and the dispersal area. The parade is expected to last nearly two hours. The exhibit area will remain open to the public until 5 p.m. Saturday afternoon.

The Saturday morning parade will be taped for television viewing to Southern California audiences on Sunday afternoon, 5:30 p.m. on KTLA-TV, Channel 5. It will be sponsored as a public service by the Hi-Shear Corporation and The Garrett Corporation, Air Research Division, both of Torrance.

THE PARADE includes a prologue and four divisions. In the prologue at the military honor position immediately ahead of Grand Marshal General Bradley and Mrs. Bradley, will be the colorful 80-piece Drum and Bugle Corps of the Recruit Training Command, U.S. Naval Training Center, San Diego.

The arrival of the grand marshal at the reviewing stand will be signaled by a nineteen-gun salute to the General. Following the salute will be a tribute paid to the late General Eisenhower.

DIVISION I is comprised of the active military forces represented by marching units, drill teams, bands and motorized equipment. Winning top parade honors last year, the Navy defends with a variety of units ranging from its crack Fire Control Technician School Drill Team from Mare Island, to Seabees from Port Hueme to marching units from 16 Long Beach homeported ships of the Pacific Fleet. Seen for the first time together anywhere, the Air Force will parade its intercontinental ballistic missile, the Minuteman, and its versatile space systems booster, the Atlas. The Marines from Camp Pendleton will appear in combat gear along with a battery of 105mm howitzers. Fort MacArthur will march its always popular 72nd Army Band, garrison troops with WACs, and units and Nike-Hercules missile from the 10th Artillery Group (Air Defense). Coast Guard entries will be highlighted by its outstanding marching band and drill team from Alameda.

DIVISION II will feature the California Army National Guard. Its largest and newest entry is the Third Battalion, 160th Infantry... some 600 officers and men from Inglewood, Gardena, Lynwood and Fullerton.

DIVISION III, made up of reserve forces, will feature a three-times-straight parade winner, the motorized First Battalion, 14th Marines from Los Angeles and its three firing batteries of 18 105mm howitzers. The Army Reserve 915th Field Depot and a host of Navy and Coast Guard reserve units will balance out this important section of the parade.

Overhead fly-bys will occur during the morning parade. Four Air Force jets will come from Edwards AFB. The California Air National Guard will have a flight of F-102's and the California Army National Guard two helicopter groups. The Marine Reserves will fly flights of fighters and helicopters. Various aircraft will come from Civil Air Patrol groups.

DIVISION IV will bring forth the traditional cross-town rivals once again — UCLA and USC — with fine senior ROTC drill teams with competition from Loyola University and Occidental College. Another first in the 1969 Torrance parade is the huge junior ROTC entry from Los Angeles made up of 500 cadets and coeds from 13 city high schools. Defending champs are Long Beach Poly along with Elsinore Naval and Military School.

Throughout the parade are sprinkled outstanding high school bands and drill teams from the Torrance-South Bay area and from as far as Trona, Calif. The champion band of last year and the very last entry in the parade is the Torrance Area Youth Band.

Eighteen trophies will be awarded Saturday afternoon after the parade at the traditional invitational luncheon honoring General of the Army Omar Bradley. This social event will be held at the Fort MacArthur Officers' Open Mess in San Pedro.

ENTRIES IN ALL four divisions will be competitively judged by five senior military officers and two civilian judges with past military experience. High school and youth bands are rated separately by qualified judges from the Southern California School Band and Orchestra Association.

Another gala occasion for Southern California's senior citizens will be the annual Fun Day at the Los Angeles County Fair, Monday, Sept. 15. Using a pattern initiated years ago, all persons 62 years of age or over, whether a member of a recognized group or not, will be admitted for a half price admission of 75 cents.

The golden agers will enjoy a program at the amphitheatre, reduced fares on tram tours, and a reserved section for the evening's free grandstand show, the National Ballet of Mexico.

The Department of Senior Citizens Affairs in Los Angeles County works in cooperation with the fair for this event. Co-sponsors are the Senior Citizens Association of Los Angeles County; Parks and Recreation Department, County of Los Angeles; and the California League of Senior Citizens. Fair dates are Sept. 12 through 28.

'Mental' Hospital Vetoed

City Councilmen Tuesday night turned thumbs down to a proposal to build a 99-bed "mental hygiene sanitarium" at the southwest corner of Hawthorne Boulevard and Emerald Avenue.

After lengthy debate on the issue, councilmen learned to their annoyance that the would-be developers did not have any agreement with the owners of the surface rights of the proposed site about building the sanitarium.

Applicants for the conditional use permit were two dentists, Richard S. Shepard and Roger Dennis. They explained that the facility would house "mentally confused and disoriented patients" suffering from senility, disease, traumatic brain damage, or retardation who need more care than they could receive in ordinary convalescent hospitals. They stressed, however, that it would not be a facility for "dangerous" persons.

Councilmen supported the recommendation of the Planning Commission in voting denial of the request. Both bodies denied the request on the basis of unsuitable location rather than on the nature of the sanitarium.

Rushed to Gardena Emergency Hospital was Garrick R. Mendes, 3921 Thornburg Ave. Driver of the car was Jack J. Allison, 18, of 17038 Glenburn Ave. Allison was not held.
