

Hot Lines

By Al Coast

With typical California weather prevailing overcast in the morning and sunny in the after noon, so is the typical California fishing doing the same. Questionable one day and a certainty the next.

Reporting and predicting fishing is somewhat akin to the duties of the weather man. He doesn't know either. Only last week, this reporter stated the Yellows were hot at San Diego. The paper came out Friday. A band of Torrance Rod and Gun Club members and a handful of guests, gathered at Point Loma Landing, at the Border City, boarded a chartered boat and headed for Coronado Isands, where the day before some 600 Yellows bit the dust

Led by fishing Captain Don Merrill, the talented and hardy group, threw jigs, anchovies, Spanish mackeral and any other big fish inticers for some eight hours before returning to the dock with a catch of many Bonita and Calico Bass.

It was reported that a Yellowtail wasn't even in the vicinity of the boat. So your writer was at fault. I wonder if they did everything right?

Maybe I should pass on some information on how to catch a Yellowtail. Incidently, the jackpot was picked up on a Calico Bass weighing about 10 pounds. Even though this is an exceptionally large ass, it is not really a reasonable facsimile for a 20 pound Yellow. And caught by a guest at that.

The Torrance Rod and Gun Club Vice President Roy Wright reported a limit of Bass at the Federal Breakwater, taken early in the morning The largest going almost five pounds. With all the talent in our club, it is very disgusting to see so few members participating in our various derbys, events and fishing trips. I would like to see some new members come into the club and kinda put some of the old timers in the back seat.

We had a bass derby at the breakwater Sunday morning and the usual lately situation prevailed. Four boats put in their appearance with eight participants. The group fished from 4 o'clock in the morning until 8:30, returning to the dock with some 50 bass. Your writer netted a limit weighing up to four pounds, but the largest was taken by Ron Halbrock.

The other six anglers were Roy Wright, Lloyd Goddard, Keith Goddard, Pete Garcia, Randy Lenahan and Pete Garcia, Jr.

Lake Irvine is producing lots of trout and Catfish. There are bass but they are hard to come by. For some real fine eating, use a small hook nd tiny baits, such as meal worms, and bring home a limit of bluegill. These are by no means the picture taking variety

The Catfish are back in the coves and shallow water. Also right in the bushes. Nite Crawlers seem to tempt these bewhiskered fish better than anything else. If you are a troller, use a spinner and red worms. The trout will cooperate very nicely. Still fishing, a chunk of cheese about the size of an average marble seems to work well. The bass are still fussy for some reason or other.

Next meeting is June 3 at 8 p.m.

100 Ready Relay Team To Battle Disqualified At Ascot

More than 100 drivers will battle for a record $5,000 in prize money Saturday and Sunday night at Gardena's Ascot Park in the annual spring championship ARC Figure 8 Stock Car races.

All four criss-cross divisions, unlimited modifieds, modified-stock cars, claiming stock cars, and women drivers, will compete in the two nights of

Heading the field will be Larry Peters of Covina, Ed Ferro of Wilmington, and Dorsey Steele of Huntington Park.

Peters has been almost un-beatable at Ascot this year in the new modified-stock car class. He leads in the point standings by more than three times his nearest rival.

Ferro will be the favorite in the unlimited-modified class. He drives a 427 cubic inch Chevrolet V8 powered coupe.

Youth Soccer in the South Bay Area is planning to double next season.

According to Ron Littlefair, Commissioner of the South Bay Region, this growth is depend-ant upon getting enough adults interested as coaches, refer-ees, and helpers. The Region will include El Segundo, Man-hatten Beach, Redondo Beach, Torrance, Gardena, Rolling Hills, Palos Verdes, Lo San Pedro and Lawndale.

Names Golfer John Francis Carroll, newly elected president of the Soccer Parents Organization, will hold a meeting Tuesday, June 3, at 8 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 214 Avenue 1, Redondo Beach. All persons interested in the growth of Youth Soccer are invited to attend this meeting. The Sky League has named six golfers for CIF individual golf consideration. They are Mike Mansfield of Inglewood, Mark Pfeil of Palos Verdes, Barry Sullivan of Rolling Hills, Bilds Swith of Remail Hills. Rick Smith of Beverly Hills, Bruce Titus of Leuzinger, and Paul Wise of Inglewood.
