961, after an intensive training program, Mrs. Hameetman became associated with the MJT Mutual Funds, the first

FLORA HAMEETMAN

New York Stock Exchange firm to open in the Torrance area, the company later merging with California Investors. She has taken advanced courses in estate planning and is eminently qualified through her estate planning background to set up all types of financial planning including educational, Keogh and profit-sharing as well as retirement.

For this graduate of the University of Louisville, enthusiasm for the business has steadily increased over the years that she has been in business and recently she was presented a gold diamond pin for her years of service, sales leadership and efforts that she has contributed to the investing public, and to the growth and welfare of the company.

Mrs. Hameetman is a past president of the Torrance Business and Professional Women's Club, and is a director of the Lomita Chamber of Commerce. She was recently presented with a plaque by the Lomita Chamber for her outstanding service in the Lomita City Beautiful program.

This successful business woman has been appointed by the Torrance City Council to the Citizens' Resource Group of the Torrance Goals Program. The program is a vehicle for the examination of all aspects of development in Torrance.

Mrs. Hameetman, who recently joined a new firm, Funds International, Ltd. in Long Beach, maintains a home in this area and is married to Mr. Pat Driscoll.
